KELS MUST HANG ON FRIDAY

LOVE FOR ACTRESS BLAMED FOR SHOOTING

KELS MUST HANG, RULES RICHARDSON

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 2.—Alex Kels, condemned to hang Friday, was moved to the death cell in Folsom Prison today. Kels nerve is unshaken. He talked and laughed with his wife, his brother and his sister yesterday in the warden's office at the prison. A priest visited him yesterday, too. It was the priest's second visit this week.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 2.—Alex Kels must die by hanging Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Governor Richardson, the one power that might have altered the death sentence, has declined to do so.

"This law was enacted by the people," said a message issued by Governor Richardson today, "and Kels must pay the penalty for violation of it.

"The wife and young children of the murderer deserve sympathy but it should be remembered that Kels deliberately brought this sorrow and disgrace upon them.

VICTIM A "POOR FRIENDLESS LABORING MAN."

"It should not be forgotten that the man so foully murdered was a poor, wandering, friendless laboring man.

"This case has brought to public notice the foul methods of the yellow press, which will even prey upon the grief of a wife and the sorrow of young children to intimidate officers who refuse to bow to their oke.

"Since his commitment to state's prison, Kels has been repeatedly examined and found sane. The statement made by Mrs. Kels shows she knew nothing of the crime and gives no extenuating circumstances."

"NOT A SINGLE BASIS FOR COMMUTATION."

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 2.—The last hope for executive clemency for Alex A. Kels, condemned "hay stack murderer" of Lodi vanished today when Governor Richardson, to whom Mrs. Anne Kels, the prisoner's wife, recently appealed, declared in a statement that no new evidence had been presented on behalf of Kels and therefore he could not intervene to save Kels from execution.

The governor's statement declared that Kels had been granted every legal safeguard and had pleaded guilty to the charge of having slain an unknown man, and that Kels had repeatedly been examined and found sane.

"There is not a single fact on which to base any action for commutation of sentence," the statement said.

D. & R. G. Again Is Saved From Auction Block

$1,500,000 Loan Authorized by Federal Court to Pay Interest Charges.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 2.—The Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad, now under federal receivership, was saved from possible sale on the auction block for a second time when United States District Judge J. Foster Symes today signed an order permitting Receiver Thomas H. Beacom to borrow $1,500,000 to be used in paying $1,129,000 in interest on underlying bonds of $81,000,000, the interest having fallen due yesterday.

It is understood the offer was made by a group of junior bondholders, whose holdings of $11,000,000 and a $10,000,000 in secondary mortgages would be imperiled in the event of a foreclosure on default of the interest on the senior bonds. The court order does not name the source of the loan, but it is known that apparently Judge Symes and Receiver Beacom have been considering two offers—one from the junior bondholders through the Bankers' Trust Company of New York and the New York Trust company, and the other from the Western Pacific and the Missouri Pacific railroads, according to reports.

The court order of acceptance of the loan provides that if the loan negotiations are approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, receivers' certificates will be issued in return for the money, but that if the commission does not approve, it will constitute only a receivers' debt.

The Western Pacific and the Missouri Pacific are said to hold approximately $8,000,000 in second mortgages of the Rio Grande road.

Action of Judge Symes in allowing acceptance of the loan also will enable the road to pay other interest falling due between now and June 1, it was said.

In commenting on the order, Judge Symes explained that the loan will enable the road to proceed under receivership plans with the rehabilitation program, which at its inception involved approximately $16,000,000, without drawing on resources set aside for that purpose only.

Acceptance of the loan will have no bearing whatever on the proposed plan of refinancing the road which was approved recently by the Interstate Commerce Commission, Judge Symes said. The plan is being opposed by the state of Colorado.

REBELS RAID BRITISH SHIP IN VERA CRUZ

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 2.—The tanker San Antonio, belonging to the Eagle Oil company, a British corporation, has arrived at Tampico, according to news despatches from that city after having been detained at Vera Cruz by revolutionary forces and forced to discharge 8000 tons of crude oil for the use of revolutionary controlled railways.

The tankers San Leonardo and Alicia, also taken into Vera Cruz to provide much needed oil for the rebels, still are being detained there according to the despatches.

It is stated the San Antonio was forced into Vera Cruz by the rebel gunboat Agua Prieta on December 19.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 2.—According to statements in official quarters the Mexican government is easily stamping out small revolutionary outbreaks.

The governor of San Luis Potosi has reported the defeat of a rebel band appearing in Hacienda Illescas headed by seven Spaniards, one of whom was killed and the others taken prisoner.

The governor of Hidalgo reports that General Cavazos heading 300 rebels, appeared in the vicinity of Atotonilco de Grande but refused battle when federal forces were sent in pursuit fleeing after a slight skirmish.

Part of the Tuxpam garrison has revolted, arresting the commander as well as customs officials. The attorney for the Transcontinental Petroleum Company was killed. Troops are being rushed from Tampico to retake Tuxpam.

Colonels Alfredo Cerron and Jose Louis Cravez, who led an uprising at Chalco, state of Mexico, have been defeated, taken prisoners and shot after a court martial.

The Mexican government has been enabled to cover the first year's interest on the national debt, in fulfilling the De la Huerta-Lamont agreement regarding payment of $15,000,000 with $650,000 delivered by oil men Saturday.

DE LA HUERTA DEMANDS PAYMENT OF OIL TAX.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Enrique Zeldner, confidential agent of Adolfo de la Huerta, Mexican rebel leader, today served a copy of de la Huerta's decree demanding that petroleum production taxes be paid to him, upon Guy Stevens, director of the Association of Producers of petroleum in Mexico.

The decree ordered payment of Petroleum taxes to de la Huerta at Vera Cruz and directed that payment of export taxes be continued according to the de la Huerta-Lamont debt agreement.

WASHINGTON DENIES SALE OF WAR CRAFT.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Statements made by Mexico City officials that an arrangement is being made to procure four cruisers for the Obregon government for use against Mexican revolutionists along the seacoast created surprise here. The authorized statement was made at the state department Monday that the Washington naval treaty specifically forbade the United States and other treaty powers from selling war vessels to any government.

Article XVIII of the treaty is mandatory, it was said at the department, and makes any such transaction impossible so far as the United States is concerned. The treaty would not prevent the construction by American shipbuilding concerns of war craft for Mexico, but if such contracts were made the Washington government would be required under the treaty to report the fact and specifications as to the ships to the other powers signatory to the treaty.

If it came to the attention of the Washington government that attempts were being made actually to recruit troops in the United States for use against a friendly power, however, steps will be taken to prevent such action.

Inner Caskets Are Expected in King Tut Shrine

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

LUXOR, Egypt, Jan. 2.—After two days of interruption, work on King Tutenkhamen's tomb was resumed today with Howard Carter continuing his preparation for dismantling the outer shrine.

A series of unforeseen incidents, such as the immense weight of the canopy lid and the fragile condition of the pall, have tended to protract the task and to disorganize the program of the excavators. It was originally hoped to reach and open the sarcophagus (if one was found) by the middle of this month, but unless the sarcophagus is discovered immediately on opening the second shrine there is little hope that this object will be attained on scheduled time. The second shrine is so large that it may well contain two or three inner caskets enclosing the sarcophagus itself.

KEY ROUTE INN IS SOLD FOR $300,000

Part of Mrs. Havens' Plan to Put Husband's Estate on Solvent Basis.

Sale of the Key Route Inn at Twenty-second street and Broadway by Mrs. Frank C. Havens to a group of San Francisco real estate operators was announced today. The price was approximately $300,000.

Samuel Swartz, Harry M. Ziegler and several associates were the purchasers it was stated, refused attorney, Jacob Samuels refused to confirm the rumor that a resale of the property, to be consummated in about 60 days, had already been agreed upon.

The sale of the Key Route Inn forms one of the last steps in an endeavor of Mrs. Havens to place the estate of her late husband, Frank C. Havens, on a solvent basis, according to her attorney, Theodore J. Roche of San Francisco.

"When Havens died a couple of years ago, it was believed that his liabilities were considerably greater than his assets," Roche said. "Mrs. Havens, however, practically dedicated the remainder of her life to the work of paying all creditors of the estate in full. By the sale of various properties under favorable conditions from time to time, she has been able to realize sufficient funds to restore the estate to a condition of solvency. The price obtained for the Key Route Inn went a long way toward accomplishing this."

The sale of the Inn property was practically completed three months ago, but was held up pending the council of the city of court, and also pending the action of the Oakland city council regarding the proposed opening of Twenty-second street.

Kelly Maintains Fear of Dines Caused Him to Shoot Operator

BY UNITED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2.—With his immense blue eyes set far apart, staring at those about him, Joe Kelly, alias Horace A. Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, film star, today told a sweeping story of the events leading up to his shooting of Courtland S. Dines, wealthy oil man, at a party last night at which he was host to Miss Normand and Edna Purviance, film actress.

Kelly, an unusual looking man with large features, a snub nose, broad thick lips, and strong teeth, talked calmly as he explained his version of the shooting.

"Miss Normand had phoned Mrs. Burns, the young lady who is her companion and caretaker for her home," Kelly said, speaking in low, expressive tones. "Mrs. Burns rushed to me and said, 'Go and bring Miss Normand home right away. She phoned for you to come and while she was phoning a man must have grabbed the phone away from her, for his voice said over the wire: 'She is not coming home, I tell you.'

"Now, Miss Normand, poor kid, has been in bad shape physically.

KELLY "FULL OF HOP" SAYS DINES

Wounded Man Declares He Made No Threat to Chauffeur.

By WILLIAM G. GAYLE,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2.—"The man who shot me was full of hop."

Such was the statement today of Courtland S. Dines, scion of a well known Denver family, who was shot and seriously wounded last night by Joe Kelly, alias H. A. Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, at Dines' apartment in North Vermont avenue, while Miss Normand and Edna Purviance, another well known film actress were present.

Gasping for breath on his cot at the receiving hospital, Dines told his story of the shooting exclusively to International News Service. One bullet from Greer's weapon pierced Dines' body, entering his chest and coming out in his back, and another ripped his ear.

"I understand he has told the police I threatened him with a bottle," Dines said. "I never thought of such a thing. There

POLICE SEE ONE MOTIVE IN ATTACK

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2.—Inflamed with love for Mabel Normand, one of filmdom's most popular stars, Joe Kelly, alias H. A. Greer, her chauffeur, shot and attempted to kill Courtland S. Dines, her host at a New Year's evening party.

This was the motive advanced today by Assistant Detective Captain Herman Cline of the homicide squad as the probable cause for the crime.

His heart burning with feeling for the dark-eyed actress who has featured in previous love dramas of real life as well as on the screen, the chauffeur's reason was overwhelmed by his desire, and anger at seeing the woman he worshipped in company of another.

"There doesn't seem to be any other possible motive," Captain Cline said today. "We have sifted the whole affair thoroughly as far as we have gone and can find no other possible origin back of the shooting."

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2. — The condition of Courtland S. Dines, wealthy young oil man, was critical today and it was said at police headquarters that if Dines dies a charge of murder in the first degree would be placed against R. C. Greer, alias Joe Kelly, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, the noted film star. Kelly shot Dines in the presence of Miss Normand and Miss Edna Purviance, leading woman for Charlie Chaplin, film comedian.

Efforts of the police will be directed today to obtaining a more definite account of the shooting than the circumstantial recital of the four persons which the police obtained last night. The shooting culminated a New Year's party at which the police said considerable liquor was consumed and the versions of which offered by Miss Normand, Miss Purviance and Kelly differ widely.

The wide point of variance in the stories of the persons involved hinges, the police say, on the Employment Statistics

Don't be alarmed—statistics are not nearly as dry as you may imagine. For example we learn that there was a great demand for car washers on the 2nd of January, 1906. Both of Oakland's garages advertised for men. The addresses were the "Oakland Automobile Garage" at 12th and Madison and the "White Garage" at 18th and Telegraph. No wages quoted.

On the same day the Bowman Drug Company advertised for a boy "16 to 20, to learn the drug trade." We wonder who got the position, and here he is today.

Three other present day firms were in need of help—Seulberger Floral Company, Smith Brothers, stationers, and Chinn-Beretta Optical Company. The day before must have been disastrous to the ranks of labor—or shrewd merchants sense the need of expanding their forces to meet Oakland's ever-growing opportunities.

statement of Kelly especially that he was summoned to the apartment of Dines by a phone call that Dines was holding Miss Normand there against her will.

Miss Normand emphatically denies this and the police in extending their inquiry were told that Dines and Miss Purviance were engaged to be married. When questioned at police headquarters before being allowed to go to her home, Miss Purviance refused to say whether she was engaged to Dines.

Greer, or Kelly, admitted to police that he shot Dines "for a good cause," claiming that the Denver oil man was keeping Miss Normand intoxicated."

CHAUFFEUR GIVES SELF UP TO POLICE.

Immediately after the shooting Kelly surrendered himself at the Wilshire police station, stating he had shot a man and took officers to Dines' apartment where the actresses were found with the wounded man.

Both of the actresses were declared by police to be in a high stage of exhilaration from New Year's celebrating.

According to the story told by Greer and partially corroborated by the actresses, Miss Purviance was at Dines' apartment and early in the evening phoned for Miss Normand to join them.

Before leaving her home for Dines' apartment, Miss Normand is said to have told Kelly, who has been employed as her chauffeur for the last few weeks, to call for her at an appointed time. Kelly also was instructed to bring with him a package containing military brushes and other articles for Dines.

ALL INTOXICATED, CHAUFFEUR CLAIMS.

When he arrived at the Dines apartment, Kelly said he found the trio in the living room and that all three were intoxicated.

Kelly is said to have accused Dines of "keeping Miss Normand drunk," and that in an argument that followed with Dines, the chauffeur shot as Dines appeared to reach for a bottle behind a divan. He told police he thought Dines was going to strike him with the bottle.

Three shots were fired at Dines but only one took effect, police said. That struck him in the chest and passed through his body, coming out at the back.

Kelly used Miss Normand's little .25-calibre revolver police said.

In a statement to International News Service after the shooting Miss Normand declared it all happened so suddenly that she did not know really what happened. She refused to discuss the affair to any great length because of her unnerved condition. She declared Miss Purviance and Dines were to be married in two months.

Miss Normand became transferred from a comedienne the whole world knew, to a central figure in a tragic intrigue that resulted in the unsolved murder of William Desmond Taylor.

Kelly Says Fear Caused Him to Shoot Oil Man

Day before New Year's her doctor said she's have to have an operation Thursday morning. Miss Normand, I understand, didn't want it. I'm not sure what it was to be for—that was a private matter—probably she was going to have her appendix removed.

"New Year's eve Miss Normand went to bed a few minutes before midnight. Everybody was instructed not to answer the telephone. For a long time past that's been the case. She wasn't feeling well and didn't want to go out on parties. She said she intended to start the new year right.

"Well, when the telephone call came I sensed trouble. I ran up to her room where she kept a little gun in a table drawer and I slipped it in my pocket. I never thought she ought to have had that gun, a girl of her disposition, way up or down with the blues.

MABEL ONLY KIND, SAYS CHAUFFEUR.

When I got to Dines' apartment I found everybody had been drinking, maybe only a drink or two out drinking just the same—and her going to the hospital Thursday!

"Now get me right here. The detectives have tried to make out that I was in love with Miss Normand. Swell chance! I always felt towards her like I feel towards any boss, but I will say she was the kindest person to me of anyone I have ever worked for.

"Anyway if they say I was jealous of Dines, they make a mistake because Dines was Miss Purviance's friend. Miss Normand just went along.

"Miss Normand was sitting on the davenport in the living room. She seemed perfectly agreeable to go but Dines, he's a big feller, with small eyes—I could tell—a sharp temper, snarls and says, she isn't going home.'

AUTOMATIC SHOOTS TWICE FOR WIELDER.

"He's backed against a table and looking at me meanly. If ever a man looked like he meant business he did. He lets his hand slide slowly back of him, claw-like, ready to grip the neck of a bottle behind him. It'd been plain to anybody what he intended to do.

"I just drew quick and shot. The d—d automatic shot twice before I knew it. I only meant to wound him slightly to make him stop before he could bring the bottle down on my head.

"After he fell the women took care of him. I rushed out, went to the Wilshire police station and told the story. I expected them to come and arrest Dines, so Miss Normand could leave, as I didn't know how seriously he was wounded."

Greer emphasized the fact that he had been "keeping company" with a girl for some time. "Gee, take a look at me" he said smiling whimsically.

"Do I look like the sort of a guy who would aspire to the love of a great actress?

"Sure, I've got an autographed picture of Miss Normand in my room, but shucks I've got pictures, some autographed of lots of movie stars. You know they autograph them and give them away by the hundreds.

"And the platinum cuff links Miss Normand gave me for Christmas are nothing more than would have been given to any servant" the chauffeur said, simply and conclusively.

DENVER, Jan. 2.—Mr. and Mrs. Tyson Dines, father and mother of Courtland S. Dines, wealthy oil operator and broker of Denver, who was shot last night in Los Angeles while entertaining Miss Edna Purviance and Miss Mabel Normand, screen actresses, are at their winter home in Biloxi, Miss., according to members of the family in Denver. They left Denver about three weeks ago. They have been notified of the shooting of their son and according to information here will leave this afternoon for Los Angeles.

Gene Dines, a brother, likewise plans to leave Denver this afternoon for Los Angeles.

Friends of Dines in Denver, according to information obtainable in brokerage circles declare he practically admitted his engagement to Miss Purviance while in Denver on a visit about three weeks ago. Although no specific admission was forthcoming from him at that time his friends declare that he accepted the congratulations of his friends without the formality of a denial.

ACTRESSES NEAR TO BREAKDOWN FROM SHOOTING

Further Quizzing of Two Women Abandoned for the Present.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2 — Both Miss Normand and Miss Edna Purviance are reported near a breakdown as a result of the shock of the Dines shooting and have been excused from further quizzing for the time being.

The surroundings in the police station, so different from the movie set together with the questioning of the stern-faced officers added to the discomfiture and nervousness of the actresses last night.

The setting for last night's quiz was as dramatic as any possible for a scenarist to vision or a master of stagecraft to construct.

IN PRIVATE OFFICE.

Under the dim glow of the stationhouse lights, with the shouts of prisoners in their cells sifting in through the half open windows, sat two of pictureland's most widely-known stars.

They were in Captain Home's private office, quite alone insofar as the presence of other members of their sex" were concerned.

Captain Cline and Detective Lieutenant Charles J. Garvis conducted the probe. At their right was Miss Normand, large-eyed, nervous, and gripped with all the unrest of her dynamic temperament.

At the left of the officers was Miss Purviance, blonde beauty, much the cooler of the two, although expressing a desire to "get this thing over with so I can see Courtland."

PLANS HELD UP.

Before them all was Kelly, dogged and determinedly sticking to his story of the shooting with its plea of self-defense, denied vigorously by everyone else concerned.

Whether this dramatic scene will again be reconstructed appeared improbable today, with the decision not to question Miss Normand and Miss Purviance again at this time. It is probable that the three will not be brought together [illegible]

In the meantime, plans for Miss Purviance's new picture are held up. Long Charles Chaplin's leading lady, she is scheduled to start a new film with the comedian within the near future.

Dines Denies Love For Miss Normand

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2. — Miss Mabel Normand is not acting at this time. The girl who first came into picture prominence as a Mack Sennett bathing beauty has been starred for several seasons in that producer's longer films. She is still under contract with Sennett.

From his hospital cot today, Dines denied the rumor that he and Miss Normand are engaged to marry. He protested that they are merely friends, disclaiming any regard for the star that might influence Kelly to shoot him through jealousy. Dines was too weakened to talk at length of the shooting.

Kelly Denies Love For Film Beauty

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2.—That he was enamoured of Miss Mabel Normand was vigorously denied by Kelly, when told of the motive for the shooting advanced by authorities.

"I was merely guarding her as a trusted employee would," the chauffeur declared "Dines wouldn't let Mabel go and was keeping her intoxicated.

"I knew, though, that they would accuse me of being jealous," Kelly said, smiling cynically.

The chauffeur today gave his age as 27. Prior to coming to Los Angeles six years ago he worked in an automobile factory in Buffalo, N. Y. He served overseas during the world war in the 23rd aerial squadron, he said. He did not advance any explanation for changing his name from H. A. Greer to the alias Kelly.

was no fight and not even a party was in progress in my apartment last night. Miss Purv'ance and I had been out celebrating the advent of New Year's the night before but Miss Normand was not in our party. Yesterday afternoon Miss Normand called up and said she was coming over. We told her to come ahead and she did. When she arrived we all were feeling pretty low and we all had a drink. We sat around and talked for a while. After a wh le Mabel remembered she was to see some friends off on a train. I told her she was in no condition to be seen at the station, but she would not listen to me and telephoned her companion, a Mrs Edith Burns, to send for her after her at once. Before the chauffeur arrived we had another drink.

"When the chauffeur arrived Miss Normand was sitting on a divan and I again advised her not to try to go to the station.

"'She is going with me,' the chauffeur said 'Edith said bring her.'

"You know how erratic Mabel is I was at a party at the Coronado hotel some t me ago when she broke her shoulder because she would not listen to reason Again I warned her not to go

"With that Greer whipped out a gun and plugged me through the lung, I thought. He has said I tried to hit him with a bottle Such a thing never entered my mind Miss Normand is only a friend of mine Why should I fight over her? She has been going around with Edna and me for the last six months And there is nothing serious between Mrs. Purviance and myself, either We are just good friends that is all"

Dines' fever, which rose this morning, was brought down by a treatment and his pulse was restored to normal His physicians stated that while Dines' condition was serious, it could not be considered dangerous

Tribute To Hero; No Help For Sister

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Jan 2—Several English writers are calling attention to the impractical methods of rewarding heroism as a result of the case of Miss Lily Cornwall. The girl is a sister of Jack Cornwall, the boy who won the Victoria Cross by his heroism at the battle of Jutland. A fund of $140,000 was collected to build a memorial to him, yet when his sister was in need of financial help none was forthcoming Consequently she sailed from here for Canada, where she hopes to be able to find work.

ned them, however, until Cline and members of the homicide squad questioned Kelly in the presence of the two young women.

When, though, shortly after midnight, the police told Miss Normand and Miss Purviance that they were free to go to their homes until summoned again for further questioning, both insisted on seeing Dines They were taken into the ward room of the hospital. What happened there was told by hospital attaches.

MISS PURVIANCE FIRST TO ENTER.

Miss Purviance was the first to enter the hospital ward. She rushed impulsively to the bedside of Dines, dropped to her knees, threw her arms about him and sobbed:

"Oh, Courtland, I love you. It will kill me if you die"

Dines had been lying back in the bed with his eyes closed. He opened them when he felt Miss Purviance embracing him He smiled weakly and said in an assumed tone of jocularity:

"They can't kill me. 'Doc' says I'm all right.'

Miss Purviance continued to kiss him until Miss Normand came up to the bedside She remained standing and looked down upon Dines with an expression of mock reproach, shook one finger at him and said:

MABEL THINKS OF THE NOTORIETY.

"Hello, there, Duckie. I'm not going to play around with you any more—just see what a lot of notoriety you've got me into."

Then she stooped and kissed him.

Miss Purviance asked the hospital attaches if it would be possible to have Dines removed at once to the Good Samaritan hospital. His condition was such that this could have been done, but the police would not give their consent.

During the night there were numerous calls to the emergency hospital by one or more women. No men called up. No names were given by those who asked regarding Dines' condition.

$30,000 FIRE AT ANTIOCH IS SET BY PYROMANIAC

Paper Factory's Straw Stack One of Four Ignited by Incendiary.

MARTINEZ, Jan. 2.—Fire, believed of incendiary origin, and the fourth within four months, destroyed a straw stack of the Paraffine Company, paper manufacturers, at Antioch last night. The loss is estimated at $30,000. Deputy Sheriffs Dike Joslin and Ralph Harrison are at Antioch investigating the fire. Officials of the company declined to make a statement today. The blaze was extinguished by the company's apparatus.

The total damage caused by the four fires, all believed to have been caused by an arsonist, is estimated at $50,000. The last previous blaze destroyed a straw stack at a loss of $10,000.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement

WHATS HAPPENING IN THE AUTO WORLD
BY B.J. ROSENTHAL

The first automotive exhibit on the Pacific coast this year, will open in Oakland's Municipal Auditorium January 12. It will be the greatest display of motor cars, trucks and accessories ever gathered on this side of the bay, and bids fair to be one of the greatest attractions ever staged in this city.

Robert W. Martland, manager of the show, has his work well in hand, and promises that everything will be in readiness when the doors of the auditorium open January 12.

Since Martland has managed five of the six shows staged here, and has never opened one of them a moment late, it is safe to predict that first night fans will not be disappointed.

First nights are marred at many shows by the fact that men are still at work arranging the exhibits when the doors open. That has never happened in an Oakland show It will be ready just as complete Saturday night, when it opens, as it will be the following Saturday night when it closes.

There is more interest in things automotive this year than ever before because there are approximately a quarter as many more automobile owners this year than last year.

Martland and the show committee is expecting a greatly increased attendance this year, due to the greater interest in motoring facts cars, trucks and accessories, and the fact that there are more owners.

A feature of the display this year will be an exhibit planned by the United States army, which will occupy the west corridor, Uncle Sam will have a field artillery unit there with guns and supplies, and will demonstrate the motor equipment used on the field of battle.

The main auditorium and the huge annex, which has just been completed, will house new motor car exhibits. The north corridor of the main building will be used for truck and accessory exhibits

For the first time in the history of Oakland automobile shows the accessory division will be well represented. In former shows there has not been room enough for them. This time the added space of the annex allows for additional accessory room in the main building

The show will open on time. Martland has handled five of the six shows and not one has ever opened late. They have all been complete when the doors opened. The sixth annual show will be no exception It will open on time, you can be sure of that.

The first automobile show of the year on the Pacific coast will open a week from Saturday night, and it will be well worth your attention. Plan to go there.

Giving the Telephone Life

WHEREVER your thought goes your voice may go. You can talk across the continent as if face to face. Your telephone is the latch to open for you any door in the land.

There is the web of wires. The many switchboards. The maze of apparatus. The millions of telephones. All are parts of a country-wide mechanism for far-speaking. The equipment has cost over two billion dollars, but more than equipment is needed.

There must be the guardians of the wires to keep them vital with speech-carrying electrical currents. There must be those who watch the myriads of tiny switchboard lights and answer your commands. There must be technicians of every sort to construct, repair and operate.

A quarter of a million men and women are united to give nation-wide telephone service. With their brains and hands they make the Bell System live.

CLARKE CALLS FOR ELIMINATION OF K.K.K. EVILS

Imperial Giant Asks for Rally to Heal Breach or Disband.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 2.—E. Y. Clarke, imperial giant, today issued a call for a national congress of the Ku Klux Klan to meet in Atlanta on February 26, to "gather together and prayerfully consider methods to eliminate existing evils, or else to follow the example of the founder of the original Ku Klux Klan, and have the courage and manhood to devise ways and means for the immediate disbandment of the organization."

Clarke's proclamation calls attention to the organization of the klan on July 4, 1915, by William Joseph Simmons, now emperor, and says that "these laudable aims, ideals, principles and purposes have apparently been abandoned by the klan and the organization has become one with 'lawless tendencies and political design,'" and that the end of the "bitter war" between the emperor and imperial wizard is not in sight.

"With the above conditions existing and with the federal government and the courts of the land becoming increasingly alarmed over the situation," Clarke's proclamation says that it 'behooves klansmen of all ranks and stations to gather together" and consider means of "eliminating existing evils, or else disbandment of the organization."

Contracts Awarded For Branch of S. P.

YUMA, Ariz., Jan. 2.—The Southern Pacific Railway company has definitely announced plans and awarded contracts for the grading of a three-mile branch line from Ivaloni Ariz., to connect with the railroad's recently constructed $400,000 bridge across the Colorado river. The cost of the line is estimated at about $660,000 and about 600 men will be engaged in the work.

The project is part of the railroad's $1,000,000 improvement program in this section of the state and will be completed in about six months, it is estimated.

Yuma-California Road Work to Begin

YUMA, Ariz., Jan. 2.—Construction of the Yuma-California road, a 22-mile stretch from the Colorado river highway bridge here to Plank road, will begin immediately following the award of contracts for the work several days ago, it was announced by road officials here. The road, which will cost approximately $275,000, is the last link to be constructed in the El Paso-San Diego-Los Angeles highway, and probably will be completed about February 1.

Advice on Income Tax Problems

What was your income for the year 1923?"

The Bureau of Internal Revenue today is addressing this question to every citizen and resident of the United States. Endeavor correctly to answer this and other questions relating to income and income tax will be made by the vast majority of persons who annually are required to file an individual income-tax return. However, as evidenced by the files of the Bureau of Internal Revenue thousands of taxpayers are without exact knowledge of the requirements of the revenue act in relation to such obligations.

The result is the filing of an incorrect return, frequently to the detriment of the taxpayer who fails to take advantage of allowable exemptions and deductions.

As an aid in the preparation of individual income-tax returns for the year 1923, the Bureau of Internal Revenue has prepared a series of articles based on the latest rulings and decisions governing the administration of the revenue act. The salaried man, wage earner, professional and business man, farmer, in fact every class of taxpayer, will be informed fully of the requirements and privileges. Taxpayers are advised to preserve these articles as a guide in the making of their returns.

Every single person whose net income for 1923 was $1000 or more or whose gross income was $5000 or more must file a return. Divorcees or persons separated by mutual consent are classed as single persons. Married persons, living together, are required to file a return if the aggregate net income was $2000 or more, or if the aggregate gross income was $5000 or more. Husband and wife may include the income of each in a single joint return, or may file separate returns showing the income of each.

Famous Austrian Surgeon Restored By Gland Treatment

Dr. Lorenz, famous Austrian surgeon, according to a recent press dispatch, has submitted himself to glandular treatment. This treatment, according to the doctor's own statement, has restored him to the health and vigor of his earlier days, and he is highly enthusiastic about this new branch of medical science.

Thousands of men and women who are lacking in health and energy, are taking advantage of science's most recent discovery and are using Glandogen, a highly concentrated glandular tonic, in convenient tablet form, prepared from the glands of healthy young animals. Glandogen has had remarkable success in the treatment of run-down, nervous individuals. It is obtainable at Federal Drug Co., Federal Bldg. Mail orders given prompt attention.—Advertisement.

Soothes disinfects heals

Not merely on the surface
but underneath, where permanent relief is found

DO NOT expect ordinary surface remedies to remove a rash, eczema or itching skin disorder. Not on the outside, but deep down in the under layers of the skin is the real source of the trouble.

Pores clogged with poisonous germs, body cells and tissues swollen and inflamed—these are what must be soothed back to normal before a rash, eczema, or other skin disorder will disappear.

Yet there is a way that brings almost immediate relief—a way that goes to the real source of the trouble. To cleanse the pores, kill germs, and start the skin again acting normally, physicians have for twenty-eight years been prescribing Resinol in their daily practice.

If you have today any spot, rash or irritation on your skin, apply Resinol. Get a jar of this soothing, healing ointment; spread a coating on the affected surface and smooth it in very gently with the fingers. One application will, in many cases, stop the itching completely. Resinol is absolutely harmless. It will not irritate the delicate texture of an infant's skin, or even raw exposed flesh. It does not deteriorate or lose its effectiveness with time. Get a jar at your druggist or send for a free trial sample to Dept. 1, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

BRONCHIAL COUGH FOR 36 YEARS

Mrs. Bice finally stopped it, without changing climate.

"I had bronchitis for 36 years. When I was 2 years old, I had whooping cough and it left me in an awful state. I took hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine, with but little relief. I had to sit up in bed all night and cough and choke until my eyes nearly burst out of their sockets. I could not afford to change climate.

"Finally my husband urged me to try Milks Emulsion, saying if it didn't help me, I could get my money back. I tried it and have continued its use until now my bronchial tubes are free and clear and I can breathe with ease. When you think that I had this dreaded disease all my life, you can see why I want everybody to try Milks Emulsion."—Mrs. Anna Bice, 1351 Wendall St., Columbus, Ohio.

Sprays and gargles and local remedies do not touch a cough of this kind. The system must be built up to throw it off.

Milks Emulsion restores healthy, natural bowel action; it is a fruity corrective medicine, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food, and thus build flesh and strength. Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened; it is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere. —Advertisement.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling — sick headache — torpid liver — constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them 15c and 30c. Advertisement

Practical Nurse Tells

Mrs. N. E. Snow, of Route 1, near Paris, Tenn., tells the story of her experience as follows:

"I am 62 years old and I have been a practical nurse for more than 20 years, taking mostly maternity cases. One of my daughters suffered from cramping at . . . She would just bend double and have to go to bed.

CARDUI

was recommended to her and she only had to take about two bottles, when she hardly knew that it was . . . she suffered so little pain.

"My youngest daughter was run-down, weak and nervous, and looked like she didn't have a bit of blood left—just a walking skeleton, no appetite and tired all the time. I gave her two bottles of Cardui. It built her up and she began eating and soon gained in weight and has been so well since."

Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, has helped suffering women for over forty years. Try it. At all druggists'. E-100

AMENDMENT OF VOLSTEAD ACT IS URGED BY SMITH

New York Governor Asks Legislature to Memorialize Congress.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Further efforts for modification of the Volstead act were suggested in Governor Smith's message to the new legislature today. He urged that New York's representatives be asked to lay before the present congress a memorial to congress adopted by the last legislature.

"The last session of the legislature," said the message, "memorialized congress by resolution to change the present narrow, senseless definition of what constitutes an intoxicating beverage as set forth in the Volstead act, to the end that there may be permitted the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer under the careful restrictions set forth in our legislative enactment of 1920. (This enactment was a law legalizing the manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer which was declared unconstitutional by state courts).

"Subsequently, the legislature further defined the policy of the state in relation to this subject by the repeal of the state law which in effect left enforcement of the Volstead act with both state and federal government and left the prosecution for violation of the Volstead act entirely with the federal government. It must be remembered, however, that this did not and cannot and will not bring about a change in the present definition of what constitutes an intoxicant. An amendment to the Volstead act is only possible by the congress of the United States.

"Inasmuch as we have a new congress now in session, I suggest that by resolution, properly adopted, you call the attention of our representatives from this state to the action of last winter and request them to lay it before the present congress."

NINE IN FAMILY BURNED TO DEATH

OIL CITY, Pa., Jan. 2.—A man and eight of his grandchildren were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the home of Claude Emminger, near Tylersburg, Clarion county, yesterday, according to word reaching here today.

The dead man was James Mentzner, 72, father of Mrs Emminger. The children included seven members of Emminger's family and a nephew, Michael McMangle.

Mrs. Emminger, ill, was sleeping alone downstairs and was awakened by the smell of smoke early this morning. She opened a stairway door leading to the second floor and succeeded in battling her way through the smoke filled corridor to the rooms occupied by her husband and mother, collapsing in her husband's arms.

He carried her to safety and tried to re-enter the furnace into which the house had been transformed, to save the children, but the flames, fanned by a wind fought him back time and again.

Meanwhile, as the flames started to level the house, the aged grandfather and the children, the youngest aged two months, and the oldest, 12, slept on. Emminger, his wife and mother suffered burns in their attempted rescue, but doctors this morning said they would recover.

The cause of the blaze has not been determined. After a brief investigation, however, the Clarion county coroner declared an inquest would not be necessary.

Alleged Shoplifter In Berkeley Taken

BERKELEY, Jan. 2.—Caught in the act of taking a coat from the firm of A. O. Donogh & Sons, Bancroft way and Shattuck avenue, Mrs. Jennie Pellow, alias Mrs. Jennie Howard, giving her address as 538 Fifty-fifth street, Oakland, is under arrest as a shoplifter. Mrs. Pellow was taken into custody Monday afternoon after Stanley Donogh, son of the proprietor of the store, caught her attempting to put a woman's coat in a bag which she carried.

The woman declared that she had been given the money for a new coat by her husband, but that she thought it looked "easy" to take the garment instead and save the money for a new dress. When arrested she had $540 in her possession, $500 of which she deposited as bail. She will appear before Judge Robert Edgar tomorrow for arraignment.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $5, and you have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Pacheco is charged by Joseph Montago, his uncle, a resident of Hayward, with stealing his machine and using it for more than a week. The young man had been in his employ, but was discharged as incompetent, testified Montago, when he swore out a complaint for arrest.

Hunters of Geese Bring Home Game

HAYWARD, Jan. 2.—Bringing back a number of geese, Harold Johnson, Harold Jensen and S. Jones, local residents and sportsmen, have returned from a three-day hunt at Williams, near Sacramento. They made their headquarters at a ranch owned by relatives of Jones. The birds, according to the trio, are flying unusually well this year, excellent feeding conditions and lack of heavy rains or winds enabling the hunter to bag the limit in most instances.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN TUB.

MIAMI, Florida, Jan. 2.—Mrs. Sophie Herbert Kloeber, 76, prominent Miami and Chicago club woman, was found dead in the bath tub of her apartment here yesterday by her son, Louis, and her husband, John V. Kloeber, former wholesale hardware dealer of Chicago.

FAMOUS SURGEON DEAD.

Mrs. Kindrick Made $70.00 On Chickens

Once Sickly, Now Making Money Besides Doing Housework.

"I had pains in my side and could hardly do my housework. One doctor called it appendicitis and another 'female trouble.' I began taking Adlerika (intestinal antiseptic) and in two weeks I began to feel better. Now I do all my housework, raised and sold $70 worth of chickens and worked two gardens. I cannot say too much for Adlerika." (Signed) Mrs. O. Kindrick.

A Treacherous Disease.

Appendicitis attacks at any moment even persons seemingly in good health. Usually, however, it is preceded by so-called stomach trouble, constipation or similar disturbances. Often when there is a warning feeling of uneasiness in the abdomen, appendicitis can be guarded against in the same manner in which one guards against the spread of throat infection, because that is just what appendicitis is—an infection in the intestines spreading to the appendix. When one has sore throat, one can often prevent further trouble by using an antiseptic wash or gargle to fight the germs and a laxative to carry off the poisons from the body. The same procedure is necessary to fight the intestinal germs and guard against appendicitis. But instead of an antiseptic wash for the throat, an INTESTINAL antiseptic is necessary.

Intestinal Antiseptic.

There is now offered to the public a preparation having the DOUBLE action of an intestinal antiseptic and a COMPLETE system cleanser. This preparation, known as Adlerika, acts as follows:

It tends to eliminate or destroy harmful germs and colon bacilli in the intestinal canal, thus guarding against appendicitis and other diseases having their start here.

It is the most complete system cleanser ever offered to the public, acting on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removing foul matter which poisoned the system for months and which nothing else can dislodge. It brings out all gases, thus immediately relieving pressure on the heart. It is astonishing the great amount of poisonous matter Adlerika draws from the alimentary canal—matter you never thought was in your system. Try it right after a natural movement and notice how much more foul matter it brings out which was poisoning you. In slight disorders, such as occasional constipation, sour stomach, gas on the stomach and sick headache, one spoonful Adlerika ALWAYS brings relief. A longer treatment, however, is necessary in cases of obstinate constipation and long standing stomach trouble, preferably under direction of your physician.

Reports from Physicians.

"I found Adlerika the best in my entire 37 years' experience." (Signed) Dr. G. Eggers.

"I use Adlerika in all bowel cases. Some require only one dose." (Signed) Dr. F. M. P. (Name given on request.)

"I have found nothing in my 50 years' practice to excel Adlerika." (Signed) Dr. James Weaver.

"After taking Adlerika feel better than for 20 years. Haven't language to express the AWFUL IMPURITIES eliminated from my system." (Signed) J. E. Puckett.

Adlerika is a constant surprise to people who have used only ordinary bowel and stomach medicines, on account of its rapid, pleasant and COMPLETE action. It is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

FLOOD OF WATER HURLS WOMEN TO DEATH IN CANYON

Victims, Swept Off Ledge, Drop 200 Feet as Huge Pipe Unleashes River.

FRESNO, Jan 2—Swept from a mountain road by a column of water from a broken penstock, two women were hurled far out over a canyon at Camp 33 of the Southern California Edison Company yesterday, dropping 200 feet to instant death, according to information reaching here from the mountain district. The dead are:

Mrs. Charles Berry

Miss Linda Stetter, sister of Mrs Berry.

Caught by the rush of icy water as the 84-inch pipe supplying water for Edison company power house No. 8 burst, the women had no chance to escape. Throttling the flood at the tunnel mouth, 900 feet above the power house, employees prevented any serious damage to the power unit in the canyon bottom, according to officials here.

Conflicting reports have been received regarding the tragedy. One report says a cabin was swept over the mountain side with the women trapped inside. Other reports are that the women were walking or riding on a road along the mountain.

Nine Cows Killed By Tobacco Leaves

STOUGHTON, Wis, Jan 2—Man chews tobacco and survives. Cows try it and die. Nine head of cattle on the farm of Ernest Haines, between Stoughton and Oregon, tired of the routine of fodder and silage, nosed their way into an open tobacco shed.

Each selected a cud of moist curing leaves. Four of the cattle are dead and the other five are reported to be suffering from acute nicotine poisoning. The loss, Haines estimates, will be more than $1000.

Wounded Veteran Cut Off By Mother

WORCHESTER Mass Jan —The will of Etta M Haddock of Uxbridge, just filed, contains this codicil.

"To my son Frank H I leave no bequest, because he was wounded at the battle of the Marne, and I rely upon the bounty of a grateful government to provide for his necessities in case he is unable to provide for himself."

The estate is divided among three other children. The value is not stated.

California Only State Fighting Rats

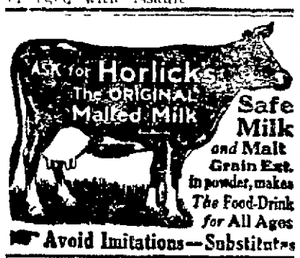

SACRAMENTO Jan 2—Anti plague work among rats, squirrels and other rodents has been discontinued by every state in the Union except California according to a federal bureau report received by the State Board of Health.

Reasons for this action are given that "both human and rodent plague appears to have been eradicated in the United States, except for infected ground squirrels in California."

LEPS ALL NIGHT, NO MORE PAIN, PRAISES ALVITA

Hundreds of men will welcome the news of W. E. Sanborn of Pasadena, who tells about the wonderful benefits he received from the new discovery, Alvita Tablets:

"I have been a sufferer with bladder trouble for a number of years which finally developed into an aggravated case of prostate gland trouble. During the past two years it has been very bad so that I have been unable to sleep nights. The suffering is something awful. I have been taking your ALVITA Tablets for only a short time and am delighted to tell you that I am now well. I sleep all night long and I have no further pain. I know of a lot of men that have this trouble and I tell all I can of my own cure."

Alvita is prepared in highly concentrated form from the deep-rooted alfalfa plant, which, by scientific analysis, is found to be rich in lime, iron and phosphates. Unlike drugs, Alvita is a vegetable remedy which has benefited thousands of men and women A dollar buys a box at any drug store. —Advertisement.

Cocoanut Oil Makes a Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement

Get Rid of That Backache

IS that dull, constant backache making you old and miserable? Do you get up lame and stiff; drag through the day feeling tired, nervous and depressed? Evening find you utterly worn out—fit only for bed? Then you should be looking to your kidneys. Winter's colds and chills make extra work for the kidneys. And too often the strain is more than the hard working kidneys can bear! The kidneys fall behind in keeping the blood-stream pure and there is slow poisoning of the whole system. Daily backache results, with rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and annoying kidney irregularities. One feels lame, stiff and achy; nervous, irritable and dispirited. Don't wait! Delay may prove serious. Use Doan's Pills — a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's have helped thousands. Home folks recommend them. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These Oakland Folks Found Relief:

R. E. EWART, 2506 High St., says: "I suffered with rheumatic pains. Terrible pains across my back sapped my vitality. There was too much uric acid in my system, and I believe the pains were caused from this trouble Kidney weakness was another constant ailment, and the secretions were highly colored and otherwise unnatural. I steadily grew worse until relief came through Doan's Pills. The rheumatic trouble disappeared and Doan's put my kidneys in first-class condition."

MRS. H. PFENNINGER, 929 24th St., says: "I didn't feel well and I knew from the different symptoms that the trouble arose from the unhealthy condition of my kidneys My back was weak and ached constantly and I was never free from nervousness. I felt tired and my Kidneys were anything but normal in action. Finally I gave Doan's Pills a trial and the first box relieved me. After finishing the second box of Doan's I was rid of every sign of kidney complaint."

G. C. DENHAM, 1448 83rd Ave., says: "After I lay in bed awhile my back began to ache and pain The grinding pains across my kidneys wore me out completely. My back felt lame and sore and I was out of condition generally My kidneys acted too freely. I had known of Doan's Pills for a long time and I simply had to have a kidney medicine I took Doan's and my back stopped aching My kidneys were restored to normal action, too."

Principals in "Woman Proof"

THOMAS MEIGHAN and LILA LEE, as they appear in "Woman Proof," showing at the American theater this week. The play was written by their business partner, George Ade.

CHATTER OF THE MAKE-BELIEVERS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 1.—Talking about new leaves, wonder what Eve did on New Year's?

At half past 12 o'clock last night we cantered up and down Hollywood boulevard in search of scandal.

There was a light in Levy's Ancient Mariner cafe. We skipped to the curb and tried the door. It was locked. Inside, two waiters were arranging pies on a shelf and the scrubwoman was putting the chairs on the table.

Armstrong and Carlton's another popular cafe, was dark it had been closed since about 10 o'clock, a stray policeman said.

There was a light at the Montmarte, and the door was unlocked. We galloped up the steps and looked in. The musicians were talking as they put away their instruments; otherwise the place was deserted.

But we persisted, and eventually found a scandal. At the corner by the Hollywood hotel, in the shadow of a telephone pole, two disreputable looking cats were making a date.

But maybe it was different in the Far East, where some of the absent brethren are disporting themselves this gladsome Yuletide, and all this and that.

We have had rumblings of a more or less decorous entertainment that was being arranged by Tommy Meighan, than whom there is no more buxom host, at a gilded Long Island palace. Many of the absent brethren and sistern were scheduled to attend same and strut their stuff to the satisfaction and delight of all.

Tommy, by the way, isn't ever coming back to Hollywood, did you know that? He used to have a clause in his contract that he could make so many pictures here and so many in New York, but he finally got tired of commuting and will hereafter stick to New York.

Wonder what kind of a New Year's eve the brethren and sistern had away over across the pond? Eddie Carew, the director, is over in Algiers with Claire Windsor and Bert Lytell and some other folks, making a plain and fancy opery, and they probably watched the old year out under the light of the silvery moon, or whatnot.

Rex Ingram and his wife, Alice Terry, and Ramon Navarro and some others are running around loose on the continent. They will be home sometime in the late spring, and they do say that Rex and Alice will not come back to Hollywood any more. They want to work at the Metro studio in New York. Alice kind of likes it.

Abe and Julius.

Did you hear about the time Abe wanted to make "The Lion and the Mouse" and Julius said:

"Lay off, lay off The public is tired of them animal pictures."

Meighan, Ade and Lee Turn Out Fine Film

"Woman Proof," at American, Is Winning Friends for Partnership.

Figures of the business world as well as fans of the moving picture firmament are watching with interest the development of the firm of Meighan, Ade and Lee. This is a unique business organization which deals in the writing and producing of cinema plays.

Thomas Meighan is senior partner, George Ade is next in rank and Lila Lee completes the organization. The partnership was formed about a year ago and it presented something new under the sun. George Ade, the popular humorist, is the writer of plays in which Meighan and Miss Lee appear as the leading characters.

The latest product of this organization is "Woman Proof," which embodies the George Ade humor and the Meighan-Ade delineation. The picture is being exhibited at the American theater and will conclude an engagement there on Friday night.

"Big Brother," an adaptation by Allan Dawn of Rex Beach's story, will be the attraction opening at the American theater on Saturday.

Whipping Post Big Spectacle In Coming Film

One of the most spectacular scenes ever filmed in motion pictures is the big mob scene in the Cosmopolitan picture, "Little Old New York," starring Marion Davies, which opens at the Franklin Theatre next Saturday. Miss Davies, swung on the shoulder of big Louis Wolheim, is rushed through a mob of a thousand howling men to the whipping-post to receive the punishment which the crowd demands because she rang the fire bell and stopped the prize-fight.

Refusing to employ a "double," Miss Davies insisted on taking the lashes inflicted by the cruel whip herself. The star insisted it would make the picture much better if she took the lashing herself. Although Wolheim tried to lay on the lashes as lightly as he could and still register the proper effect it was impossible to spare the dainty little star entirely.

Director Sidney Olcott cameraman, mechanics and electricians alike, were loud in their praise of Miss Davies' fortitude.

"Little Old New York" was adapted from Rida Johnson Young's stage play by Luther Reed.

Scotti Given Tribute Upon Anniversary

Great Baritone Is Hero of Brilliant Ceremony at Metropolitan.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The final curtain at last night's gala performance of "La Tosca," with Antonio Scotti in his favorite role of Scarpia, was redrawn to give Scotti the center of the stage in a brilliant ceremony commemorating the baritone's twenty-fifth consecutive season at the Metropolitan Opera House.

An audience representing all walks of life, gave the veteran singer an ovation as officials and persons high in the social and artistic life of the city handed him testimonial gifts. Later, at a dinner in his honor under the auspices of the Italy-America society, he received from the hands of Prince Caetani, Italian ambassador, the decoration of the Order of San Mauerizio Lazzaro.

Three months less than five years ago, the late Enrico Caruso was similarly honored by New York theater-goers on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his operatic debut in Italy and the sixteenth anniversary of his debut at the Metropolitan.

Born in Naples in 1866, Scotti learned of his vocal powers when he was studying for the priesthood. In 1889, he made his debut in Malta in "Aida." His success was rapid and he went to Milan the next season. While filling an engagement in Covent Garden, London, he was induced to accept a contract for a four months' season at the Metropolitan. The great baritone made his debut here in "Don Giovanni," December 27, 1899, and with the exception of a period of illness which kept him abed for half a season, has sung throughout each of the 25 seasons since then.

Scotti always has prided himself on being an actor as well as a singer. His favorite roles are "Falstaff," "Scarpia" and "Chimfan" in "L'Oracelo." A glowing tribute to his art and personality was paid by Otto H. Kahn in an address at the Metropolitan Opera House.

"In a more picturesque and spacious age" he said, "we should have assembled in a public square and crowned you as the good people of Nuremberg crowned their master singer, Hans Sachs."

Bogus Check Pair Sought by Police

ALAMEDA, Jan. 2.—Alameda police are searching for Frank Moore, recently an occupant of rooms at 1646 Park street, owned by Mrs. M. Hanson, and whom Mrs. Hanson accuses of having paid her with a worthless check. The check, according to Mrs. Hanson, was for $20.

Police have as yet been unable to apprehend the woman alleged to have forged the name of Mrs. Carl Strom, wife of a prominent merchant here, to three checks totaling more than $50. Despite an error in spelling the name, the forgery was not discovered until the checks were returned to Strom, according to police records.

Grover Cleveland, president of the United States in 1885, was the son of a poor clergyman.

Double Movie Feature Head Bill at State

Carefully Chosen Vaudeville Program Rounds Out Holiday Line-up.

Two film attractions and a vaudeville program are offered as a special New Year's bill at the State theater starting today.

"On the banks of the Wabash," a Vitagraph picture is the main number of the program. In the cast are James Morrison, Burr McIntosh, Mary McLaren and Madge Evans. A flood scene is the strength of the picture, and in this a river steamboat may be seen cruising about the main streets of inundated town and rescuing people from the house tops.

Ben Turpin appears in "The Pitfalls of a Great City" as the second film number of the program.

The vaudeville program is headed by Eugene De Bell and company of five people in a musical revue. Mitchell and Fredericks have a comedy act entitled, "Three o'Clock ing the Morning." Murphy and Murphy present a shooting novelty. Naples and Paige have a song and dance act and Gertrude Van Dyke completes the program with songs and monologue.

PHILIPPINE IS. TRADE BOOSTED BY SUGAR EXPORTS

New Crop Being Shipped To United States; Big Improvement Seen.

Shipments of the new Philippine island sugar crop to the United States is helping our island trade to a considerable extent and there was a big improvement manifest in Philippine business conditions in November according to a cable to the Department of Commerce from Trade Commissioner Fowler at Manila. The present unsound financial state of any merchants is due to unwise extension of credit during previous years. Banks and indent merchants are becoming increasingly cautious in opening credits abroad. The general trade improvement is considered seasonal. Shipments of the new sugar crop are going forward in good volume, though the full effect is not yet felt on account of the advanes made to planters during the growing season. The gradual reduction in Philippine exports since May has been due to the close of the sugar season and the current increase follows renewed exports of sugar.

A destructive typhoon the middle of November resulted in serious damage to the tobacco crop and retarded copra milling. It is estimated that the damage to tobacco of the Cagayan valley which normally produces about 89 per cent of Philippine tobacco will result in a loss of about 90 per cent of the crop. Adverse growing conditions for rice, due to lack of timely rains, have caused an estimated loss of 80 per cent of the islands' rice crop.

Local branches of foreign banks are in a stronger position than at the close of October and in better condition to handle finances in connection with the movement of sugar than at the corresponding time last year. The bank examiners statement of November 24 showed total resources of all Manila banks of 256,500,000 pesos; loans, discounts and overdrafts, 158,250,000 pesos, investments, 21,000,000 pesos and working capital of branches of foreign banks, 29,500,000 pesos.

The sale of the government-owned Portland cement company at Cebu is expected shortly and negotiations for the sale of the Binalbagan sugar central continue. Investment of local capital is reported at a standstill.

Shipping at Tacoma Keeps Up Fast Pace

TACOMA, Jan. 2.—To load 400,000 feet of lumber the steamer Forest King arrived early Sunday morning from San Pedro and got away for her return trip late Sunday night.

Roofing paper and canned goods were included in the cargo of the Cadaretta which arrived late Saturday night from San Francisco. After discharging here the vessel left for Mukilteo, to return to Tacoma Monday night for outbound cargo.

The Admiral Dewey, from San Pedro, was in and out Saturday night, discharging general cargo and loading cross-ties.

Bringing news print paper from British Columbia the Fulton arrived Saturday night. Sunday morning the vessel shifted to the terminal dock, leaving there in the afternoon on her return trip.

Tacomans, many of them prospective visitors to the east coast, were callers aboard the Jacob Luckenbach, which berthed at the terminal dock Sunday afternoon. The big east coast vessel has recently been remodeled to accommodate 35 passengers, who can now make the trip from Puget Sound direct to Atlantic coast ports via the Panama canal. Before going to the terminal dock the liner loaded 500 tons of copper and will take 400,000 feet of lumber at the terminal.

Gold and silver concentrates were brought to the smelter Sunday morning by the Cordova from Alaska. The vessel will remain here about a week, it is believed.

After discharging part of her cargo at the smelter the Granby, from British Columbia will begin unloading about 500 tons of gold and silver concentrates at the commercial dock Monday morning. The concentrates will later be shipped to California ports.

Cincinnati Is Turned Over for Active Service

BREMERTON, Wash., Jan. 1.—The scout cruiser Cincinnati, built at a cost of approximately $8,000,000, one of the ten fleet vessels that will round out Uncle Sam's fighting navy, was turned over to the government at ceremonies today at the navy yard.

Captain Ivan G. Wettengell, commandant of the navy yard, read the official orders commissioning the vessel. The Stars and Stripes were then run up and Captain C. P. Nelson took over command.

The Cincinnati will receive her final equipment during the next two weeks, and then, with a full crew, will start to San Diego to join the Pacific fleet.

LINER FINLAND SETS WIRELESS RECORD FOR U. S.

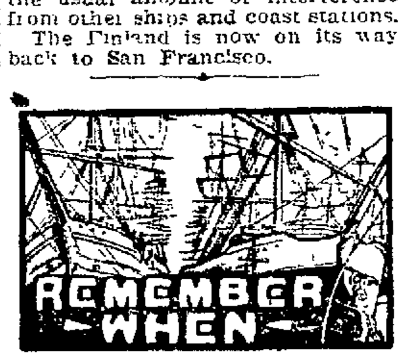

In Constant Touch With New York From the Time of Leaving S. F. Bay.

The Panama Pacific line steamer Finland has just accomplished a radio feat that is remarkable not only from its direct results but from the future of the wireless activity in the shipping game.

The Finland, which arrived last week in New York after completing her first round voyage to San Francisco after having eclipsed all previous records from commercial spark apparatus in coast to coast communication. It is reported that constant communication was maintained with New York throughout the entire voyage.

The Finland is equipped with wireless apparatus owned by the Independent Wireless Telegraph Company, Inc. Tests were conducted with the company's land station at East Hampton, L. I., with the result that two-way communication was kept up for the entire voyage. This achievement is considered unusual and deserving of commendation for the ship's radio personnel inasmuch as no schedules were prearranged between the Finland and the New York station. All work was carried on under normal conditions and through the usual amount of interference from other ships and coast stations.

The Finland is now on its way back to San Francisco.

A big [illegible] was reported approaching California from the sea on January 1, 1914, and shipping men were warned to take precautions to meet it.

The year of 1913 showed that San Francisco bay district exports had made a gain of $11,000,000 while imports had climbed upward to the tune of $4,000,000.

Roy Siebert, George Agnew, D. N. Bertin, H. Lybecht and Din Landregan of Oakland went for a New Year's day duck hunt, leaving in a duck boat New Year's eve 1913. The fog came in and they lost the way to the blinds with the result that the party drifted around in the bay all night. They nearly froze in the cold fog being unable to get ashore and build a fire until the next morning. They got no ducks.

Two passengers and seventeen members of the crew of the steam schooner Pomo were rescued by the Oakland steamer Adeline Smith when the former vessel became water logged off Point Reyes.

The Encinal Yacht club saw 1913 depart with a dance at the club house on San Leandro bay. The merry makers danced the tango and hesitation waltz until the small hours of the morning. Harlock Wright was master of ceremonies.

On January 18, 1913, friends of Walter Owen Henry of Fruitvale learned that he had been mentioned for bravery in connection with the capture of a German submarine by the destroyers Fanning and Nicholson. Henry was a lieutenant in the navy.

Eight acres of the Alameda waterfront held by E. K. Taylor Lumber Company, was reported sold, January 1, 1915, to the Alaska Packers Association.

On January 1, 1918, war time iron workers employed at the Moore and Scott and at Hanlon's were successful in their demands for a 10 per cent bonus on their work such as was being received by the war time workers on government work. The men announced that unless they received the bonus they would strike on all but government work.

The engines of the steamer F. A. Kilburn broke down off Yaquina Bay, January 1, 1918, and the vessel was taken in tow by the steamer Celilo and towed into the Columbia river.

The first vessel to enter the Golden Gate in 1918 was the Oakland steamer Port Angeles which passed through at 1:20 a. m. with the barge Rufus E. Wood in tow. They brought in 1,000,000 feet of Oregon lumber. The steamer Brooklyn, also of Oakland, was the first to pass out in the year, leaving the gate at 12:30 o'clock.

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 1.—New Years' day found the waterfront quiet. Nearly all the docks were closed and vessel movements were slight. The Alaska of the Alaska Steamship Company was the first ship of the year to sail from Tacoma. She left a few minutes after the new year was ushered in and headed for the north via Seattle.

ASTORIA, Ore., Jan. 1.—The Japanese steamer Tomi Maru arrived last night from the Orient and went to the port terminals where she is loading 2,000 tons of [illegible] wheat for the United Kingdom.

The Japanese steamer Tyne Maru, after taking on freight in Portland sailed this morning for the Orient.

The steam schooner Olympic, carrying 1,200,000 feet of lumber from Westport, sailed last night for San Pedro.

EVERETT, Jan. 1.—The Japanese steamship Koryo Maru shifted here from Seattle yesterday to load a cargo of lumber. She will call at other Puget Sound ports to complete her cargo before sailing for the Orient.

Sets New Steamship Wireless Record

Traffic on Kiel Canal Showing Growth of 1922

Thirty-Three Thousand Ships Pass Through German Waterway.

The volume of shipping using the Kiel Canal during 1923 promises to exceed that for 1922, says Consul T. Jaeckel, Hamburg, in a report to the State Department. During the first half of 1923 20,328 vessels of 6,639,023 tons passed through the canal, and in the third quarter vessels using the waterway totaled 12,783 of 4,640,885 tons. This total of 33,111 vessels of 11,279,908 tons for the first nine months of the year compares with 30,210 ships of 12,375,987 tons for the entire twelve months of 1922.

The nationality number, and tonnage of vessels transiting the canal during the third quarter of 1923 was as follows:

Nationality	Number	Tonnage

Buford Sailing Is Postponed Month

The sailing of the steamer Buford of the Alaska-Siberian Navigation Company for her South Sea island cruise has been postponed from January 15 to February 9, according to notice sent from the San Francisco office of the line this morning. The delay is being made so as to give a party of forty California business men the opportunity of completing their 1923 business before sailing.

The cruise promises to be one of the most popular excursions that has yet been sent out from here, according to Crabtree's Travel Agency, in charge in this city. Included in the already large passenger list will be Capt. Walter Mc[illegible] and a party of moving picture performers who are going to Tahiti to stage a play located on the island of Moorea. In this production will be 250 dancing and singing girls from the islands. It is said that the lead of the picture is to be taken by a prominent actress.

The party will be gone approximately three months and the Buford will call at practically every important island group in the lower South Seas.

The Swedish steamer Indianic departed from the Columbia river for Australia shortly after midnight, thereby being the first craft to depart in the new year.

The Columbia Pacific Shipping Company, operating Shipping Board freighters to the Orient, despatched the steamer West Niger late Monday. The West Jessup is expected here Friday, the Pawlet tomorrow and following closely will be the West Hixton, West O'Rowa, West Keats and West Kader.

The ship passed through three severe storms in eight days north of Japan, according to Captain A. M. Norton of the vessel.

World's Largest Motor Passenger Liner Is Ordered

Proposed Liner For Use On Pacific Will Be of 20,000 Gross Tons.

The Union Castle Mail Steamship Co. have decided to order a large twinscrew motor passenger liner of over 20,000 tons gross for their South African service, according to the Transportation Division of the Department of Commerce. The dimensions of the vessel will be 630 feet by 73 feet by 46 feet, and luxurious accommodation will be provided for a large number of passengers.

This will be by far the largest motor-ship in the world and also the most powerful yet designed. The striking advance in marine Diesel engine practice has been rendered possible by the double-acting construction, without the necessity of increasing the diameter of the cylinders more than a few inches above the diameters in common use amongst the numerous single-acting Diesel engines which have been in service for several years.

The pumps for circulating salt water, fresh water, and lubricating oil in the main engineroom, and, in fact, all the auxiliaries in the machinery spaces as well as for deck purposes, will be electrically driven.

Japan's Foreign Trade Adverse For November

Shipping Is Reported Unusually Active and Only Few Boats Idle.

Japanese industrial activity during the month of November was very marked among certain industries, especially spinning and weaving, knit goods, electrical equipment, saw mill, galvanizing and iron and steel manufacturing, says a cable to the Department of Commerce from Commercial Attache Babbitt, Tokyo. It is reported that many mills in Osaka are running overtime to keep up with the demand. The production of cotton yarn during October was reported to be 180,300 bales, compared with 182,200 bales during July of this year. A greater demand both in the foreign market and at home has caused the production of cotton cloth to steadily increase since the disaster. Production during November amounted to 70,704,000 yards compared with 68,940,000 yards during October and 58,431,000 yards for September.

Foreign trade during November continued adverse for Japan. The excess of imports for the first eleven months of the year amounts to 508,000,000 yen. This is greater than was expected and has resulted largely from the failure of raw silk exports to come back to normal following the quake, and to heavy imports of reconstruction materials during the last three months. Imports during November reached 155,299,000 yen, compared with 116,871,000 yen during the corresponding month of 1922. Raw cotton imports reached the value of 34,408,000 yen, more than double the amount imported during October. Lumber imports were somewhat lower than during October but were still above normal. Woolen yarn and woolen cloth fell in the same category.

The importation of foodstuffs still continues heavy but is showing a tendency to fall off. Due to the wholesale construction of temporary wooden buildings a great demand has been created for nails. The importation of automobiles and parts were about double the normal receipts for the month of November.

Exports during the month reached 117,136,000 yen, a decline of 17,609,000 yen compared with October. This decline is accounted for largely by a sharp drop in raw silk exports and lesser declines in shipments of cotton textiles, matches, paper and aquatic products. Shipments of silk textiles have increased steadily since September. The slump in raw silk exports has been accompanied by a price decline.

Japanese shipping was very active during the month. On November 20 only 33,780 tons of steamers were idle compared with 99,698 tons idle on November 15, 1922.

SEEKONK MAKES FIRST TRIP HERE FROM EAST COAST

Is Operating for United American Lines and Is to Load Lumber.

SEATTLE, Jan. 2.—On her first trip in the service of the United American Line the motorship Seekonk arrived here tonight from Atlantic coast ports with a 600 ton general cargo. She will load 1,500,000 feet of lumber at Puget Sound and Columbia river ports for New York, Boston and Baltimore, sailing January 7 or 8.

Foreign and intercoastal steamship sailings from Seattle in 1923 increased nearly 33 per cent, compared with 1922, and arrivals increased nearly 30 per cent, according to figures made public by the merchants exchange of the chamber of commerce today. The largest increase was shown in the intercoastal business with 407 sailings and 436 arrivals in 1923, compared to 259 sailings and 304 arrivals in 1922. The trans-Pacific business showed the next largest increase.

Bound for Seattle to enter the Hawaiian trade, the new Matson freighter Makiki, formerly the steamship Woonsocket, will sail from New York Saturday, according to word received here by officials of the company. The vessel has been loading a cargo in New York for Seattle and other Pacific coast ports. The Makiki will enter the Hawaiian trade at the beginning of the sugar season.

In order to assist the department of commerce in collecting statistics on foreign trade of the United States, starting today, special export declarations must be filed on all mail or parcel post shipments to foreign countries, Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippine islands, Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands, when shipments are valued at $25 or more, according to an announcement today by George E. Williams, superintendent of mails here.

When the steamship Mahukona of the Matson Line, departs from Bellingham for Honolulu Saturday she will have a capacity cargo of 1,600,000 feet of lumber. After loading 400,000 feet of lumber at Port Angeles, the vessel shifted to Port Gamble yesterday to load 600,000 feet more.

Sailor Found Dead On River Steamer

PETALUMA, Jan. 2.—When captain Charles Robinson of the steamer Matilda, discharging a cargo at this port, entered the pilot house Monday afternoon he found Robert Swanstrom, a member of the crew, lying dead on his cot. Swanstrom had previously complained of feeling ill. A post-mortem examination developed that hemmorhage of the stomach was the cause of his death. Swanstrom was a member of the Seamen's Union, also two fraternal organizations. His home was in San Francisco.

JIMMY DUFFY HAS AN EASY TIME WITH MARTY CROSS

BOXING FANS THROUGHOUT WORLD MOURN PASSING OF BILLY MISKE, THE NOTED HEAVY

SAMMY BAKER GIVEN THE AIR WHEN HE IS ACCUSED OF STALLING

Johnny Farr Is Beaten by Bud Hamilton; Joe Leopold Get Another Tough One in Dandy Dillon But Cops Decision; Teddy O'Hara Beats Wild Man Gould.

By BOB SHAND.

Some day they will get a fighter that will give Jimmy Duffy a real battle but they will have to eliminate the Sid Marks and Marty Crosses. Sid got his a couple of weeks ago in two rounds and Marty Cross, a brother of Leach and touted as a classy welter, was so completely outclassed by the Oakland boy at the Auditorium yesterday afternoon that the raising of Duffy's hand was a mere formality. All Cross had was a wild right hand swing and it landed once during the four rounds. Duffy started by hooking his left to the body and cracking Cross either on the back of the head or on the cheek with his right, and his tactics proved successful. Cross may have beaten Lou Bogash and other good ones but he doesn't belong in the same ring with Mister Duffy. Jimmy probably would have scored a clean knock-out but for the danger of the Cross' right swing. The blow was the first one struck and Jimmy had a lot of respect for it during the remainder of the contest.

Of course it looked like another set-up for Duffy but Jimmy so far outclasses the present crop of welterweights that he is in a class by himself. Over four rounds the local boy is simply invincible and that goes for Mickey Walker, the world's welterweight champion.

Baker Passes Out As an Attraction.

The other special event between Sammy Baker, giant negro, and Willie Meehan was stopped in the last minute of the fourth round and declared "No Contest." Baker boxed like a champion in the first two rounds, ignoring Meehan's chatter and comedy and using a left straight to the head and a right cross that had plenty behind it. Meehan, with his years of experience, was able to get a glove across his chin to block the cross but he was cut with the left. Going into the third round it appeared as though Baker should have hung that Willie on the end of that left hand and rocked him to sleep with his right. He had many chances to do that little thing but he evidently had other ideas. An open-handed slap to the chest keeled him over and another one that grazed his chin caused him to go to the canvas. He turned another pair of flip-flops before the end of the round but he wasn't hurt.

Colored Boy Warned But Pays No Heed.

Between rounds the writer warned him that his stuff was passe, and that he would be tossed out if he did not put forth his best efforts. He fought the first minute of the fourth, but after the warning had worn off he pulled a couple of right-hand punches and the fight was stopped and declared "no contest." The most charitable way of explaining Baker's tactics is to say that he has no heart. There are those who declare that Meehan literally talked him out of the fight, but after what he showed in the first two rounds there was no excuse for the acrobatics in the third. The chances are that he would have remained down had not he been cautioned to arise and continue. Sammy was one of the bright stars of the game before he entered the ring with Meehan yesterday. Today he is an outcast and will have a terrible time rehabilitating himself with the customers. Against Tommy Gardner he took plenty of punishment so he has no alibi on the score of Meehan hurting him. Incidentally Harold Broom was not in the colored boy's corner yesterday.

Frankie Munroe Shows Great Improvement.

Frankie Munroe has improved 100 per cent since he was tossed out of the ring with Harold Farese. Against Maxey Green yesterday Frankie showed an abundance of class and had no trouble romping off with the honors. They both elected to make it a swinging battle and Munroe proved the more accurate swinger and incidentally was faster than a bullet. Boo McAllister tossed in the towel in the fourth.

Johnny Farr and Bud Hamilton stood toe to toe and slugged their way through four real rounds of fighting with Hamilton getting the decision. Some of the boys thought Johnny's aggressiveness should have earned for him a draw, but the decision proved popular with the fans. Farr's best round was the third when he started a rally that carried the Rocky Mountain champion clear across the ring, but Hamilton was not badly hurt and had enough left to come back and take the honors in the fourth.

Joe Leopold Beats Another Tough One.

Joe Leopold knows his grapes and the tougher they come the better he fights. Leopold has been fed the toughest in the business ever since he started and yesterday was no exception when they sent him in against Dandy Dick Dillon. Leopold won the decision because he kept up a constant bombardment of the Dillon pantry. Dillon is a smart boxer and a willing mixer, but Leopold has been under-rated.

Wild Man Gould, the hard-baked Boston Bean, is not quite so wild today following his licking at the hands of Teddy O'Hara. It was a hectic scrap and went the limit, but O'Hara's skill was too much for the Bean's comedy. Gould blew up after the first round and was beaten decisively.

Willie Hope packed a case of jaundice and a pair of gloves when he met Bobby Burns and he was beaten away off. Outside of the jaundice handicap Willie was giving away a chunk of weight as he scaled only 128 pounds while Burns is a real welterweight. There was nothing to it but Burns after the first round.

Frenchie, the noted Coalman, scored a knockout over Nick Alexson in the first round when the latter's second tossed a towel into the ring in token of defeat. The dark gent had scored a couple of knockdowns and was prepared to make a feast of his opponent when the towel was tossed in. Then the Coalman made a series of elaborate bows from all four sides of the ring and instructed his secretary to challenge Jack Dempsey.

Manager Says Baker's Gloves Were too Small

Explanation Given for Poor Showing of Giant Negro.

"The gloves were too small; Baker did not do any road work and tired in the third round; the smoke bothered him."

That's the explanation of Manager Cherokee Tom Cox for Sammy Baker's peculiar fight with Willie Meehan at the Auditorium yesterday afternoon.

"I told Mister Simpson when he gave us the gloves that they were too small for Baker, who has immense hands," said Cox last night, "but Mister Simpson said it was too late and we would have to do the best we could. The result was that Baker had to box with his hands open and that's all that saved Meenan from a knock-out in the first round.

"Some of these smart trainers in West Oakland advised Baker not to do any road work, so he just naturally tired in that third round. He said he couldn't keep his feet when Meehan slapped him."

That's the way Cox looks at it, but the customers who saw Baker take flip-flops that were entirely unnecessary in the premises have the right to retain their individual opinions.

Promoter Tommy Simpson had a pair of good drawing cards punched out yesterday when Baker and Wild Man Gould both blew. Teddy O'Hara gave the Boston Bean a fine licking. Teddy used everything but his head in accomplishing his purpose and had he used that he would have won a K. O. On one occasion the Bean stooped down until his head almost touched the floor. O'Hara reached down, picked up the hat rack with both hands, but Gould did not stay put long enough to get swatted. Another time Gould threw Teddy to the floor and after he picked him up O'Hara rewarded his Boston friend by pasting him on the chin.

Among those present at the ringside was H. C. Capwell, making his debut as a boxing fan. He seemed to like the entertainment.

Tiny Tom Palmer, who weighs 335 pounds, got too obstreperous in a corner and was given the bum's rush by one of Jimmy Drew's hired men. It was a splendid token to the physical fitness of the force when Officer Leonhardt gave away at least 125 pounds and won the decision.

Nick Alexson must have collected two fares from Referee Brackett on his Seventh street jitney. At least Billy saw to it that the jitney driver was thoroughly knocked out by the Coalman.

There will be no more boxing shows for two weeks on account of other attractions at the Auditorium.

Italy Wins In Benefit Soccer Game

Parodi Bright Star of Session at Idora Park Stadium.

The All-star soccer team representing Italy won a clean cut decision over the Yankee kickers yesterday afternoon at the Idora Park stadium by a score of 4 to 1. The Italy team, composed of the pick of the players on the Virtus Italia and Unione Sportiva Italiana teams of the Bay Cities Soccer league, showed far too much class for the American kickers and the outcome was not in doubt from the first half.

A crowd of over 600 soccer enthusiasts attend the game, which was a benefit exhibition for the injured players fund of the Bay Cities Soccer league.

The Italians took an early lead in the first period of play when Equarros I scored the first goal for the winners.

The score was knotted ten minutes later when Wilson, star of the Golden Gate Merchants of the Yankees, shot the equalizing counter.

From this point on the superior teamwork of the younger Italians counted and their dazzling speed enabled them to run circles around the Yanks.

Parodi broke the tie, sending the Italians into the lead and before the first half ended shot a second goal, Italy leading at halftime by a score of 3 to 1.

In the second half Parodi continued his sensational playing, starting a dribbling rush which carried through the entire Yankees defense, Parodi registering the final score of the day within fifteen minutes after the start of play in the second period.

Although defeated by a wide margin the Yankees were not without their stars. The play of Christian of the Foresters, Josephs of the Neptunes and Wilson of the Golden Gate Merchants featured their play.

Blunt, LeCroix and Riley, who were to have played with the Yankee team, failed to put in an appearance and the line-up was considerably weakened by the loss of these stars.

Paddock Only Pawn in Game; Clash at Hand

NEW YORK, Jan. 2. — Opposing lines were tightened in the conflict over athletic control, revolving around the case of Charles Paddock, California sprinter. This warfare among governing bodies with the forces of the Amateur Athletic Union arrayed against those of the National Collegiate A. A. and the National Amateur Athletic Federation has broken out afresh during the past few days after smouldering for some time.

The issues, according to observers, involve not alone Paddock's disbarment by the A. A. U. as a result of his suspension by international authorities for competing in an unsanctioned meet in Paris last spring, but the larger question of athletic control all over the country. Paddock's case is viewed generally as merely an instrument for testing the strength of opposing factions. Back of a great deal of the controversy, too, is seen a contest for control of the American Olympic committee, which has stood in support of the A. A. U. in the Paddock case as well as other principles which so far have been raised.

Definite alignment of the N. A. A. F. with the N. C. A. A. in the Paddock case occurred yesterday, when Henry C. Breckinridge, president of the federation, declared his organization called for "no Russianization in the field of American recreation," and engaged in "no persecution or proscription of American athletes at home or abroad."

A few days before, Brigadier General Palmer E. Pierce, president of the N. C. A. A., led the association's action in reaffirming its support of Paddock. The N. C. A. A. endorsed Paddock's trip abroad last spring after the A. A. U. had declared the sprinter would disqualify himself automatically by participating in the Paris meet.

Lew Tendler Badly Beaten By Unknown

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—Lew Tendler, for several years a leading contender for the lightweight championship, yesterday suffered the worst defeat of his long ring career at the hands of Nate Goldman, a fellow Philadelphian, and until recently comparatively unknown in fistic circles. Goldman, who gained some prominence last summer by his defeat of Pinkey Mitchell, handed Tendler more punishment in ten rounds than Benny Leonard, the title holder, did in twenty-seven rounds during two meetings for the championship.

Twice Goldman sent Tendler to the mat for the count of nine, and to show that he was equally effective with either hand, he did it once with his right and again with his left. Both times Tendler staggered to his feet groggy, but managed to weave his way into close quarters and hold on until he regained his bearings. Only his ring generalship saved him from a knockout, in the opinion of the experts.

Stribling Is Winner Over Rosenberg

Fred Fulton Stops George Lamson in Second Round in North.

NEWARK N. J., Jan. 2.—W. L. ("Young") Stribling, 19-year-old Georgia high school aspirant for pugilistic honors battered his way to a decisive victory over Dave Rosenberg, rugged Brooklyn middleweight, yesterday in a bristling 12-round bout before a New Year's day crowd of more than 7000 in the First Regiment Armory.

Dominating the fight from start to finish with an aggressive, vigorous attack, Stribling's triumph was convincing to the first Metropolitan audience that has seen him in action. No official decision was rendered under the New Jersey boxing laws but newspaper critics at the ringside were unanimous in giving Stribling their verdict. A majority credited the southern youth with nine of the 12 rounds, giving one to Rosenberg and classing two as even.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 2.—Fred Fulton, heavyweight boxer of Minneapolis, knocked out George Lamson of Omaha in the second round of their scheduled 10-round bout here yesterday. Lamson was sent to the floor twice in the second round before he stayed down for the full count. In the other 10-round bout Danny Nunes, Sacramento featherweight, successfully defended his Pacific coast championship belt against Weldon Wing, Portland. Nunes took the decision.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Kid Williams of Baltimore, former bantamweight champion won the judges' decision over Midget Smith of New York in a 12-round bout in Brooklyn yesterday.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Andy Chaney of Baltimore, was given the decision over Archie Walker of New York here yesterday afternoon after twelve rounds of fighting. Chaney weighed 133 and Walker 134½.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, Jan. 2.—Johnny Horvath, Mansfield junior lightweight, was awarded the newspaper decision over Jack McLean, Detroit featherweight, in a ten-round bout here yesterday.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 2.—Joe Lohman, light-heavyweight of Toledo, and Soldier King of Grand Rapids, fought 10 rounds here yesterday to a draw, in the opinion of newspaper men.

King was substituted when Louis W. Hiles, state boxing commissioner, issued the edict that Battling Siki would not be allowed to fight Lohman.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Alex Trambitis, of Portland, Ore., sparring partner of Jack Dempsey, and Johnny Karr, Cleveland welterweight, who were to have stepped ten rounds at East Chicago last night, did not enter the ring. Zero weather cooled the enthusiasm of the fans and the fight was called off when the fans failed to travel the 35 miles from Chicago to the scene of battle.

MILAN, Jan. 2.—It is reported that Erminio Spalla, the Italian heavyweight fighter, after his coming fight with Luis Angel Firpo in Buenos Aires, will go to New York to meet Gene Tunney and Tom Gibbons.

FARGO, N. D., Jan. 2.—Russie Leroy, Fargo lightweight, won the unanimous newspaper decision from Johnny Schauers, St. Paul, here yesterday afternoon.

BOXING CHATTER

Battling McCreary, claimant to the light heavyweight championship of the colored race, by virtue of a ten-round decision over Kid Norfolk at Boston some time ago, will be on hand soon to fight the leading light heavies and heavies of the Coast.

McCreary is the lad who two or three weeks ago knocked out Jack Thompson in six rounds at Lowell, Mass.

Tommy Gannon, who is to handle the affairs of the New England black, says that McCreary has wins over such men as Jamaica Kid, Geo Robinson, Clem Johnson, Lee Anderson and a bunch of others in the heavyweight division, both black and white.

With the number of bantamweights locating in this section increasing each day, the small boys should reap a fine harvest during the winter months.

"California" Joe Lynch, San Francisco bantamweight, who has been doing some excellent ring work in the southern part of the State for the last couple of months, returned to spend the holidays with his folks.

Before leaving the south, "Wad" Wadhams, Vernon matchmaker, informed Lynch he would like to use him after the first of the year, or when he planned to start the club anew. Lynch accepted the offer.

But the rugged boy from the Mission took one peak at Tommy Simpson's New Year's Day card and remarked inwardly, "Too many boys my weight here to go south." And so Joe hopes to stick around heer and get a few matches.

Bill Churchill Wins Annual Race

Bill Churchill of the Olympic club was the winner of the annual cross-city race held yesterday. It was Churchill's third consecutive victory in the event. His time was 41 minutes 52 seconds, better than his mark a year ago but short of the record held by Millard by a minute.

Noted Boxer Counted Out

Here is a late picture of BILLY MISKE, heavyweight boxer who died yesterday, a victim of Brights Disease. He boxed Champion Jack Dempsey, September 6, 1920, and was considered one of the gamest boys in the business.

Great Referee Counts 10 Over Young Fighter

Billy Miske, Who Boxed Jack Dempsey, Hears Final Count.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 2.—Death of Billy Miske, St. Paul heavyweight boxer, was mourned today by followers of the fistic game throughout the nation. Messages of tribute and condolences came from all parts of the country to the family of the popular local fighter, who lost the greatest battle of his career—that for his life—in a Minneapolis hospital yesterday after a long illness with Bright's disease.

Funeral services for Miske will be held at 10 a. m., Friday, at St. Adelbert's Catholic church here. Solemn high mass will be chanted. The celebrant of the mass will be Rev. Peter A. Roy, pastor of the church. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery here.

EXPRESSIONS OF TRIBUTE.

Expressions of tribute to Miske came from Jack Reddy of St. Paul, his manager; Tex Rickard, Leo P. Flynn, Jack Kearns, Paddy Mullins, Floyd Fitzsimmons, Tom Gibbons, Fred Fulton, Mike O'Dowd and others, all connected with the fight game as promoters, managers or boxers.

The members of the boxing commission will attend the funeral in a body.

Miske, who was 29 years old, started boxing in 1913 and had participated in 114 fights. Of this number he won 34 by the knockout route; was awarded the decision in nine affairs, fought three draws, took part in 68 no-decision contests and three exhibitions; was knocked out once, and lost one ten-round decision go.

DEMPSEY STOPPED HIM.

Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, was the only boxer to knock out Miske. In 1920 Dempsey put him out in the third round at Benton Harbor, Mich.

Oakland Chinese Beat S. F. Rivals

The Oakland Chinese football team scored a 13 to 0 victory over the San Francisco Chinese eleven yesterday afternoon at Ewing Field across the bay. Jimmy Mah was the bright star for the winners.

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with keen admiration on the well developed, healthy girl no matter where she may be—on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of roses from nature's own garden—the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and sharp—the girl with buoyancy and the swing of youth.

Not necessarily an out-of-doors girl. Just a girl with ever increasing blood cells. Just a girl filled with the vim and vigor of youth.

S. S. S., since 1826, has stood for increased blood cells. S. S. S. means restored strength—rekindled vitality—added energy. Take S. S. S. and watch the bloom of youth return to your checks. Watch that flabby, ill nourished flesh fade away before flesh that is firm and plump. Red blood cells will do it and S. S. S. will build them. It contains only pure vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

Washington Holds Navy To Tie Game

Breaks Permit Huskies to Come From Behind in Last Quarter.

PASADENA, Jan. 2.—The United States Naval Academy football team and the University of Washington's ponderous gridiron machine fought on even terms here yesterday in the annual New Year's East versus West contest. The final score was 14 to 14. The game, the most brilliant of the long series of intersectional clashes from the spectators' viewpoint was witnessed by a crowd estimated at 48,000.

Coach Bob Folwell's Cadets played a wide open style of football from the first kickoff, and had not fate, in the form of a bad pass by Center Matthews, in the final period, intervened, it is probable that the East would have triumphed. The Navy proved superior in every department, with the exception of punting, where honors were even.

The ability of the Huskies to tighten their defense at critical moments saved them from possible defeat. After the Navy had carried the ball to the three-inch line in the first period, the Huskies stopped three plunges at the line of scrimmage and took the ball.

USED AERIAL ATTACK.

The 16 passes completed by the Cadets, 11 of them in the first half, testify to the brilliance of their aerial attack. Only two of their passes were intercepted. The Midshipmen accounted for their second touchdown with a variey of forward passes never before seen on a western gridiron.

The pass was used several times with almost unfailing success by the Navy team. It was a short underhand toss, screened by the lineman and backfield interference, in each instance thrown by Shapley and received by McKee behind the line of scrimmage. It was not until the final period that the Huskies found a means of coping with this play.

The Navy's first touchdown, in the first play of the second period, resulted when McKee tossed the ball 17 yards to Cullen, who continued five yards across the line for a touchdown. McKee kicked goal in both instances.

A 35-yard pass from Abel to Dubois and a spectacular 23-yard run by George Wilson, accounted for the Huskies' first touchdown, tying the score in the middle of the second period. A "break" gave the Huskies their opportunity to tie the score in the fourth period. With the Navy on its own ten-yard line, Center Matthews' wide pass to Barchet was recovered by Petrie.

Center Matthews' wide pass to Barchet was recovered by Petrie. Three line bucks failed. Then Abel threw a forward pass to Bryan, who stood unguarded on the Navy three-yard line. He ran over for the last touchdown of the game and Sherman kicked goal, tieing the score. The remainder of the game was played in Navy territory.

The accurate passing of McKee, who also gained consistently on runs and bucks, and hard driving dashes of Shapley and Barchet featured the Navy offense. The defensive work of Captain Carney caused him to loom above the other forwards on the field.

Abel and George Wilson gained most consistently for the Huskies. Abel's defensive work was not as strong as his offensive work.

Coach Enoch Bagshaw made a final effort to win the game in the closing minutes, when he substituted Ziel for Abel for an attempted place kick. Ziel's kick from the 33-yard line went far wide of the posts.

Soccer Teams in Tie; South Winner

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2.—Soccer teams of Los Angeles and San Francisco yesterday played a 1 to 1 tie, leaving the Southern California team still in the lead by virtue of a 4 to 1 victory over the San Francisco eleven last Sunday. Strengthened by several changes in its lineup, the northern squad put up a much harder fight than in the first game, and at times it looked as though the San Franciscans would even the series.

Jimmy Smith Gives Tip On Bowling Game

Milwaukee Star Has Rolled 18 Perfect Games of 300 in Career.

Jimmy Smith of Milwaukee, who, despite his defeat by Jimmy Blouin, the Blue Island crank, in the world's title tourney, is still considered the world's greatest bowler, asserts that patience and practice will make you a tenpin star, all other things being equal.

And Smith, who rolled 1911 for his nine games in the Middle West championship tournament recently, should know whereof he speaks, as he worked himself from the pin pit to his present standing in the bowling game. It was twenty-one years ago that Smith started his connections with the sport at which he has gone to the very top. He is now 42 years of age.

Smith's pointers to beginners and a few of the interesting lights in his career, as told to Tom Delohery of the Bowlers' Journal of Chicago, follow in part:

"When youngsters come to me for instruction, the first thing I urge of them is patience. To me this is the one big thing a beginner needs. I know a youth likes to speed ahead, but few youngsters are able to progress as rapidly as they want to. Patience enables a newcomer to learn the fundamentals of the game, and these are a strong and sturdy foundation upon which to build a lasting superstructure.

CONTROL BEFORE HOOKS.

"Don't try for speed. Control comes before hooks. A hook without control is useless, because you can't hit where you get the most pins. A short hook, started from the corner, if you have control, will invariably get the wood for you.

"I started as a pin boy because I wanted a job. After a bit the game interested me and after setting pins I often had dreams of being in front knocking down strike after strike. Little did I think my dream would come true, but today I can point to 18 perfect games of 300. During the 1922-23 season I engaged in 703 match games, knocking down 148,393 pins, for an average of 211 60-703. During the time, my opponents all over the country averaged 194 6-7. My greatest three-game total was 771, made at Toronto in 1911, with games of 279, 236 and 256.

WON CHAMPIONSHIP.

"I won the world's championship in 1904 from Johnny Voorhees, who was one of my teachers in the early stages of my career. I captured six of nine games from Voorhees, with an average of 212 against his 201. The greatest average I ever made was against Louis Franz of Cleveland in 1909. In thirty games I averaged 233 and defeated Franz, who used a dodo ball, by 634 pins.

"I consider my defeat at the hands of Jimmy Blouin, the wizard of Blue Island, the toughest match I ever shot. In the sixty games I lost by 23 pins. I have challenged Blouin again."

Smith is the only man in the bowling game who has ever won two American Bowling Congress championships. He accomplished the feat in 1911 in the tournament held here with a score of 1915 and repeated at Peoria in 1920 with 1945. In the Mid West at Kansas City last year, he was anchor man on the Zieglers when they set a record of 3055, which stood until the recent tourney here. He won the Mid West all-events in 1919 with 1860.

A two-ball sweepstake tournament was held at Claremont yesterday, a number of the more enthusiastic members participating. The contest was medal play at handicap over 18 holes. Low scoring was difficult as the course was heavy and the greens tricky under the influence of a northeast wind.

Arthur Finley 81-8-73, Wm. Knowles 83-12-71 and W. J. Willoughby with 83-8-75 were among the early starters to turn in good scores.

C. E. Fleager starting out late had the best score of the day with 79-10-69, which gives him the major portion of the balls.

The following are the detailed scores:

The women's eclectic tournament at Claremont, which has been in progress for three months, was concluded yesterday. The contest was started over the temporary course, and when the regular holes were introduced, scores were recorded in the old order.

Mrs. H. L. Simpson, a B class competitor, carried off the principal prize for the best low net. Her eclectic score was 74-14-60, out in 36 and home in 38. A tie occurred for second place between Mrs. H. A. Prole, 65-4-61, and Mrs. R. R. Yates, 66-5-61. Mrs. Prole had the best gross score, with a remarkable eclectic of 31 over the out holes.

Mrs. Yates was out in 32 and had 34 coming in. Mrs. B. P. Legare was fourth with 69-6-63, her in holes were equal to the leaders, but she failed to get her putts down for twos on the short holes out.

Miss Alice Knowles was the only player to record an eagle during the contest; this she accomplished in a spectacular manner, sinking her tee shot at the old 13th, a feat the club captain was enthusiastically congratulated upon by her partners. Miss Knowles' score was 34 out, 35 in—69-4-65.

Several of the players failed to record good eclectic scores through their failure to compete in the maximum number of contest. Mrs. C. F. Ford was only able to compete three times and did well to record a gross score of 73.

The following are the scores:

Mrs. H. L. Simpson	74-14-60

H. B. Stevenson, another high handicap player, recorded a net score of 73, while Dr. R. R. Aten finished 4th with 89-14-75; his gross score of 89 was the best recorded in the tournament.

Aggies Defeated For Second Time

HONOLULU, Jan. 2.—A football team of the University of Hawaii, exceeding all form it had displayed in previous games, yesterday defeated the Oregon Agricultural College eleven by the score of 7 to 6.

It was believed the heat, humidity and the lack of substitutes had much to do with the downfall of the mainland team.

Eric Pedley Is Defeated in Golf Finals

Mrs. H. G. Hutchings Wins in Last Round of Del Monte Tourney.

DEL MONTE, Jan. 2.—The winner's trophy in the Del Monte New Year golf tournament went to Stuart Haldorn of San Francisco yesterday when he scored a 5 and 4 victory over Eric Pedley, the Los Angeles soloist, whose golf up to the final match was a feature of the tournament. Haldorn preceded his victory over Pedley by eliminating Captain A. Bullock-Webster of Sanningdale, England, in the semi-finals.

A par 4 on the 18th green gave this match to Haldorn by the margin of a stroke.

Pedley, who has been playing in near-championship form, went into the finals of the first flight by an easy 7 and 6 victory over Ashton Stanley in the semi-finals.

Dr. G. B. Jorden of the Presidio club won the second flight by defeating his clubmate W. E. Foster 2 and 1. J. W. Leavitt of San Francisco won a close match from Dr. W. W. Boardman, one of the State Medical Association's best golfers, in the finals of the third flight, and Dr. C. H. Strub of the San Francisco Olympic club came through another fight contest to win the fourth flight. He defeated Dick Lang 1 up.

FREAK FINALIST.

By one of the occasional strange happenings of golf Louis Pierce, the Suisun trapshooter, won the fifth flight, although he played only nine holes of match play in four rounds. The rain drove Pierce's opponent to the clubhouse in the first match, so that he won by default, and he won by default also in the second, third and final rounds. G. Rosenbaum of Beresford defeated a fellow Beresford player, P. Bissinger, in the finals of the sixth flight.

Mrs. H. G. Hutchings, the British golfer, whose play has been a recent sensation at Del Monte, won the finals of the women's first flight in a match with Mrs. D. Robinson of Lincoln Park, San Francisco. The game ended at the 16th green, although Mrs. Robinson started 6 up. No woman golfer of the score or more who entered the tournament had a chance with the long hitting Canadian woman, who within a week smashed all women's records for both Del Monte and Pebble Beach. Mrs. W. W. Boardman came through the tournament more successfully than her husband, Dr. Boardman, runner-up in the men's third flight. She won the women's second flight in easy fashion from Mrs. A. Girard, 7 and 5.

KIRKWOOD ENTERTAINS.

A large gallery of fans started their golfing year in the afternoon by watching Joe Kirkwood's golf vaudeville. Kirkwood gave two performances, imitating Herbert Fleishhacker's golf style in one and the style of S. F. B. Morse in the other. Fleishhacker gained such confidence in the Australian's skill that he permitted him to drive a golf ball off what looked like a most expensive watch.

The closing feature of the tournament was an exhibition match yesterday in which Jack Neville, former state champion, and Captain Webster, defeated Joe Kirkwood and Peter Hay, the Del Monte professional, 4 and 3. The match, which gave a big gallery an excuse for a trudge after a strenuous night, produced a best ball of 67 and some remarkably good golf on the near side of the putting green by all four players.

Neville and Kirkwood are scheduled to play in a foursome at Lincoln Park on Saturday, with Johnny McHugh, the state champion, and Macdonald Smith.

Scott High Wins From Columbia

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 2.—Scott High school football team of Toledo, Ohio, claimants to the interscholastic football title of the United States, defeated Columbia University's preparatory school eleven here today by a score of 20 to 1. The game was replete with thrills, with the Toledo champions furnishing a majority of them by their remarkable exhibition of forward passes.

Long Distance Drivers Will Enter Tourney

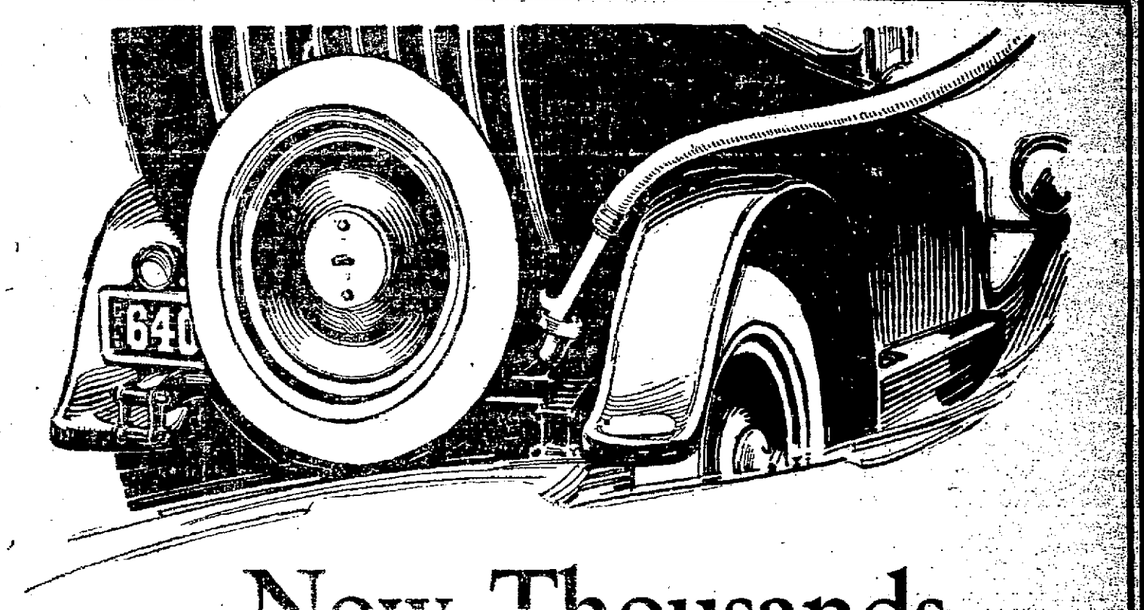

Abe Espinosa, John Black, Jack Neville and Mac Smith to Be Watched.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2.—Almost all of the long driving professional golfers on the Pacific coast have signified their intention of taking part in the contest for long hitters which will take place at the Rancho Golf club, Los Angeles, on Saturday, January 12. The fact that all of the contenders for the State Open championship will be on hand for that event which starts on the day following, should insure a very representative field of hard hitters pitting their driving skill against Arthur G. Havers, the British open champion, who will take part.

It is said that Havers is one of the longest drivers of all time. It is on record that he drove three balls a total distance of well over 800 yards in a contest staged at Troon during the playing of the British Open, his longest individual effort measuring 276 yards. No prevailing winds or scorched up fairways helped him in attaining such phenomenal distance.

There are some long hitters among the pros on the coast. Eddie Loos, who is wintering at Annandale Golf club, Pasadena, is a long distance hitter who will take a lot of licking. Eddie Gayner of Hillcrest has always been known as a swatter of extraordinary power.

Chick Fraser, who holds forth at Midwick Country club hit a number of drives from the first tee at Inwood, where the last open championship was played, that made thousands gasp. Abe Espinosa of Oakland, MacDonald Smith and Eddie Traube of San Francisco and a host of other northern cracks think nothing of whaling a ball 300 yards or more.

Now Thousands of Motorists enjoy these results—you, too, can get new speed—new rush in the pick-up—new power on hills

WE know what Union Non-Detonating Gasoline will do for your motor. Exhaustive scientific research and experiment have taught us the results to expect. Now we point out these results to you so that you, too, may enjoy them.

Your car will take on noticeable improvements as if they were improvements in the motor itself. You'll note a new smoothness—an absence of vibration.

You'll thrill at the new speed, the new rush in the pick-up and the plus power on hills.

You'll feel these improvements at the wheel. You'll know that you are using better gasoline than you have ever tried before.

These results will come to any motorist who will use Union Non-Detonating Gasoline, unmixed with any other kind.

We ask merely that you test it to prove these results. Do it now. Learn what you miss in motoring pleasure when you go without this better fuel.

How We Get Them

These results are not secured by chance. We get them in these ways:

There are 21 steps in the distillation of Union Gasoline. So-called "gasoline" can be made with two.

But each of those 21 steps is essential to the quality of Union Gasoline. They result in a perfect chain of boiling points which means that the explosions are progressive and sustained. They over-lap, giving smooth, even power.

No sledge hammer blows on the piston head to cause vibration. Union Gasoline gives a quick, strong, steady impulse—a "follow through"—which permits of increased compression.

And increased compression, as you know, provides that added speed and pick-up, with greater power on hills.

These advantages—this new motoring pleasure—are yours if you will have it so. You, too, may get these as thousands of motorists already have.

Fill with Union Gasoline and use it unmixed with any other kind. Surely it's worth a trial to know what this finer fuel will give you.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1924

THE DAY AFTER.

In the early morning, after the last of the revelers had gone, a crew of men moved into the streets to clear away the confetti. What was left of the merry-making, paper ankle deep boxes, bags, tin cans, hats, color and horns—it was all heaped up, jammed into barrels and carried away. By the time men came downtown to business the New Year reminders were only those vagrant scraps which had escaped the broom and shovel.

What the men who cleaned up the serpentine and confetti thought of it all may never be known. Doubtless they shouted to one another in those quiet hours and their voices, disgusted, derisive, or wondering, echoed in the all but deserted streets. Did they thank the crowds who had cluttered the streets for the job it had called for in the cleaning? Did they grumble, as do tidy housewives when visitors track dirt in upon the carpet?

Whatever they said or whatever they did, it was given to them to witness one of the rarest sights of the new year. When the sun rose there was a breeze blowing to pick up the myriad colored discs and send them rolling along the streets. The new sun shone on this scintillating river. There were eddies, whirlpools, leaps and twists, and the whole bobbing merrily down the pavement.

And the men cleaned up the litter, packed it in barrels and moved it away.

JAPAN OVERWHELMED.

"The succor from the Americans came the quickest and was the largest."

Japan, rebuilding, has had time to review and recapitulate. Out of its terrible experience it has passed into one in which it was the center of world solicitude. European nations, torn by war and dissension and having a place for every cent, found the time and the money to answer this call.

The American contributions, coming so soon after the cause and in so large amounts, overshadowed all the rest. On second thought Japan is beginning to wonder whether in its exuberance of gratitude to the American Red Cross and America generally it may not have given offense to the other nations who assisted. So the "Nichi-Nichi," in an editorial believed to have been inspired by the Foreign Office, has asked that the feeling of the nation be not misinterpreted. The fervent expression of gratitude of the people of Tokyo upon the departure of Ambassador Wood, the paper says, should not be construed that the people are less conscious and appreciative of the great sympathy shown by the nationals of other countries. Particularly mentioned were the gifts of England, Russia and France. And yet, "the succor from the Americans came the quickest and is the largest. The act of God has changed the sentiment of the world in favor of our country in no small degree. This is indeed high time for us to make an effort to keep this friendship and sympathy always alive."

A TRANSPARENT GAME.

The one thing which stands out in the controversy between George Tchitcherin, soviet minister of foreign affairs, and Secretary Hughes is the fact that things cannot be going well with the Commune when it is forced to deny its program. Anyone who has made a study of the affairs of Soviet Russia, who has read the publications which may be purchased on the street corners, or who has talked to the enthusiasts in this country, knows that the Reds have clung to a program of gaining and strengthening a foothold in America.

There has been no secrecy about it. Funds have been raised for the purpose of planting a soviet government here. When Tchitchetin says that this is not so he asks all his sympathizers, all of the Reds who subscribe to the soviet program, to join him in an attempt to disguise motives. Whether he calls it a new strategy and justifiable in the face of that "war" which he has declared is on, makes no difference.

The program which must be denied is a losing one. Official Russia has come to the belief that it must change its talk and appearance. The only surprising feature is that Tchitcherin, or anyone else, should profess astonishment and injury because the world refuses to accept as the truth this new interpretation of soviet aims.

IN THE LIFE OF A FIREMAN.

This holiday season is one that will be remembered by the firemen in the Eastbay.

The old combination of cotton trimmings and tallow candles, one which made work for the department and occasioned huge losses to the country, is happily gone. For all of that, there was an unusual number of fires which may be laid to the Christmas decorations and celebration. Added is the work of the arsonist possessed of an insane desire to set fire to school houses.

The fire department of Alameda extinguished two school house blazes. In Oakland the maniac worked in the early morning hours and succeeded in destroying the Cole school. While combatting that blaze, which was destroying a building owned by the citizens of Oakland, eight firemen were injured, two seriously. They were injured because they did what they often do, risked their lives for the protection of property. Those who were there when the wall of that school building fell, saw the great cloud of dust and smoke, heard the thundering rumble, were given a lesson as to the kind of service firemen are called upon to perform and the kind of men who are in the department.

There is another sidelight upon firemen which, perhaps, is not known to so many. It was revealed on Christmas eve, when the men in many of the stations took it upon themselves to distribute holiday cheer to the needy of the neighborhood. There were many of these little celebrations, and in Alameda the department working together gave Christmas to 1400 children. Through the year they worked making the toys. They have started now giving spare time to the cause of another Christmas.

It was an eventful and revealing week for firemen.

GROUP GOVERNMENT.

England's most recent election has brought with it a dilemma. Three parties were in the field and not one elected a majority to Parliament.

With the largest strength in the Conservative party that group has the privilege of introducing measures. To put any of its proposals into effect, however, it must have the support of the Liberals or the Laborites. Great Britain is wondering if the Conservatives and Liberals will form a coalition or whether the Liberals and Laborites will unite against the largest party. In any event government by groups is the prospect and this is something new in British politics.

It is conceded that the two groups of greatest affinity are the Conservatives and Liberals, but before they could get together on any working agreement the former would have to drop its tariff program. In the Conservative party, itself, there is a division of opinion upon foreign affairs.

From all appearances a pull-and-haul government will exist until an issue in Parliament throws two parties into one, or causes alignments within parties.

VENIZELOS RETURNS.

M. Venizelos, the "old reliable" of Greece has returned to his labors once more. His will be the task to secure for his country recognition by the great powers, to instill confidence in the populace, and to loan his measure of wisdom to the direction of affairs of state.

Venizelos has a name of more strength than any man in Greece. He is a man of iron will and heavy hand, one who, when he is in power, makes enemies of those who are not ready to accept orders. It has been his fate to take up the reins when there has been a difficult bit of driving to do and then, when the road seems smooth and the steed tractable, to be shoved unceremoniously off the seat. He has been as graceful in retiring as he has been in assuming office.

The prestige which the name of Venizelos will add to Greek affairs, the advice which he can give will be of great value to his country. If he is handicaped at all it is because he has been living outside of Greece for a long time. That is not the fault of Venizelos, it is the fault of Greece.

Most of the New Year's calling was done by the alarm clocks.

INDISCRETION AFTER NINETY.

The hospitable Theodore G. Northup, whose invited guests failed to turn up to share his ninety-fifth birthday dinner on Christmas Day, expected too much from these ten nonagenarians. When he on Tuesday called up the homes in which they lived it was explained to him that they had overdone the Christmas Eve festivities and were unfit to go forth to conquer new worlds of turkey and pumpkin pie.

That is the old story of impulsive youth at the holiday time whether the age of the celebrator be 1 or 95. The temptations of Christmas Eve are not to be resisted. Candy, oranges and popcorn lure boys and girls from the temperate path. Their appetites tell them that, no matter what they do, they will be in trim for Christmas dinner. The whispers of experience are in vain. Mr. Northrup's oldest invited guest, aged 98, probably ate one cookie too much.

Mr. Northrup was disappointed over the non-arrival of his guests. "America," he says, "needs some young men and women of 90 or over." It has some and Mr. Northrup will find them. Two were honored guests at a banquet in Los Angeles last night—former Senator Cornelius Cole, aged 101, and Lewis E. Reed aged 100. They doubtless had a wild time on Christmas Eve but they waited forty-eight hours before plunging again into heavy dining.

Perhaps unlike Mr. Northrup's nonagenarians, Cole and Reed have learned from experience. It may be that true wisdom comes only after the hundredth birthday.—New York Herald.

The LANTERN

Bring Me Some of That.

Mother, may I be a movie star,
And annoy the cultured high-brows?
Alas, my son, it can't be done—
You haven't got flexible eyebrows!

Perhaps I can be a banker, then,
And be quoted in Wall Street chats.
Ah, woe is me! it never can be,
You'd look too silly in spats.

Well, mother, I'll be a heavyweight champ,
And corral the cagey dollar.
That thought, perhaps, is a mental lapse
Remember your thirteen collar!

Couldn't I play a piano grand,
Your plan is wrecked through parental neglect—
I overlooked calling you Ossip.

Useful, stupid and formal.
Oh, what the hell—it's just as well—
Somebody's got to be normal!

And that, you may take our word for it, is speed.

We are at a loss to understand why the movie gentlemen who named "The Admirable Crichton," "Male and Female" have put out a picture called "The Ten Commandments" and not "The Seventh Commandment."

Incidentally the attention of Harry Leon Wilson, Glenn Hunter and anyone else who may be interested is hereby directed to a press agent interview with Cecil B. De Mille, producer of "The Ten Commandments," which appeared in the Sun and Globe and Everything the other night.

"Never," avers Mr. Demille's publicity department, "in the history of a new art has there been such * * * earnest and definite striving for more worth-while things."

To a young couple of foreign extraction who brought their two little girls to Oakland in a parlor car, late in the afternoon of December 25.

We are the tired-looking young man who was trying to catch up a little on his sleep across the aisle from you and your progeny. The little one is cunning and quiet, but don't you think something ought to be done about Gladys?

One of our reasons for buying space in Pullmans is that it is ordinarily possible by paying a little extra to avoid such damned children as Gladys. That sort of thing really isn't done in chair cars, you know. We have found that girls at Gladys' age can be silenced quite effectively by tying their hands and feet and stuffing a couple of handkerchiefs down their throats. After the gag is adjusted properly a swift slap, if carefully placed, will do wonders for their general conduct later.

Would you mind letting us have a schedule of any other trips you may be planning to take Gladys on in the next few month? If you did that he might be able to work things out so that you can take your trains and we'll take ours.

And, by the way, we are more than glad to tell you that it was indeed we who bought up the taxi you had ordered to meet you.

To those who sent us Christmas cards and received none in return.

Send some to us again next year or you will find the situation reversed. We bring our mailing list up to date after Christmas every year and your names are down now.

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Kansas City Times: "As President Coolidge said in his message, 'the government has no money except what it takes out of the pockets of the people.' Yet there are advocates of the bonus who seem to think they can devise ways and means to get bonus money from some other source. Not exactly that, of course, but they offer devices calculated to make the transfer from the people's pockets a little less direct."

New York World: Prof. Ford Michigan University psychologist, says that the 'mixed' type of college graduate succeeds better financially than the honor student. A psychologist might inquire how many winners of Nobel prizes, enlarging the sphere of knowledge for mankind have been 'mixers', how many scholars."

Salt Lake Tribune: "President Coolidge's action in withdrawing the nominations of two members of the shipping board after a senate committee had decided to adversely report on the nomination of Chairman Farley probably will bring the contention between the White House and the senate to a head when congress reassembles after the holidays."

New York Times: "It was Charles Dickens who (according to a well-known practitioner of the amenities of book collecting) made Christmas Day a universal holiday. And he did it by a little book, the greatest little book in the world," it has been called, 'A Christmas Carol,' published just eighty years ago. The original copy rests in Mr. Morgan's book 'shine,' here in the midst of New York City; but its cheer has penetrated into nearly every land under the sun, as the cheer of the last stanza of the carol drove away the fog and frost that hung about the black gateway of old Scrooge, the misanthrope, the night before Christmas."

New York Herald: "Twenty years ago this week Wilbur and Orville Wright at Kildevil Hill, near Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, proved that they had solved the problem of mecanical flight in heavier than air machines by keeping a motor driven biplane, with its pilot, in the air for 59 seconds. Thus began that amazing realization of the dream of centuries which in our own day has enabled fliers to cross oceans and continents and remain in the air for thirty-five hours at a time."

Seattle Times: "Various individuals who have endeavored to induce Henry Ford to be a candidate for the presidency have been discouraged by his statement that he, 'like a great majority of the American people,' feels that the country is 'safe with Coolidge.' His declaration that he would never consider running against Mr. Coolidge on any ticket seems to be definite enough for everybody."

JUST FOLKS
By EDGAR A. GUEST

A NEW YEAR'S PLEA.

Lord, let me stand to the thick of the fight,
Let me bear what I must without whining.
Grant me the wisdom to do what is right,
Though a thousand false beacons are shining.

Let me be true as the steel of a blade,
Make me bigger than skillful or clever.
Teach me to cling to my best, unafraid,
And harken to false gospels, never.

Let me be brave when the burden is great,
Faithful when wounded by sorrow,
Teach me, when troubled, with patience to wait
The better and brighter tomorrow.

Spare me from hatred and envy and shams,
Open my eyes to life's beauty:
Let not the glitter of fortune or fame
Destroy the fair splendor of duty.

Let me be true to myself to the end,
Let me stand to my task without whining,
Let me be right as a man, as a friend,
Though a thousand false beacons are shining.

JOLT FOR PRINCESS MARY.

The story goes that for some reason the king and queen, accompanied by the Princess Mary and the Prince of Wales, arrived at the coast a little later than the program demanded.

The petty officer in charge of the launch which was to take their majesties to the royal yacht the Victoria and Albert, noticing that the young people were lingering behind their parents and skylarking a little, let us say in the fashion of American children, and feeling his responsibility, ventured to say to the princess, very gently:

"Come along, little lady." Whereupon looking him over carefully, the royal maiden replied, with emphasis:

"I am not a 'little lady.' I am the Princess Mary."

By this time, having noticed the delay of the children, her majesty had come back to the stern of the boat and, overhearing these remarks, turned to the officer, who was much abashed, and said to him:

"She is quite right. She is not a 'little lady,' but we hope to make her one."—From "Remembered Yesterdays," by Robert Underwood Johnson (Little, Brown & Co.).

Speed From a Tin Can.

The teacher in a San Francisco public school was trying to demonstrate a simple experiment in the generation of steam.

"What have I in my hand?" she asked.

"A tin can," came the answer.

"Very true. Is the can an animate or inanimate object?"

"Inanimate."

"Exactly. Now, can any little boy or girl tell me how, with this can, it is possible to generate a surprising amount of speed and power almost beyond control?"

One little boy raised his hand.

"You may answer, Carter."

"Tie it to a dog's tail."—Everybody's Magazine.

The FORUM

SATISFACTION IN GOOD JOB THAT IS WELL DONE.

To Editor of The Tribune:

Kindly permit me to thank you in behalf of the many clerks and employees of the postal service, for your brief and timely word of appreciation as expressed in your editorial under the title, "The Mail Man's Job."

After a period of unusually heavy and arduous responsibility, it is refreshing and comforting to know that a great paper like The Oakland Daily TRIBUNE recognizes and appreciates the efforts and services of those who have done their best to render efficient service in the handling of an ever increasing volume of mail.

Not only the overloaded carrier but officials and clerks in each department have been on constant duty from twelve to eighteen hours and often twenty, each day, for a few weeks, working to the limit of strength and endurance in order to render efficient and satisfactory service.

During the rush season of Christmas, the regulation eight-hour window service is a small part of the work. The many hours "behind the scenes," making out daily reports, sorting and distributing mail, making up despatches, tabulating registered, insured, C. O. D. and customs mail, all of which demands accuracy and speed, seems to be quite unknown to the general public.

There is not much "Romance" in the postal service in taking care of "Santa Claus'" demands, except perhaps to the idle onlooker or the shirker in the ranks. There is, however, a satisfaction in knowing duty well done is appreciated. Under the efficient and courteous management of Oakland's present postmaster, Mr. J. J. Rosborough, the best possible service was rendered during this Christmas season.

KATHLEEN B. WATKINS,
Clerk.

HERE ARE RESOLUTIONS ALL OF US CAN KEEP.

To Editor of The Tribune:

Heretofore at the beginning of every year we have faithfully drawn up a set of resolutions which we have just as faithfully broken in a short time. This year we are giving the subject considerable thought and have come to the conclusion that we ourselves are not especially possessed of weak wills but that the fault lies entirely with the resolutions we have set ourselves to observe and that they have been such that no one less than a superman had any chance of carrying out. This year we are formulating a set that if we set our minds to it we have some chance of keeping throughout the year. Knowing others have had the same difficulty, we are submitting ours as a solution of the bothersome problem. They are as follows:

Resolved that we shall not be cruel to wart hogs and other African animals.

Resolved, that we shall not parade the resorts of southern Europe in pajamas nor attend dainty luncheons in same.

Resolved, that we shall not run for the presidency—not this time anyway.

Resolved, that we shall be temperate in the use of absinthe, and be it further resolved, that we shall totally abstain from vodka.

Resolved, that though we have the greatest love and respect for Geraldine we shall not give away any of our babies.

Resolved, that we shall economize—in pleasure yachts, and not buy any more than we can use to the best advantage.

Resolved, that we shall drive our Packard sedan very carefully and observe all the safety first and traffic rules.

Resolved, that we shall not write more than one or two song hits nor more than two or three best sellers.

Resolved, that we shall not lose our tempers and whip Jimmy Duffy.

POLICEMEN SUSPENDED AS "DRUNK"

Chief Drew Temporarily Expels Corporal Sullivan and Patrolman Peters Until Probe Decides the Charges

Two members of the Oakland police department were suspended today by Chief of Police James T. Drew, pending an investigation. They are said to have been under the influence of liquor. They are Policeman S. J. Peters and Corporal P. J. Sullivan.

Peters was on duty at Washington, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth Monday night. His actions are said to have been peculiar. He was sent to the chief's office. Peters tore off his star and threw it into the waste basket, according to Chief Drew.

Drew recommended to Commissioner of Public Health and Safety Colbourn that Peters be discharged for conduct unbecoming an officer.

Corporal Sullivan of the northern division was supposed to be in charge of the northern station from 4 p. m. till 8 a. m. He is reported to have taken his roadster at 4:40 o'clock and gone, without leaving any word as to where he was going.

He is said to have telephoned from a point near Pinole at 9:30 o'clock, stating that he had seen some suspicious characters at Alcatraz and Telegraph, that they had shot at him and that he had given chase. He said he had chased them as far as Pinole, when he ran out of gas.

The windshield of the car was found to be broken. The gears were "frozen" through lack of oil. Captain Bock says when he saw Sullivan, Sullivan looked, in his opinion, as though he had been drinking. He declared he detected the door of liquor on his breath.

Sullivan's case is being investigated by Police Inspector Robert Tracey and Sergeant Bert Curtis of the northern division.

Girl Disappears On Way to Church

The police were notified today that Ruth Borden, 17, living with her parents at 1800 East Twenty-second street, had disappeared. She started for church yesterday at 10 a. m.

She is described as being 5 feet 4 inches tall, and weighing 140 pounds. She is light complexioned, has blue eyes and blond hair, and wore a reddish skirt, and a small gray hat trimmed with brown. The report of her disappearance was made by her mother.

WHISKERINOS 'HANG' GAMBLER DURING FROLIC

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 2.—Everything is clear in Sacramento today—weather, water and brains. More water was drunk this New Year's day here than in any feted day in the history of Sacramento, statisticians estimate.

The night-before celebration was a big success, including the parade midnight bathing beauties, the last Virginia reel danced by the Whiskerinoes on the upper deck of the old river boat San Jose as she docked on the return trip from up the river after a joyful afternoon. Once again her decks were crowded with the red-shirted miner, the natty gambler, the singing parson, and beautiful women in forty-nine attire. The old fiddlers were also aboard, the card sharps did a splendid business; one was caught cheating shot, his body caught up and thrown overboard by the indignant players, and the dance went merrily on.

The river banks were lined with thousands of interested spectators on both the Yolo and Sacramento sides.

The Oakland Firemen's Band was aboard the official barge with the San Francisco Firemen's Band, while the Sacramento Firemen's Band serenaded them from the decks of the river boat San Jose.

On arrival at the intake of the new filtration plant the barges and river boats drew up close and Miss Katherine Ware, as "Miss Sacramento" christened the plant with a bottle of clear water, according to Irwin Engler, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce who vouched for the contents of the bottle. Apparently this was unknown to the waiting thousands lining the banks, for a great sigh went heavenward when the bottle crashed against the solid concrete.

After the ceremonies the crowd flocked over to the filtration plant proper and inspected it from corner to corner.

Dr. Hall, city health officer, announced this afternoon that it may take several days before absolutely clear water could be expected in certain sections of this city on account of the large amount of debris still remaining in the old water mains. Every morning and every night these mains are being flushed under heavy pressure, so that in time all will run clear.

There is speculation as to whether this debris that has lain in some of these pipes for two generations may not contain much heavy gold dust.

Bert Hews, head of the mining bureau of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, is taking samples to test them for gold sediment.

'Long Live Republic!' Cries Greek Regime

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

ATHENS, Jan. 2.—Amid shouts from the deputies and the galleries of "Long live the republic! Down with the King!" Greece's revolutionary government was turned over to the newly elected national assembly today by Colonel Plastiras, head of the revolutionary committee.

Colonel Plastiras opened the session with a speech in which he enumerated the achievements of the revolutionary government which took power with the abdication of King Constantine in the fall of 1922. Premier Gonatas followed with an announcement of the resignation of his government, which held office under the revolutionary regime.

The cabinet withdrew from the session after its resignation. The republicans and the liberal democrats remained in the house and endeavored to form a quorum to elect a speaker.

HONORS ARE DIVIDED AT EISTEDDFOD

San Francisco Wins Choral Contest and Robert Parry of Oakland Gets Cup for Best Solo; Other Awards

Oakland and San Francisco divided the honors of New Year's day at Oakland's Eisteddfod held in afternoon and evening sessions at Jenny Lind hall. San Francisco won the choral contest and Robert D. Parry of Oakland captured the silver challenge cup for the best solo. Richmond and Oakland tied in the male chorus contest, and Crockett won the quartet honors.

Capacity houses greeted both sessions, the afternoon constituting children's singing, recitation and writing. Rev. T. Lloyd Jones was president of the afternoon session, and Rev. J. D. Jones of San Francisco conducted the evening contests.

Prof. R Festyn Davies was adjudicator of music; Rev. Josiah Daniels of Hayward and Rev. T. L. Jones of San Francisco, judged the speeches; David Hughes of San Francisco judged translations; Rev. Josiah Daniels, Rev. T. L. Jones and Mrs. Fred Williams judged recitations. Rev. Josiah Daniels and W. Solomon Jones, the latter of Oakland, judged the essays.

Frank Streibel won first prize for pianoforte for boys under 16; Marian Parry was first in piano solo for girls under 12; Ernest Williams first in reading for children under 18; Doris Finley first in solo contest for children under 12; Grift Jones won the baritone contest, and Mrs. T. H. Roberts of Oakland the soprano solo contest.

The executive committee in charge of the annual festival of Welsh music, literature and art consisted of Rev. O. R Williams, president; Mrs. R. D. Perry, vice-president; H. O Hughes, H. Lloyd Williams, T. W. Reese, E. W. Hughes, Robert P. Jones, W. H. Owen.

Pupils of Cole Report Amid the Ruins and Are Sent to Other Institutions: Tribute Is Paid to Firemen

The schools of Oakland reopened this morning, including Cole school, whose 1008 students reported promptly to their principal and teachers, amid the ruins of their old edifice, and were assigned to other schools.

Fourteen rooms, or 600 students, were marched to the old Vocational high school on Market street, where they were squeezed into all the available space.

The rest of Cole's population was distributed to the annex, the manual training room and the portable building, which were saved from the flames by heroic work on the part of the Oakland fire department.

Superintendent Fred M Hunter, commenting on this, said that the school department owes "a debt of gratitude to the firemen."

"It is comforting for any school department to feel that its buildings and its students are as safe as it is humanly possible to make them," said Hunter, "insofar as the protection of a city's fire department is concerned. The school department owes much to our firemen."

All the other schools reopened with full staffs and attendance, in advance of the promotional exercises at the end of the present semester, which terminates in two weeks.

Marriage and Divorce Increase During Past Year

The traditional impossibility of pleasing everybody is a thing of the past. Alameda county's divorce and marriage statistics for the past two years have changed all that. They show that marriage is on the increase, thereby pleasing the optimists. They show that divorce is also on the increase, thereby giving the pessimists an opportunity to say "I told you so."

During the year just closed, 4063 marriage licenses were granted, as against 3798 in 1922. Divorce suits filed during the past year total 1672, as compared with 1481 filed in 1922.

There were 4112 marriage licenses issued in 1921 and 4113 in 1920. There were 1403 divorce suits filed in 1921, 1489 in 1920 and 1511 in 1919.

Statistics also show an increase in the number of interlocutory decrees of divorce granted during the last year as compared with the year before. In 1923 there were 1127 decrees, and in 1922 there were 1055. Final divorce decrees number, 920 during the past year and 929 the previous year. Annulments granted in 1923 numbered 34 as compared with 31 during 1923.

CHEST DRIVE CLUB FETES WILL CLOSE

Cooperation of All Organizations Expected for Great Oakland Move to Extend Help to City Charities

In order to mobilize Oaklanders for the Community Chest campaign from January 28 to February 8, every club and organization in the city has received letters from William Harold Oliver, chairman, asking them to co-operate with Chest officials by turning all of their energies to the Community Chest and to refrain from scheduling special entertainments during the campaign period.

According to Oliver, there will be more than 4500 volunteer workers from all parts of the city participating in the campaign. In order that they may devote themselves to campaign activities, clubs and fraternal orders are asked to "go easy" on social activities during the campaign.

Plans for a special dedication of the Community Chest at the municipal auditorium Saturday evening, January 26, are being made by chest officials and Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhart, president of Mills College. The dedication ceremonies will be performed by Mills College girls.

BUSINESS CHIEFS ARE HOPEFUL OF 1924 PROSPECTS

Employment High, Credit Is Plentiful and Consumption of Goods Increasing.

NEW YORK, Jan 2.—(By The Associated Press.)—The year end sentiment among business and financial leaders is cheerful, despite the fact that developments within the last twelve months have been somewhat disappointing.

Remarkably strong buying early in the year reached a climax in the spring. Since then production has fallen off slowly and forward buying has been suspended. Price advances and wage increases of the spring served to revive memories of 1920. A wave of caution and conservatism spread over the country. Speculative positions were reduced and hand to mouth buying became the rule. In a word, the country experienced a mild slackening in activity after an upward movement which lasted for about two years.

HEALTHFUL RECESSION.

Bankers regard a recession of this kind as preferable to a sharp downward movement which follows a crisis, and emphasized the favorable aspects of the existing situation.

Employment is high, stocks of goods are moderate, credit is plentiful and speculative positions are small. Maintenance of a high rate of activity in the building industry is expected. Automobile makers report a good demand; and buying of railroad equipment, while hardly likely to be as urgent as during the last year, appears to be moderately good.

In the steel industry the year-end is witnessing the usual shutdowns for repairs. Buying during December, however, was better than expected, pigiron prices show further signs of having hit bottom, and steel prices remain firm. The trade is inclined to doubt whether production in 1924 will quite equal that during the past year but expects, nevertheless, a year of good business.

AGRICULTURE GAINS.

Although wheat prices remain at an unprofitable level and certain classes of livestock growers still are in difficulties, the past year has been one of progress in the agricultural districts. Prices for most farm products have been adequate and the purchasing power of the farmer has risen, as evidenced in the large sales of the mail order houses. Wheat growers, furthermore, are coming to see the need for controlling their production and for diversifying their farming operations.

With regard to the foreign situation, there is a general tendency to emphasize the importance of the reparations dispute. Occupation of the Ruhr is credited with having dislocated European business and with having slowed down international trade. Most of the foreign exchanges have depreciated.

Flour Prices Are Reported Lower

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—A decreasing demand for flour brought a reduction in production of 13.5 per cent last month in the seventh federal reserve baking district, according to a report today by the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago.

Compared with a year ago, production of all kinds of flour in forty reporting mills of the district dropped 9 per cent. During October the output of wheat flour was 20 per cent greater than in November. Production of flour other than wheat decreased 56.3 per cent the report declared. A fairly active demand for rye flour for export was noted.

Stocks of flour on hand showed an increase fo 2 per cent during the month, while sales decreased 10.2 per cent in volume and 13.6 per cent in value.

Cattle on farms in the seventh district decreased 1.9 per cent from December, 1922, according to the report.

These figures represent an increase of 67,620 electric customers and 24,-473,031 kilowatt hours during the month of November, and an increase of more than 25 per cent in customers and nearly 43 per cent in output over the corresponding period the year before, according to wire to Wm. Cavalier & Co.

Reo Motor Corporation today filed with the secretary of state of Michigan notice of an increase in the capital stock to $[illegible] from $[illegible] 000,000. There are rumors that there may be a stock dividend declared of from 10 to 25 per cent.

Willys-Overland net earnings in 11 months to Nov. 30 were $13,352,[illegible] equal after allowing for $1,1[illegible] accumulated preferred dividends to Sept. 30 to $1.05 a share on outstanding 2,139,[illegible] shares $5 par common. Gardner Motor Co., Inc., in nine months ended Sept. 30, earned net of $128,484. This indicates probable earnings of around $1 a share for the full year on outstanding 155,000 shares.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

By H. S. SCOTT.

Mixed price movements took place in today's relatively rather quiet New York stock market. Selling by traders who deferred realizing sales until after the turn of the year was counteracted by the re-purchase of stock sold to establish tax losses a month ago. Copper, public utility and merchandising issues gave the best demonstration of group strength. Foreign exchanges were weak, French francs again selling below five cents. Sales approximated 850,000 shares.

Irregularly higher prices characterized the opening dealings. Buying orders were distributed over a wide list, but were most effective in the oils and tobaccos, Producers and Refiners and American Tobacco standing out with initial gains of a point each.

The market became more irregular later, when profit-taking took place in a number of the oils and selling pressure was exerted against Davison Chemical, which dropped 2 points. Pan-American B dropped 1½. American Express sold 7 points above its previous sale, United Fruit 3¾ and Liggett & Meyers, Nash Motors and U. S. Alloy Steel moved up 2 to 2½ points, with a score of others, including Dupont, Famous Players and Woolworth, climbing a point or more. Foreign exchanges opened reactionary.

Curious cross-currents of price changes took place during the morning session. Traders who had built up paper profits in the upswing of the last two months, but did not want to convert them into cash so as to have them show in the 1923 income tax returns, offered stocks freely, particularly the speculative favorites. Some selling also was reported to have been influenced by the belief that the technical condition of the market warranted at least temporary reaction. Davison Chemical extended its loss to nearly 3 points and Producers and Refiners sold nearly 2½ below Monday's closing quotation. Good gains were recorded by several public utility, copper and merchandising issues. American Chicle preferred rose 2 points. Call money opened at 5¾ per cent.

Losses in the oil and motor groups were extended, Chandler dropping 2¾ points before the selling eased on appearance of large buying orders in the Maxwell Motor issues, in which the A advanced almost 4 points. Jones Brothers Tea, Montgomery Ward, American Linseed preferred, Cuyamel Fruit, United Drug and Lehigh Valley also became strong.

Profit-taking sales deferred until after the close of 1923 were the chief influence in directing price movements on the New York Curb market today.

The supply from this source was not pronounced in the petroleum issues that had made vigorous advances since last October, when an upward movement had gone a long way in discounting improvement in the petroleum industry and an expected essential change in conditions during the new year. Many of these stocks sustained losses ranging from one to over 15 points. Standard Oil of Nebraska sustained the greatest loss in the group, falling 20 points on moderate sales, and South Penn Oil showed a loss of 6 points. Prairie Oil and Gas, after an opening advance of 1 point, dropped 6 points, but quickly recovered this loss. Standard Oil of Indiana, Kansas and New York declined about 1 point and a loss of over 2 points was sustained in Standard Oil of Ohio. Prairie Pipe Line was exceptionally strong, moving up about 1 point. A new feature was presented in initial trading of Lago Petroleum.

Industrial issues moved within a narrow range and made gains. Stutz Motor continued in demand and advanced over 2 points.

Trading in bonds was quite active in the early hours today, but price changes generally were limited to fractions. The general trend was upward, a wide assortment of railroad mortgages changing hands at moderate advances. A good demand was noted also for some of the packing, copper and chemical company bonds, the Cerro de Pasco 8s rising 3¼ points. Active United States government bonds were relatively steady. Mexican 5s eased a point.

RECLAMATION DISTRICT TO ISSUE $675,000 BONDS.

Reclamation District No. 551, south of Sacramento, has recently authorized $675,000 six per cent bonds maturing serially from 1936 to 1954, inclusive.

The purpose of these bonds is primarily to refund outstanding warrants which were issued to cover the costs of levee construction, reclamation and drainage work, all of which has now been completed.

About $150,000 of these bonds will be offered for sale sometime this month, the balance to be sold as the needs of the district warrant.

The amendment to the reclamation act passed at the 1923 session of the state legislature, allows landowners to purchase bonds in any amount and deposit them at any time with the county treasurer at par for the purpose of reducing their assessments. By so doing they are able to cancel future interest and the demand from this source will automatically tend to keep the bonds from dropping below par. This precautionary [illegible] will create a new market for reclamation bonds not hitherto considered.

Reclamation District No. [illegible] is now considered one of the best protected and safest reclamation districts in the [illegible].

FINANCIAL HEALTH EVIDENT IN CREDIT ABUNDANCE.

Discussing the money market outlook in the United States for 1924 the Mechanics & Metals National Bank of New York says, in its January letter to customers:

"Nobody can miss the fact that so many of the circumstances which have a bearing on the country's general welfare are favorable. In particular, and from a banking point of view, the financial health of the country is manifested in the strength of its credit structure. Bank loans in New York, as reported by a number of institutions, are below a year ago. In some of the other parts of the country loans are above a year ago and are higher than at any time before, with the exception of 1919 and 1920, but reserves also are higher by a wide margin, and with the exception of certain sections of the agricultural West, the difficulties of the credit situation which marked the country's affairs not long ago have been corrected. The banking system is in a strong position—so much so that in contrast with the pulling-in process of 1920 and 1921, there is presented a problem of how to direct the available credit flow, making it at the same time productive and secure.

"Absence of overproduction, stability of prices, and a condition of easy money are effective barometers of business. To be sure, the average level of commodity prices, as measured by accepted index numbers, is at present above where it stood at the beginning of the year 1923, and is only a little below the peak of 1923. Moreover, the total volume of bank loans throughout the United States is greater than it was last January. But with respect to both commodity prices and bank loans it does not necessarily follow, because they are higher than in past years, that they are in peril of a severe deflation. The country's scale of costs and its dependence on credit have been adjusted to an all-around higher plane than before, and while comparisons with a decade ago shows that prices have advanced roundly 50 per cent since 1914, while bank loans in the aggregate have nearly doubled, it must be recognized that a new normal of prices, as well as a greater field for the use of credit, now exist. It is impossible to indicate just what the new normal of prices is, or to show just how far credit is being devoted to its full and proper use. But there can be no mistaking the fact that there is an all-around higher plane of prices, credit and wages, on which the country is now operating.

LIFE INSURANCE SHOWS STEADY GAINS IN 1923.

November sales of ordinary life insurance in the United States amounted to approximately the same figure as October sales, according to figures just published by the Life Insurance Research Bureau of New York. The sales by companies doing approximately eighty per cent of the ordinary legal reserve business amounted during November of this year to $480,227,000 of insurance as compared to $403,-632,000 of insurance in November of last year, an increase of 19 per cent. This increase or a greater one, was shown by all sections of the country except the Western, Southwestern and Pacific sections. The Southwestern section was the only one to show an actual decrease during November of this year from November of last.

Sales during the eleven months ending November 30th amounted to $5,242,950,000 of insurance as compared to $4,402,085,000 during the same period last year. The increase of the eleven months of this year over last is 19 per cent, the same as the increase of November of this year over November of last. The ordinary life insurance business in the country as a whole is running close to the records established early in the year.

During November, of the eight sections into which the country has been divided by the Research Bureau, three showed a greater increase than the average for the country as a whole over last year. These sections were New England, the Central and West Central states. The Middle Atlantic states showed the same increase. Three others, the Southern, Western and Pacific sections all showed a less increase, and the Southwestern section showed an actual decrease of 8 per cent in November although for the first eleven months it is still 18 per cent above the eleven months of last year.

INVESTMENT CAPITAL SUPPLY REPLENISHED.

Moody's Weekly Review of Financial Conditions in its current issue says in part:

"The outlook may now be defined more definitely. The declines in commodity prices and in employment together with the smallness of new financing in the summer and early autumn replenished somewhat the supply of liquid capital available for investment. In these various ways any necessity for further heavy liquidation of securities or goods has been averted or postponed.

"General trade is following a strictly normal course which should foreshadow the usual winter reaction, spring activity, summer dullness and autumn boom. Taking a broader view, it is indicated that a general recovery of commerce should begin in either the spring or the autumn of 1924.

"Bond prices respond consistently to trade conditions and therefore in the long run the dullness of trade both now and during the first half or the remainder of next year should act as a stimulant to the bond market.

"One may well believe, then, in [illegible] trend as a means of making profits. Rails ought to be a purchase as soon as the railway bill, whatever it may be, becomes pretty nearly framed. Coppers, oils and some other stocks also appear approximately deflated."

1400 NEW OIL WELLS STARTED LAST YEAR.

All field operations reported to State Oil and Gas Supervisor R. D. Bush during the week ending December 29, show 23 new wells started, the same number as during the previous week. The total new wells in the year was 1400, as compared with 1159 the same date last year.

Tests for water shut-off for week numbered 28, as compared with 36 during the previous week. Yearly total to date 1961; total to same date last year 1695.

Deepening or redrilling jobs for week numbered 10, as compared with [illegible] the previous week. Total to date this year 588; total to same date last year 770.

Abandonments for week numbered 7 as compared with [illegible] during the previous week. Total to date this year [illegible]; total to same date in 1922 [illegible].

LUMBER PRODUCTION IS 20 PER CENT BELOW NORMAL.

One hundred and twenty-five mills reporting to West Coast Lumbermen's Association for the week ending December 22, manufactured [illegible] feet of lumber, sold 92,-101,584 feet; and shipped 89,305,421 feet.

Production for reporting mills was 20 per cent above normal. New business was 10 per cent below production. Shipments were 3 per cent below new business.

Forty-six per cent of all new business taken during the week was for future water delivery. This amounted to 42,370,777 feet, of which 27,630,300 feet was for domestic cargo delivery; and 14,740,-477 feet export. New business by rail amounted to 1521 cars.

Sutro Company Opens Offices In This City

Oldest Investment Security House on Coast Enters Eastbay Field.

The oldest investment security house on the Pacific Coast, Sutro and Company, founded in 1858 in San Francisco by Gustav Sutro and his brothers Charles and Emil, after 66 years of successful existence, entered the financial field of the Eastbay region today. This conservative old firm, now consisting of Charles Sutro, Louis S. Haas, George Lowenberg, Emil Sutro and Sidney L. Schwartz, the last named the president of the San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange, has opened a suite of offices at 502-504 Oakland Bank building.

The San Francisco office has direct wire connections with all the markets of the country, their New York connections being Sutro Bros. and Co. and J. S. Bache & Co., J. S. Bache & Co., in Detroit, Chicago and Philadelphia, and Richardson, Hill & Co., of Boston. A special leased telephone wire connects the local office with the San Francisco office, thereby giving almost instantaneous service in the execution of orders on all markets. The firm has one of the best statistical departments on the coast.

The Oakland office will be in the charge of Herbert Hauser, who has been 27 years in the employ of Sutro & Co. and in point of service is the oldest employee of the San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange. Hauser has been a resident in Oakland for many years and has been active in the Glenview Improvement club, and in the organization of the Athens Athletic club, being chairman of the club arrangement committee. He has also been secretary-treasurer of the Pacific Association of the Amateur Athletic Union for many years.

Normal Foreign Market Needed Banker Asserts

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Restoration of a normal foreign market is the big problem of 1924 and on its accomplishment depends the measure of increased prosperity that may come to America next year, Walter W. Head of Omaha, Nebr., president of the American Bankers' association, declared in a statement made by the association.

"The history of 1923 is encouraging as a precedent upon which the business of the new year must be built," he said. "This is true despite the rise in domestic labor and material costs and the continued uncertainty abroad.

"In looking forward to the new year we have no reason to fear an interruption of the normal processes of production, nor of the normal consumption of our various products within our own country. The real problem which impels caution in making a forecast of 1924 is the restoration of a normal foreign market."

Canner Output In North Declines

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 2.—Four million, five hundred thousand cases of fruit were packed by canneries in the northwest during 1923, according to figures compiled by local cannery men for the Capital Journal.

Figures for the Salem district show a decrease in the pack of approximately 40,000 cases, as compared to the pack of last year. Smaller packs of loganberries and pears, due to the glutted condition of the market for these canned fruit, early in the year account for the greater part of the shortage.

The pack of strawberries, 117,939 cases, for 1923, was nearly double that of last year. The Royal Anne cherry and prune packs were also nearly twice that of 1922.

Bank of Italy Buys Another Bank

HANFORD, Jan. 2.—The Bank of Italy has purchased the Hanford National Bank and will consolidate it with its local bank, control of which was acquired 18 months ago. The bank purchased a site for a building several months ago and a handsome building will be constructed as soon as the present lease expires.

BANK OF ITALY DEPOSITORS PASS 485,000 MARK

Deposits Total $277,000,000: Resources Show 50 Million Gain in 1923.

With resources of more than $300,000,000, representing a gain of $50,000,000 during the past year, the statement of the Bank of Italy for the close of 1923 was published today. Based on figures compiled by the Literary Digest this indicates that the Bank of Italy is next in size to the Bankers' Trust Company of New York, which institution ranks seventh in the United States.

A total of 485,136 depositors—one-eighth of the population of California—have accounts with the bank. In this particular it leads all of the nation's banks. Deposits aggregate $277,000,000, an increase for 1923 that parallels the growth in resources.

"This is one of the best years that our institution has enjoyed," said A. P. Giannini, president of the bank. "We have made progress not only with respect to our financial strength, but also in perfecting the organization's features of service. It is especially gratifying to feel that we have won the confidence of nearly half a million people and that we are able to do something for them that is of real benefit."

The growth in number of depositors for the current year has been approximately 85,000. At the close of 1922 there were 401,798, a figure that occasioned nation-wide comment at that time and brought congratulatory wires from various banks throughout the United States. The present total, however, shows a gain of 21 per cent over last year.

With the addition of the new offices recently established the Bank of Italy now has 75 branches in 52 California cities.

Sales of Electric Merchandise Gain

Estimates based on telegraphic advices for the last week of December, 1923, show that sales not only for the month, but for the year, will exceed previous records of the new business departments operated by Henry L. Doherty & Co. in connection with the subsidiary properties of Cities Service Company. Actual sales of merchandise in all of the Henry L. Doherty & Co., widely scattered throughout the country, from December 1 to December 23, inclusive, totaled $552,679.

Telegraphic advices received from the local managers of these departments estimate that their total sales for the full month will be in the neighborhood of $680,000. In December, 1922, the total was $422,026.

An estimate for the year shows a total sale of merchandise approximating $4,800,000, which is a new record. These sales were made to 413,774 customers in the United States, making the average sale per customer, per year, $11.60, which compared most favorably with the average of other gas and electric company new business departments of between $5 and [illegible] per customer per year.

The nearest approach to the amount of merchandise sold in 1923 was the $4,605,589 worth sold by Doherty new business departments in 1920, which was the high point in the spending period following the close of the world war.

Apple, Lettuce Shipments Gain

WATSONVILLE, Jan. 2.—More than 3400 carloads of apples have been shipped from this city thus far this season, as compared with 3046 cars for the corresponding date last year. Holdover stocks in local cold storage plants and packing houses total 237,000 boxes, of which 45,000 boxes are Bellflowers and the remainder Newtown Pippins.

Lettuce shipments this season have reached a total of 541 cars, as compared with 304 cars for last season and prospects are good for much larger acreages in 1924.

SOUND PROGRESS REPORTED FROM ALL OVER COAST

Bank Credit and Business Financing Active, Says Reserve Agent.

Sound and substantial economic progress has characterized the year 1923 in the Twelfth Federal Reserve district, despite irregularity in a few fields, notably agriculture, Federal Reserve Agent John Perrin, said in his monthly report today.

Practically complete returns indicate that the year has been one of record activity in production and business, while bank credit for farming operations as well as for financing commerce and industry has been continuously available at moderate cost.

Production in the major industries shows increase. Comparing November, 1923 with November, 1922, some ratios are: Lumber production shows 20 per cent increase; Petroleum, 59 per cent; Flour, 17.5 per cent; Building, 15 per cent; Copper, 26 per cent, and Silver, 5 per cent. The copper and silver comparisons are based on October figures.

FARM RETURNS DUE.

Final judgment on 1923 must await and to some extent be based upon results of the year's operations in agriculture, it is stated. While it is known that physical yields of the principal crops of the district have been large, profitable disposition of them has not been easy in all instances, and "it may be said that large groups of farmers, those engaged in raising wheat and those producing deciduous fruits, have experienced considerable difficulty in selling their crops at a price which would return them a profit on the year's work."

Specific information about the livestock industry is difficult to secure. The sheepraising industry, however, has recovered from the depression of 1920-1921 and although improvement in the cattle industry has been more tardy, progress is manifest.

"On the whole," says the report, "available information concerning business conditions in the rural districts, although not altogether favorable, presents no evidence of general agricultural depression." This view is supported by the sales of mail order houses, which transact the larger part of their business with rural communities. For the first eleven months of 1923, an increase of 15 per cent in sales values is shown over the corresponding period for 1922.

EMPLOYMENT NORMAL.

Employment conditions are reported normal or better than normal, with winter seasonal unemployment no greater than usual.

Total volume of business during the year just closed, from a physical standpoint was "substantially greater" than in any previous year. Reports based on figures taken from banks in 20 clearing house centers in all sections of the district—taking the year 1919 monthly average as 100—indicates that during 1923 the monthly average was above 120 for every month in 1923 excepting September, and the average for the year was 128.8. Average for the best previous record year, 1920, was 122.9.

The high level of consuming power incident to full employment of labor at good wages has been reflected in increased sales in retail stores. During November, 1923, thirty-five representative department stores reported sales values 9.3 per cent greater than in November, 1922.

WHOLESALE TRADE.

Trade at wholesale has shown moderate gains. During November of the year just closed, nine of the eleven lines of wholesale trade—agricultural implements, automobile supplies, automobile tires, drugs, dry goods, electrical equipment, furniture, groceries, hardware, shoes and stationery—"for which this bank collects sales figures, showed an increase in value of sales as compared with a year ago."

At no time during the year has there been any serious strain upon the credit structure of the district. Interest rates have changed little during the year period. Customers of large San Francisco banks generally have been able to secure accommodation on prime 30-90 day paper at 5½ per cent and in other cities of the district rates on this class of paper have fluctuated between 6 and 7 per cent.

McIntyre Porcupine Making Strides

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The aggressive development of the McIntyre-Porcupine mines is now bearing full fruit, according to J. P. Bickell, president of the company, who says: "During the last four months our deep development has met with such phenomenal results that the most radical changes have been recorded. We are in good ore wherever we look.

"During October these earnings by the company totaled slightly in excess of $ 00,000, and from which amount, after deducting all overhead costs, approximately $150,000 was added to treasury surplus. Earnings for November were about the same. In other words, since the enlarged milling plant has been handling 1000 tons every 24 hours during the past four months, net profits have averaged at the annual rate of 50 per cent of the company's issued capitalization."

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Wheat scored something of an advance in price today during the early dealings. Higher quotations at Liverpool, ascribed to smallness of world shipments and to the wet harvest in Argentina, were chiefly responsible for the upturn here. The volume of business in Chicago was a little larger than has recently been the rule, but was still below the usual average. Opening prices, which ranged from a shade to ⅜@½c higher, May $1.08 to 1.08¼ and July $1.06⅜ to 1.06⅝@¾ were followed by a slight reaction and then by new upturns fractionally higher than before.

Despite cold weather, offerings of corn to arrive were next to nothing. Commission house selling of future deliveries, however, enlarged when prices advanced. After opening a shade to ¼c higher, May 74 to 74¼c the corn market sagged somewhat, and then hardened again.

Oats were upheld by the firmness of corn and wheat. Starting at ⅛ to ⅛@¼c advance, May 45⅜c, the market kept near to Monday's closing figures.

Provisions made but little response to a rise in hog values.

TWO HELD AFTER MAN IS FOUND IN DREDGER HOLE

Victim Cut, Bruised and Unconscious, Discovered Near Oroville.

OROVILLE, Jan. 2.—Thomas Robles and J. Cartinas, are held in the county jail here pending the outcome of injuries received by Amador Nunes, who was found in a dredger near Oroville, with a deep cut on his throat, cuts and bruises about his head and unconscious from his injuries.

No motive for the crime has been determined. Both of the men arrested show signs of a battle in the shape of cuts and bruises. The men had been engaged in olive picking in the Palermo district and it is believed the battle took place there and that Nunes was brought to near Oroville and thrown in the dredgerhole in an effort on the part of the assailants to avoid detection.

CHAPTER 39.

THE BOTTLE

Despite his fatigue, Jake faced Knott defiantly. He felt that he was about to go to pieces. The ordeal has been terrific and it was not yet ended. But the fear of imprisonment and the excitement buoyed him up with undreamed courage. No sooner was he thrown to earth than he bounced right up again, a little more battered, slightly shaken, stunned but with his elastically unmarred.

He wanted to get away. Once out of sight of the baby blue eyes of the fat criminologist, he would soon be free of this place. He would go to Marjorie's room for a few minutes—the opportunity was too good to pass up even in these dire circumstances. And after that he would hide out in some first class place and live there secretly until the storm blew over. Then he would return to Marjorie and she would be only too glad to go through with their marriage.

Jake regarded the incriminating bottle venomously. He saw Scott take it out of the fat man's hands, smell it, put it to his tongue and then slip it into his coat.

"This is a helluva of a case," he remarked. "Everybody has blundered. Knott blundered, I blundered and the yeggs blundered right into a car that took them to jail."

Scott wheeled on Jake brusquely. "Where did you get this?" he asked.

Jake met the stare of the inspector's gray eyes for an instant, then lowered his own. He took his time about replying. That seemed the best way to do. When he wanted, invariably an inspiration came to him. He remembered the scene in the hall when Marvin had doped himself. He knew now that Marvin was a yegg with a $6000 price on his head.

Jake leveled his finger at the troublesome bottle.

"I took that from the Dynamite Kid," he asserted, firmly. "I told you the Dynamite Kid came to McKim's."

A snorting sound caused everyone to look at Nathan McKim, who was shaking his head and making faces of dissent.

"It's all a lie," groaned McKim. "He's a car washer. He's trying to injure me."

"Shut up, McKim," ordered Scott. "I believe the Kid did hang out at your dump. Please proceed, Colonel."

Jake smiled in a superior fashion, his calm restored. When his lies went off smoothly he was delighted. But when he was able to sprinkle in a bit of truth now and then to give them verity he was more than delighted, he was exhilarated.

"I learned of the Kid's plans," continued Jake. "I secured a disguise the same as his. Then I laid my plans to impersonate him and send the thugs to the station, as I did subsequently. But he was pretty clever. I think when he saw me in a like disguise, he suspected something. He tried to waylay me. He found me in a hallway and I slipped knockout drops into my punch. When his head was turned, I changed glasses with him. He drained the doped punch, struck at me as he fell with a blackjack and dropped the glass. You will find the broken glass and the blackjack on the floor."

There was just enough truth in Jake's tale to cause him to wax enthusiastic. His words carried conviction.

Scott motioned to one of the officers.

"Go into the hall back there and get the blackjack," he commanded. And to Jake: "Don't let me interrupt you, Colonel."

"Two of the Dynamite Kid's thugs carried their chief away unmasked," continued Jake. "That showed they had framed up on me. I took Marvin's bottle of dope and mingled with the yeggs. They thought I was the Kid. It was then I managed to slip Oakland Slim a K. O. He's not drunk. He is doped. Mr. Knott did not see him because Slim was acting as a lookout."

Scott snapped his teeth together.

"By jove, one of the officers said that," he agreed. "He said Oakland Slim had been given knockout drops. What have you got to say to that, Knott?"

Jake's loquacious versatility had left Napoleon Knott staring. Never had he seen a person die with such fluency. His convincing eloquence, the way in which he mixed fact and fiction and his debonair appearance completely deceived Inspector Scott. Knott found his own convictions shifting like sand under his feet.

The officer whom Scott had sent to the rear hall returned. He handed the inspector a blackjack.

"I found that under a chair," he said, briefly. "The floor was covered with glass."

Inspector Scott shrugged his shoulders.

"It seems to me useless to question the Colonel further," he said, addressing Knott a bit impatiently. "He seems to know his business thoroughly. He has done good work. Why should we doubt him. Everyone here agrees that he trapped the gangsters."

"There's just one more question I wish to ask Mr. St. Clair," purred Knott. He beamed on Jake. "What were you doing alone in that hallway?" he asked. "And why did you try to go up those stairs?"

Jake turned pale. He had been afraid of that question. Investigation of the bedrooms would bring ruin upon him. Yet he had beaten Knott thus far. He would outwit him again.

"I went there expressly to lure the thug," he explained, patiently. "As to my reasons for going up the stairs—He hesitated and eyed Knott keenly—"I think your sense of delicacy will prevent further questioning along that line."

It was Knott's turn to flush. Marjorie had been there. In the excitement, he had not noted that Marjorie was now absent. Yes, he remembered that Mrs. Hyde had said she had gone to her room with a headache.

"I withdraw the second question," said Knott, sullenly.

Inspector Scott extended his hand to Jake.

"There's one thing I want to know," he said smiling. "What did you do with that $6000 beauty of yours—the Dynamite Kid?"

Jake's hand was in Scott's. Jake's eyes were held by the officer's gray ones. He could not evade or shuffle about or cast down his eyes.

Yet Jake did not know what the thugs had done with Marvin. They had carried him away without a word. Nor had they told him anything.

He was trumped. The inspector had trapped him with one question. Jake saw by the expression on his face that he expected an answer. It was to be final proof of his identity. If he failed to reply, they might arrest him. Here was the only way to prove his good faith. Yet he could not answer. He did not know.

The Aim of Chance

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

RUPERT CONWELL, dressed in his best, floated down the river murmuring the words of a love song. Petty soon he would heave overboard the anchor which was in the stern of his skiff and would lift his voice in full declaration. If he were fortunate a window would open and the fairest lady in all the Duchy would lean out to than' him.

"A man may be parboiled for dreams," thought Rupert, "but more likely old Sir Hugh will blaze away at me with a firing arm." The lover leaned over to seize the anchor, then fell forward on the bottom of the boat, rendered unconscious by a mighty blow on the head. The boat floated on down the river, and if there was a lady waiting for a song she was doomed to disappointment.

Up in the castle of old Sir Hugh a proud maid glared defiantly at a father who had suddenly turned pale and humble.

"Faith, maid, I did not know." He spread his hands in a gesture of helplessness. "You could have won your way without that. Have I been a tyrant? Haven't you always had your way once you let me have my say? Marry whom you please, so long as he is a gentleman." He rose, walked to the casement and looked out upon the river. The man who had been so angry, seemed sorely stricken.

"I did not know, father, it meant so much. Tell me, why were they so precious that they be replaced?"

"One can always replace jewels," the father replied, "but the memories that were beaten into those were more precious to me than—than anything save yourself. I wanted to see you wed in them just as your mother was."

"But you wanted me to wed Guy of Mainwaring!" There was still a trace of the defiance.

"I thought it best. You heard me. I had my say. Somehow when you defied me, I lost my head, and when you threw the casket into the river I found it. I saw you were more than ordinarily obstinate. I saw you genuinely angry at me and realized, I wouldn't hurt you, girl. It's been a costly lesson but a needed one." He straightened. "Tomorrow we'll have the river dragged and the divers out. There will be a big reward for the man who finds the casket."

Rupert Conwell awakened with a pain in his head. It was early morning and his boat floated swiftly into a strange land. He sat up, clapped his hands to his crown and groaned. Then he remembered what had befallen.

"And he never waited for me to come."

In the daylight the lover rowed his skiff against the current, attracting no little attention from the farmers who saw a gentleman working so hard when there were servants to be had. In time he approached the castle of Sir Hugh. Here was a great commotion. Men were dragging the depths of the stream, while others dove beneath the surface, to come up empty-handed. Rupert heaved over his anchor and watched the proceedings. There was Sir Hugh on the bank.

"My Lord, what is this? Has someone gone under?"

Sir Hugh did not answer.

"If it is perhaps something that was hurled from the window, hurled with an exact aim at an instant's notice, it may be I can aid in the recovery." And Rupert rubbed his head. Then he searched in the boat and lifted up the small box which had struck him.

"And you bring that ashore," Sir Hugh snarled. "You will be rewarded. It is what we seek."

Rupert hesitated. The man who had tried to kill him once must do it this time.

"I pray it, sir. Look inside. Do you think I would throw that at you or anyone else?"

When Rupert saw the jewels he laid the box on his knees a long time trying to account for them. When he looked up he saw a face in the window. The lips was smiling and beckoning him to do as Sir Hugh had commanded.

"It is my pleasure, Sir Hugh," he said, "to return these jewels. It is only the remembrance of how they came to me that is painful. And the reward?"

Sir Hugh extended his hand as the young man stepped from the boat. "For the reward you will have to speak to my daughter."

Joys of Motherhood And Women Who Are Deprived of Them

KIDDIES PLAYING IN HOUSE--AND MIRACLES

Skeptics Advised to Peruse Missive From One of Younger Set

A few weeks ago we had a letter from "A Disappointed Wife." It was not an ordinary "complaining" letter from a woman who found married life a burden. She had been married ten years. Healthy, full of life and vitality, she had married a man she respected, and was willing and anxious for a home and family. The years rolled by and no children came. She believed that she had fulfilled her part of the contract, but her husband was physically unfit for parenthood.

Whether she had authentic ground for this assertion, I do not know, for she merely stated that he was many pounds under weight.

Her question was a big one. Did she owe her life to her husband in name only, or was she entitled to freedom and a new chance to fulfill her life's dream?

This letter answers her:

Dear Geraldine:

"A Disappointed Wife" asked your advice and you, not knowing how to answer, asked the Gang to call in, so here is my view on the subject, although this lady may not agree with me and may denounce me altogether. But here goes!

To begin with, Jerry, I am, you might say, beginning my story backward, but why, oh why, do people marry without first being examined by a good doctor and get their health certificates accordingly?

You might call me a little ahead of the times and I can hear you all say, such things are not practical, but like "A Disappointed Wife's" case, the people are suffering for the ignorance that is allowed to go on.

But it is too late now, in that respect, so we must try and plan for something else that will perhaps bring sunshine into both these lives.

You know, Jerry, there is a good old saying, and that is that life is just as we make it, and as long as A Disappointed Wife feels that way about it, so shall it be, and no one but she can make it any better.

Now to begin with. Don't you think it would be helping humanity, just a little, for this lady to stop complaining about her disappointment and try and look at conditions in a new light? Let her put herself, we'll say, in her husband's place.

THREE HUSBANDS FOR ONE WOMAN SUPPOSE.

Let her imagine she is the delicate one. I wonder if her husband on the other hand, would feel disappointed. I can hear you all say, "you bet he would, and not only that, but he'd have another woman and would not bother."

I think I am safe when I say men, in these respects, have larger hearts than women, for I have known men who had wives who weren't physically fit and they stuck by them to the end. These are the things that people ought to get medals for. For isn't it bravery when you stand by another in time of need?

Jerry, I think if this woman had three husbands, she'd form some kind of a story to escape responsibility. She is too selfish to be a real pal to any man. Instead of trying to make life better for them both and crawling out of her shell and trying to spread a little sunshine in her home, she is making her life miserable by always being dissatisfied.

I say, as you, Jerry, he isn't impossible just because he weighs 125 pounds. Instead of her sitting around and counting every day and every hour that goes by and regretting she ever married him, let her up and be doing something to try and better conditions a little. Let her take her husband to a doctor, be examined and then work accordingly. Sometimes we can work miracles ourselves. Let her be examined. Something may be revealed that might surprise her. It may be she and not her husband is unfit. Of course financial circumstances alter cases too, but this lady didn't mention anything about finances so I presume she is able to look into these conditions.

Jerry in ten years this lady has had no children. I wonder if it ever came into her mind to go into some of these foundling homes and look over the dear little bits of humanity there waiting for some place they might be taken to. In this woman's heart might bring a little sunshine and happiness where it is most needed. For to be a mother we must forget ourselves and learn to help others. A home is not a home where there are no children. You can't tell, maybe her husband is longing for some one to call him daddy. Didn't Jesus say, if we have faith we too, can work miracles?

DESIRE EXPRESSED FOR

This lady, in having a child or two in her home, is bound to work miracles. She can't get away from it, and in having these dear kiddies her husband's health might improve.

Jerry I hope I live to see the day that it will become a national law that all women, being married a certain number of years, who cannot have children of their own, will be forced to adopt one or two. In this way there wouldn't be so many foundling homes and there wouldn't be so many divorces, either, because it will give "parents" something else to think about besides their own lives. You know, Jerry, there are a great many selfish people in this world and it is these that are making the trouble. I am not religious, nor do I go altogether by what the minister says, but this lady cannot leave this man. She married him. Let her show him she is a good sport. If she doesn't try to better conditions, she is spineless and her kind in the world does not count.

Here's hoping for the best, Jerry, and tell A Disappointed Wife that sacrifices are nothing in this life. All of us have to do it, one way or another.

I have been a sailor's wife for 15 years. Don't you think that calls for sacrifices? I have three children and at times must be a mother and rather both to them. But I am not complaining. I always pray to God that He will let me keep my good health so I can do for them all. In these 15 years my husband has had faith in me and in return I am working miracles for him. So tell A Disappointed Wife, Jerry, to have faith and give herself in prayer.

Mrs. Frank Bidwell,
1242 Hearst avenue, Berkeley.

I'm wishing YOU all the health and happiness in the world, Friend, but I do not pray, with you, that we'll ever have a law that will FORCE children into any home. We do for those we love, and I have naught but pity in my heart for any child that is thrust into a home that is not reaching out with open arms to receive it.

HERE'S A WORD FROM THE RISING SET.

Will the doubters of the "younger" generation kindly read this letter?

Dear Jerry:

At last I am hot enough to fight. I have been reading your columns for a long time, but this is the first time I have been able to get hold of your Sunday edition. I am nearly 19, but in our school, when I went two years to High, a man by the name of Harry Rimmer from the Y. M. C. A. came to give the boys a lecture—both times on the evils young people could indulge in and the harm that would come from them. Thanks to him and my own will, I have gone straight and true to my ideals to this day although I have had opportunities many a young man would have jumped at. Maybe I was stronger, being hundreds of miles from home and being more on my own merit than I would have been there.

What I want to say is this. I do not think that you or any of the Gang have been too outspoken or frank in your columns. I fully realize that many a young person has gone wrong because the mother or father did not explain the things that should be known. Then there are those who, after being told, want to "experiment." When the child is directly to blame he is not worth a silver in a house. He has no will power to forbid himself such sensations.

Jerry, I am just writing and do not intend to read this letter over again, for if I do, I will not know whether or not to send it, but if you think it too plain, do not print it or else alter it to suit yourself.

The girl or boy who objects to being told things that they should know in time to prevent disaster, is sort of backward, or else wishes to remain ignorant so as to have someone else to blame. In you columns I find lots of good sense and things that would actually help young folks to keep straight. For as Harry Rimmer once said to us boys in assembly, "KEEP YOUR LIFE CLEAN FOR THE WOMAN WHO YOU WILL SOME DAY ASK TO BE YOUR WIVES AND EXPECT THE WOMEN TO DO THE SAME. For if they will and you will, the world will be filled with healthier men and women than it is now."

Maybe I am too much of a preacher, but the quoted lines I shall never forget but try always to live up to. You hit the nail on the head when you said to allow children some hobby and their minds will not dwell on sex. I have found it so.

RED.

(Name and address given.)

Thanks, Boy, that letter ought to make even skeptics have faith.

PERSONAL WORD.

JUST A WEE DROP IN THE BUCKET. You've asked me for a frank opinion so here it is. You're not suffering from self pity as much as "making mountains out of mole hills."

First—you have entered a new life with a new group of people and as always, adjustments have to be made. Families suffer from too many personalities. They make issues out of the smallest things, and unless there are one or two in the group who are capable of discerning between trivial and worth while problems, the group goes on the rocks.

Now what does it matter whether they thought you were "faking" or not? Of course it isn't pleasant, but if you live your life, keep your house CLEAN AND PRESENTABLE, your baby healthy and good natured, your husband happy, you can afford to cast all the fussy things out of your life. If you want to go to a movie, GO; if you want a vase, buy it, providing you are a good manager, AND YOU CERTAINLY ARE. I know very few women who could make ends meet the way you have.

I don't know how to tell you to keep your house better. Just do it. Don't get into the married woman attitude that you can sit around in a kimona all day and let the dishes go. If you do that physically, you'll find your mind in the same soiled condition at the end of a few months. If you were a good housekeeper once, for pay, surely you can do the same for love and baby now.

And for goodness sake use the head God gave you and don't spend your time worrying over fancied slights. Don't let the "petty" family group get you. That's my wish for the New Year for YOU; may it sink in.

My Favorite Stories by Irvin S. Cobb

The Most Punctual Man

This story was old—good and old—before prohibition came in. As I used to hear it, years and years ago, two southern gentlemen of ripened age sat one evening by the hospitable fireside of one of them when the shocking discovery was made that there wasn't a drop in the house to drink.

"Jim! Oh, you Jim!" called the host and in prompt response his black body-servant appeared in the living-room door.

"Jim," ordered his master. "I've just found out that the demi-john is empty and here Colonel Doolove and I are fairly perishing for a toddy. Throw a saddle on the fastest horse in the stable and grab a jug and light out for town as fast as you can go and bring a supply of liquor back. If you hurry, you ought to be back in just forty minutes. But don't lose any time—I don't believe we can wait a single minute longer than that!"

"Boss," proclaimed Jim, "I'se gone!"

"The roads are powerful muddy Major," said the guest, as Jim vanished. "I'm afraid your man won't be able to make the round trip on schedule time."

"Don't you worry, Colonel," said the Major, comfortingly. "That boy of mine is the most punctual nigger there is in the whole state of Tennessee." He glanced at his watch. "He's just about galloping out of the stable now."

He sat down, his timepiece still in his hand. Colonel Doolove, drooping slightly at the mouth, produced his own watch and mentally, the pair proceeded to follow the black messenger on his errand. "He's passing through the swamp," said the Major, after a five minutes' wait.

"Yes," agreed the Colonel, "and now he's going past Donovan's blacksmith shop."

"He's just rattled across Champey's bridge."

"The Methodist burying ground is just ahead of him!"

"The burying ground is behind him!"

"Fifteen minutes! He's on the outskirts of town."

"Sixteen minutes! He's flying down Main street!"

"Eighteen minutes. Jake is filling up the jug."

"Jake is driving the cork in."

"Jim has grabbed the jug and is running out to where his horse is hitched. Major, I make it stronger—that's the most punctual nigger south of Mason and Dixon's line!"

"Twenty-one minutes and a half. He's coming up Main street, hell-bent for election!"

"He's passing the suburbs!" "He's whizzing past the graveyard!"

"He's crossed the bridge over the creek—right on the dot!"

"Thirty-seven minutes!" clarioned the Colonel after a little. "He's left the blacksmith shop behind him. He's gone by the crossroads like a shot. He's splattering through the low grounds leading down to the swamp. Major, get the sugar and the ice and the spring water ready. Your boy is on the last lap. He's topping the last hill."

"Thirty-nine minutes!" shouted the Major. "He must be galloping up the lane from the big road. Colonel, in just one minute from now that boy will be standing in that doorway yonder—or I miss my guess."

Scarcely breathing, the pair stood in silence, harkening with all their ears. In the hallway without there were the sounds of hurrying feet.

"Colonel," whooped the Major, "didn't I tell you I had the most punctual nigger in the whole United States working for me? Forty minutes, to an even second, and here he is!"

The door was thrust open. The two white gentlemen, fairly frothing with anticipation, leaped to their feet.

"Majah," said Jim, "fur de las' half hour ur mo' I been lookin' high an' low fur de saddle fur dat hoss of your'n an' seems lak I can't find it nowheres."

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

By Mildred Marshall

FLORENCE.

Florence, signifying flourishing, can scarcely be separated from its quaint diminutive Flora, meaning flowers, and the festivals of Flora or Floralia were celebrated in the first burst of spring. In later times, the names of Florus was formed from that of the goddess and is memorable as that of the procurator whose harshness drove the Jews to their last rebellion. It is believed that the feminine Flora came from this.

There is a church at Florence to Saints Fiore and Lucilla, but otherwise the first instance of the name is in Roman-Gothic Spain where the unhappy daughter of Count Julian was called by the Spanish diminutive Florinda, and thus caused the name to be so much detested that while Spanish ballads call her La Cava, the wicked, her christian name was only bestowed on dogs.

A Spanish maiden martyred by the Moors brought Flora into better repute. It became Flore in France, where it was adopted as a romantic epithet, and from there, it found its way into Scotland. In the Gaelic it is spelled Florie, as the island heroine of the '45 wrote herself. Florentia was a natural product and named a feminine saint martyred in Diocletian's reign in Gaul.

The prevalence of the name Florence in England seems to have been due to so many English girls being born in the Italian city of that name. Deeper and dearer honor has been given to it by Florence Nightingale. Many fictional heroines have borne the name and its derivatives. Blanchefleur, meaning white flower, is one of its forms and was bestowed on Sir Trystan's mother. Versions particularly romantic are found with Ariosto's two heroines, Fiordespina (thorn flower) and Fiordilizi (fleur de lys).

Florence or Flora, used by the Irish peasantry, becomes Finghan or Fincen. Fiorrie and Flossie and perhaps even Lora, are purely American diminutives.

The Cornelian is Florence's talismanic gem. Its warm bright color is said to dispel timidity and give courage, vitality and animation. It likewise brings good luck to the bearer of the name. To dream of it, however, signifies impending misfortune. Florence's lucky day is Saturday and 1 is considered her lucky number.

My Husband's Love

Adele Garrison's New Phase Of Revelations of a Wife

I threw up my hand in a warning gesture to Mother Graham as she accompanied her call for Katie with a query to me concerning my little maid's whereabouts which contained the obnoxious epithet, "ape of a girl." It is an invariable practice of hers when referring to Katie, although I have noticed that she is careful never to use the words in the girl's presence. But I had heard Katie's quick footsteps in the hall outside and feared her acute hearing would catch the offensive phrase.

I might have saved my effort, however, for Mother Graham, upon principle, never heeds a gesture or anything savoring of compulsion, from any living being, unless the necessity for it has been explained to her in words of three syllables. Two or three humiliating experiences in the presence of guests, when a warning nudge of the foot or hand was received with a fierce "Margaret, what in the world are you trying to do?" have made me exceedingly wary of her possibilities for precipitating domestic cataclysms.

I had the satisfaction, however, of seeing her register distinct embarrassment when Katie's knock sounded on the door. It was an unusually militant rat-tat-tat, at which I winced, for I feared that it signalled an outburst from my faithful but temperamental and tempery little maid.

"Do you suppose she heard me?" My mother-in-law's apprehensive voice was in ludicrous contrast to the autocratic inflections with which she had called for Katie.

"I'm afraid she did," I whispered back.

"Well, go on out and settle her, then." Mother Graham said crisply. She is never abashed more than a fraction of a second by anything. "Katie is your maid, not mine, and if she chooses to take offense at a name which descr bes her perfectly the sooner she learns the better."

The only consolation I had concerning this outrageous little speech was that it was couched in low tones, inaudible to the girl on the other side of the door. But my heart was hot within me as I walked toward the door.

It was a situation only too familiar to me, this in which I had to soothe Katie's justly wounded sensibilities after some inconsiderate performance of my mother-in-law's and the insouciance with which the older woman shifted the burden of her verbal indiscret on to my shoulders angered me.

"I agree with you," I said coldly, "although it will be a trifle inconvenient to have her leave just now. But I imagine we can get Mrs. Tcer to come in."

It was a Parthian shaft, for while Mother Graham is always in a state of armed neutrality with Katie she infinitely prefers her presence in the kitchen to that of Mrs. Ticer.

Katie yields to Mother Graham a deference born of her early alien peasant training which Mrs. Ticer, who can boast as long a line of purely American ancestry as Mother Graham herself, never thinks of offering.

Mrs. Ticer is always courteous, but her manner to each of us is that of one good neighbor to another. I accept it, indeed, enjoy it thoroughly, but my mother-in-law resents it, although she is shrewd enough not to show her feeling openly. But I knew that the prospect of having independent Mrs. Ticer installed as temporary housekeeper during the visit of Mother Graham's daughter and famous son-in-law, fresh from an establishment of perfectly trained maids, would be anathema to my mother-in-law's soul.

"Margaret! Come back here!" There was a distinct note of frantic appeal in Mother Graham's voice as leaving her icy little speech on which to reflect, I walked to the door.

I pretended not to hear her, and slipped quickly out of the door, closing it behind me, before Katie could speak.

That the girl had heard the slighting reference of Mother Graham was plain. All the signals of mutiny were flying from her glinting eyes and flushed face. But before she could utter the angry words which I knew were tumbling from her throat, and which, once spoken, I might find it unwise to overlook, I took her arm, and with a peremptory whispered "Hush!" rushed her noiselessly down the hall and into the kitchen.

Katie was silent and quiescent until we reached her own domain, but I knew from her tempestuous breathing and tense muscles that the storm could not long be delayed unless I thought of some device to avert it.

I racked my brain as we walked into the kitchen together in silence.

THE POISONOUS RING.

Once in the forest there lived an old man. His name was Mr. Sanders and he was a very wise man. His wife's name was Marian Sanders. The wife was wise, too.

One day Mr. Sanders found a ring and as soon as he touched it he fell over with a scream which his wife heard and she came out and when she saw him lying there she fainted. When she came too she heard him say: "Marian, quick! I think this is a poison ring!" and died.

Now Marian was left in the forest alone. And what about the bandits and Indians? This certainly wasn't a safe place for Marian so she thought of a plan and then went in to the hut and packed her belongings in her suit case and started through the woods when suddenly an Indian jumped out at her and said: "Me kilie you gurl"

Marian was then hit in the head with the Indian's club and was knocked unconscious, and when she awoke she found herself with the chief of the tribe. Then the chief said:

"You are in the hands of the Indian tribe so prepare yourself to die."

But Marian was planning to escape so that night she stole quietly into the night when suddenly she stepped on a dry leaf which awoke the chief and he said: "Oh she is trying to escape but I have set a trap for her."

When Marian stepped on the dry leaf she was caught in the trap so the Indians came and got her then they tied her to a post and burn her. DORIS POLLARD.

BLACKBEARD.

Blackbeard was a kidnaper who roamed around among the hills of the far off country of Placer and struck terror into the hearts of the plain people who lived there so that they were afraid to venture far from their home. In the village lived a lovely girl named Lois. Her hair was golden and she had large blue eyes and a lovely complexion. Her Father warned her not to go away from home unless she was with her schoolmates. One day Lois wanted to go for berries and thought she would disobey her Father and go alone. She wandered for some time picking the berries and singing suddenly she heard a noise in the bushes and a sack was thrown over her head and powerful arms grabbed her and made off with her.

That night when Lois failed to return, her Father sounded the alarm and soon all the men and boys in the village started off to hunt for her in the hills. One boy named Joe was very much in love with her and he started off alone to find her. All day and night he searched and towards evening of the second day he saw a cave hidden by boughs and trees from the road. It was very dark in the cave and he lighted his searchlight and cautiously began to walk into the cave. In the darkest spot he heard a low sound and there tied to a tree was Lois. Crawling on hands and knees he reached her side and cutting the rope helped her to release herself. Together they started out when they heard a sound of laughter just out side. Grabbing the girl Joe tried to hid her behind him Soon a black bearded man entered the cave followed by another man. As they entered Joe struck the bearded man a blow with a stick. In an instance all was confusion the two men started towards the place where the blow had come from. Another hit from his stick and the black man lay on the floor, as the other fellow bent over him Joe and Lois ran from the cave pursued by the second fellow. They ran and ran but were getting exhausted when they came across a big tree with low spreading branches. Up this tree they climbed and hid themselves in the deepest branch. The man who was chasing them went past the tree, stopped and returned and started off again. Soon the two young people heard the noise of dogs and men and knew that their friends were near. Shots rang out and in looking out they saw where the man had been captured. They called to the other men who came and helped them down and then all of them returned to the cave to find the Blackbeard but he was gone and no trace was ever found of him. After a few years Joe and Lois were married but always they were afraid to venture into the hills near the cave for fear that Blackbeard would return and try to be revenged upon them.

THE HAUNTED CAVE.

PART I.

Seven years ago there lived a King named King Herds. He was an angry King for a long time. He once said to his beautiful Queen whose name was Helen, "Go to the woods, find a rock that I need to examine." He wanted to see if there was any gold or silver in the woods. The Queen started out and when she was in the woods she saw a mountain in which was a cave. She walked forward and went in. There was a chair so she sat down. The chair sank down into an underground room.

PART II.

(Helen Has Bad Luck)

When she was down she saw a door open and many spooks and spirits came in. She became afraid and started to scream. The spooks went in and closed the door and for two days the Queen was not in sight. The King offered a pearl necklace and $1000 and sent out some guards to look for Helen. Then came the guards without her. One day a boy named Jack asked the King if he could go and search for her and the King said Yes.

PART III.

(Jack in Luck.)

Jack sat out with with his sword on his side. The sword was given him by the King. He went out through the dark wood to search. He went on the top of the same mountain and down the other side of the mountain. He heard a scream and went in to the cave and heard the same scream louder and louder. He took out his sword and stuck it through the door and the door fell to pieces. Jack saw the spooks plotting to kill Helen but he sprang on the spooks and killed them all. Then he took Helen by the arm and ran with her out of the cave. When they reached the palace where the King was the King was very glad and gave Jack the pearl necklace and $10000.

Jack and his poor mother were as rich as the King. They lived happy ever after and the King was never in his life mad.

THE FESTIVAL.

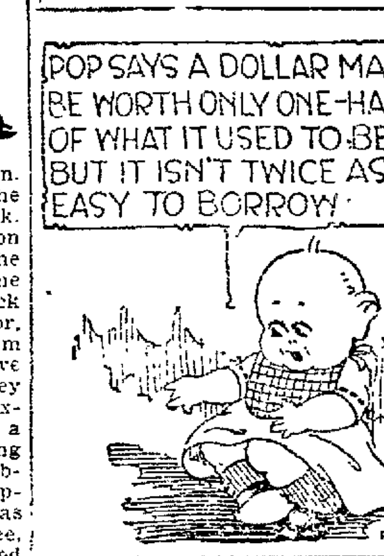

A wedding festival was held at the village in the Moloka Islands. When the white chief of this tribe was getting married to a white girl whom he had saved from his lost ship wreck that evening he was getting married under a large palm tree all the village was present the native women had made a beautiful throne for their new chief. When the monk had finished the church ceremony the chief and his wife sat on their beautiful throne of flowers while the natives played them a beautiful song. When the festival was over they all went to their houses but not thinking of any harm. It was a village near by whose chief was an old pirate but good at heart. Mr. Dod which was the name of the man who got married, saw the army coming and gave the alarm for the people to get to their caves. When they were all hidden Mr Dod walked up to chief and said: "Do you felt the freshness of the day. And want to kill any of my people!' Think it over'!

The chief said: "I don't want to spoil your good feast but let us be good friends forever."

The next day the fences that bordered the two villages were torn down and then both chiefs ruled together but in the late afternoon Mr Dod ordered a canoe and five men to go with him and they went on their honeymoon. This is the end of my story.

ALBERTA PIERATT.
TID-BIT.
THE ADVENTURE OF A BROWNIE.

It was a gay, warm summer morning, and all the fairy forest so also did little Tid-bit, the most renowned, mischievous brownie in all fairyland's domain. He flitted lightly from leaf to leaf, looking in every respect similar to a small brown bird seeking his breakfast. Truly enough he was looking for food and gobbled down every little wild berry that appeared, with a [illegible] and a great rolling of of his sparkling brown eyes. He continued his capers and suddenly wheeled on a little elfin song which he sang, rather clumsily as he skipped from bush to bush.

"If I get you, you'll ne'er get me,
For that's the way of a bad brownie."

Presently he saw, quite far ahead of him, a number of his fellow playmates, sitting astred a bulky rock, intent on playing "chess-poke," quite a peculiar sort of game. Tid-bit would have joined them, but that they offered him not a seat, so he strode passed them haughtily and ran rapidly on. until he could not longer see them.

Then he began to whistle that little rogue, the whilst he very politely nimbled at the honeycomb of his enemy, Mr. Bumble-bee. And all the while, unconsciously enough, he was drawing closer and closer to the edge of the forest, near where ran a crooked, ill used little path

"If I get you," he began afresh, flying majestically into the air and alighting on a wild gooseberry bush, "you'll ne'er get me."

But alas, the little imp never finished his song, for at that precise moment, instead of landing on a leaf he unsuspectingly fell headlong onto a thorny, leafless stem that projected further than the others and became caught by the end of his brown suit.

"Oh!" he shrieked in alarm, "the nomes have surely got me now!" He twisted and squirmed and kicked and screamed in quite an unbecoming manner, but all to no avail. Little Tid-bit had met his doom. His dewy wings offered him not the slightest aid, so he was compelled, in spite of his rebelious nature to dangle there helplessly until assistance should come.

And in what a strange form it did too, as the brownie thought long afterwards. For just then a distant humming was heard far up the road. And at first far away and then nearer and nearer came the tread of human footsteps. In a short time the humming grew into a song and a quaint, old lady, with a bright green shawl round her head and a large gray basket under her arm came into view. Tid-bit at once sensationed a liking for her, and wondered even th his distress if she were not more than human. It seemed as though his very own mother had possessed just such sweet smiling eyes and lovely face.

He had forgot, in his intentness at watching this little woman, to call for help. Nor was he reminded of it until he realized that she was rapidly disappearing from his sight.

Then he began to yell and shriek [illegible] to attract attention And thankfully enough, his cries [illegible] had drawn the attention of the tender-hearted little woman, who came hurrying toward him without knowing where he was. All this extra exertion had tired the small elf greatly, but he gave one last hopeful cry and then sank back limply against the stalk of the deceitful bush, utterly exhausted. Half dazedly, he felt himself lifted gently from his prison by a warm soft hand and placed securely in a basket, where he rested content to know that he was safe.

When he awoke, he found himself in a strange abode and one not unlike which Tid-bit's mother had once told him belonged to mortals. The little woman, who had won his heart completely, tended his wounds so carefuly and watched him so vigilantly, that he was soon as strong and active a little fellow as he had ever been. He seemed to like his new, strange home and capered about as joyous as a lark.

Strangely enough, his former life began gradually to fade away and as each day passed upon the other. he came more and more to love his old-fashioned mother, which he had learned to call her. And she called him Tid-bit, her changeling Tid-bit, and loved him more dearly every hour.

Nearly a month passed in this strange manner and Tid-bit became almost as quiet as a human, mortal boy. He no longer thought of the land he had left, his land, nor did he ever desire to see his old friends that he had once lived and played with. With the careful guidance of his new mother, Tid-bit forgot his old, mischievous pranks and even began to learn the queer, new language his mistress continually spoke to him.

But one day, also for the little woman, Tid-bit, feeling a strange, sudden longing for his old life and desiring, for some unknown reason to see once more his fellow brownies, came suddenly upon a letter lying on a little table near the door. He knew that the postman had left it there, for he always did. His guardian was in the garden at the time and some little voice whispered to him to have sport with her and tease her with the letter. Thinking thus, he stepped out into the garden, where the quaint little mother, with her apron tucked under her blouse, was weeding out the lovely flower beds, and perched himself sedately on a large, white daisy

"Here, mother," he piped, "here's a letter for you." He had not the slightest idea what a letter might be, but what matter so long as it afforded him some harmless fun. The little woman smiling happily, lay down her garden tools and reached for the letter. But what was her surprise and dismay when Tid-bit, instead of handing her the mail as he had always done, scampered away among the bushes, holding out the letter meanwhile.

The quaint old mother, thinking Tid-bit more lively than usually and displaying a more roguish disposition, patiently followed him. But, alas, in vain. Something surely had gotten into that brownie today for he refused to give up the letter and tripped away at every approach

Finally after a [illegible] chase, he still [illegible] on the top of the highest bird house [illegible] the garden [illegible] for birds wandering [illegible] forest. He still coaxed her with the letter and she in despair [illegible] to cry and tears ran [illegible] down her [illegible] cheeks. "My Tid-bit" she murmured tearfully, "what has happened"

However, the brownie seemed not to heed her, for as the good woman loosed [illegible] turned with his back toward her, apparently watching something in the direction of the forest. [illegible] truly enough [illegible] something that startled him very much. It was the sight of [illegible] of his former friends, [illegible] All of them ceased their chattering and rested upon the [illegible] of a blooming lilac bush near Tid-bit. They had not seen him, but he very soon made known his presence.

"Why!" gasped one, a wee-y d little scamp, "if it isn't Tid-bit, upon my word!" And directly he flew to the bird house

"Where have you been?" inquired the second fellow, likewise following his chum to the birds' cottage.

"What are you doing in so strange a place?" interrupted the third, and all four pleaded with him to return home.

Tid-bit, overjoyed at seeing again his long lost friends, on first impulse was about to set off with them at once, when he was suddenly reminded of something by a soft, overheard sighing which Tid-bit knew too well belonged to his lovely mistress. He had already reached the lilac tree when he heard the distant croning, but he knew not whether to go or stay. He longed more than ever to be once again in his own world, but could he dare to leave the little woman whom he had been calling mother for so long, and who loved him so dearly? He was still pondering when he again heard his playmates talking.

"It is so lonely without you, Tid-bit," the first went on, "even Mr. Bumble-bee forgives you, and begs for your return. We have been sent by his majesty and dare not return without you."

"Come home, I say, come home." they all pleaded, and Tid-bit was willing. The little brownies were very happy and were just about to set out with their truant friend, when he again stopped and stood still. Again, him come that sad, deep sighing, and he felt in his heart that he must give up his new found joy and remain with his deliverer for her sweet sake.

"I will tell you in the morning, Wide-yes," he said finally, with a deep sigh, addressing one of them. "I cannot yet decide."

The brownies, very much disappointed made off at once, determined to come again in the morning.

They left their kinsman with a heavy [illegible] there [illegible] He [illegible] his excitement he had [illegible] the letter. He [illegible] [illegible] the house [illegible] he saw his mistress [illegible] standing. He saw [illegible] was reading the [illegible] as tears of [illegible] never to [illegible] her [illegible] thing to give [illegible] brownie [illegible] [illegible] to the cottage [illegible] than she [illegible] when he [illegible] top

"I [illegible] It again mother [illegible] soothingly. "Do stop [illegible] it grieved him to see her [illegible] not knowing how to console her

"Dear, [illegible] Tid-bit," she sobbed [illegible] the tiny sprite into her [illegible] I do wish that you had kept the letter or lost it from me, for I care not to see it more"

"Tell me mother," the brownie asked, "tell me what it said?"

She seemed unwilling to do so, but at last yielding to her pet, she began. "When I caught the letter as you let it fall, I opened it and read it at once. There, in plain writing, was stated that I should leave this cottage, that has been our home and go far, far across the sea to a new land to tend my sister's baby boy. It is as the sea [illegible] little Tid-bit, and I know quite [illegible] your delicate little airy body [illegible] has been used to forest [illegible] not stand the cold [illegible] winter sea." She burst [illegible] fresh with new flowing tears, and [illegible] on, "And so my own dear Tid-bit, I must leave [illegible] to return again [illegible] for I [illegible] not take [illegible]"

[illegible] the brownie's heart [illegible] with wonder, joy, sorrow and [illegible] It was so strange [illegible] quite And yet, in spite of the [illegible], there was sorrow in the brownie's heart, at thought of parting with his friend forever.

Next morning his little mother, midst tears hard muffled to keep back her breaking heart, tied neatly a tiny parcel of fairy cloths which she had made for her sprite. Midst tears and kisses, the little, quaint, old-fashioned, lovable woman took her leave and went away to the station with her trunk, and Tid-bit, left alone, could not say whether it were joy of what was to come, or sadness at what had passed, that kept twitching at his heart.

But he had not long to ponder, for very shortly the noisy, carefree brownies of the night before came again and demanded his return.

Affected by the strange silence of Tid-bit, the other boys became less noisy and talked not so sportively. Tid-bit gathered his tiny bundle under his arm, gave one last searching glance at the little cottage that he should never see again, and which he had cherished as his home and flew away with his playmates to his own land, which he never left.

The Adventures of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy
by Johnny Gruelle

Copyright by JOHNNY GRUELLE. All Rights Reserved.

RAGGEDY ANDY and the nice kind Snitznoodle sat upon the door steps of Hookie's house.

They were trying to plan a way to rescue the Howloon from the Goblin. Hookie had captured the Howloon right after Raggedy Ann and her friends had filled the rubber Howloon with candy covered cookies and lolly pops and cakes and things.

The Howloon, before he was filled with these goodies, had only been hollow just like a large foot'all, and of course in the hollow he had been very empty. And when he was empty, he had always been very hungry.

Hookie the Goblin lived in a queer house.

It was one room right on top of another; four stories high.

There was an iron door at the bottom and only one window at the top. The window was much too high for either Raggedy Andy or the nice, kind Snitznoodle to reach, so they had to think of some way to get to the window.

"We cannot open the iron door!" Raggedy Andy told the Snitznoodle. The Snitznoodle knew this was true for he had tried to push the iron door open and he could not budge it, even though he was very, very strong.

"I do not know what to do!" Raggedy Andy said as he ran his hand through his yarn hair.

The nice, kind Snitznoodle did not know what to do either, so he just sat beside Raggedy Andy and looked very sad.

Finally, the Snitznoodle put his hand in his pocket and pulled out a queer little bean and showed it to Raggedy Andy.

"It used to be a 'jumping bean'!" the Snitznoodle said, "but now it does not jump, even a smidgin!"

So he tossed the queer little bean upon the ground, and the bean rolled under some leaves.

The Snitznoodle did not know that the bean was a magic bean. Neither did Raggedy Andy.

The magic bean started to grow right away, and the two friends watched the bean vine grow and grow until it reached the side of the Goblin's house to the window, then on up until it clung to the roof.

"IT USED TO BE A 'JUMPING BEAN!'" THE SNITZNOODLE SAID.

"Aha!" the Snitznoodle cried, "that bean must have been related to the beans which Jack planted and which grew into the magical beanstalk which reached to the Giant's land!"

"It must have been!" Raggedy Andy said as he gave the Snitznoodle a boost up the bean stalk and then climbed up behind.

The Snitznoodle reached the Goblin's window and pulled Raggedy Andy up beside him, just as Hookie the Goblin ran out the iron door and hacked the beanstalk in two with a hatchet. As Raggedy Andy and the Snitznoodle tumbled to the ground the Goblin slammed the door and locked it. "That was the time I fooled you, just like Jack did the Giant!" he laughed.

"Anyway!" the Snitznoodle and Raggedy Andy said, "it didn't hurt us a speck!"

"Oh—h!" breathed David, opening his New Year packages in the hospital ward "A new sweater! Now I won't have to wear my shabby jacket when I go outdoors next time"

"It's such a woolly warm one," admired his nurse. "Let's see what is in the next package."

"A cap," yelled the happy boy, "with a muffler to match! And here are mittens! Gee, New Year parties suit me all right!"

In the afternoon the nurse said David might go out for some fresh air, so he put on the new gifts he had received, and the nurse took him to Fatty's house.

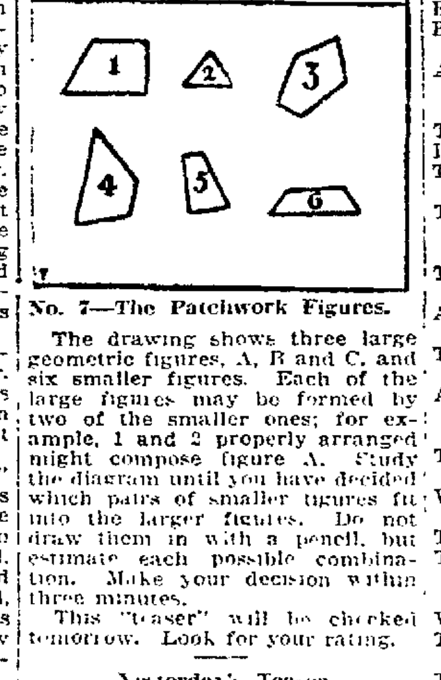

"I just came to pay my party call," explained the little cripple when Fatty answered the door. "I want to show you how fine I look in store clothes like you wear. And I brought you my book of pirate stories to read."

The new sweater is tan, the scarf and cap are blue, and the stripes are red. Color the blanket tan, too.

TEASERS

No. 7—The Patchwork Figures.

The drawing shows three large geometric figures, A, B and C, and six smaller figures. Each of the large figures may be formed by two of the smaller ones; for example, 1 and 2 properly arranged might compose figure A. Study the diagram until you have decided which pairs of smaller figures fit into the larger figures. Do not draw them in with a pencil, but estimate each possible combination. Make your decision within three minutes.

This "teaser" will be checked tomorrow. Look for your rating.

Yesterday's Teaser

The circle was the size of a quarter. If you estimated correctly your rating was good; if you estimated half dollar, or nickel, average; penny or dime, poor.

Rectangle 2 was the size of a postage stamp. To estimate that was exceptional; to estimate square 1, good, square 3, average, square 4, poor.

IOLA KIMBALL.
HALLOWE'EN.

I.

Hallowe'en will soon be here
Everyone will be out, far and near,
Especially the witches with their high black hats,
And on the back of the brooms their Hallowe'en cats.

II.

The ghosts will be out too.
I pity you if they do;
They'll hang you on the clothes line with a pin,
They'll watch you with an awful grin,

III.

They'll put you in the hous dark and still,
And roll you down the steep rough hill.
They'll take you to the witches cave,
And make of you a Hallowe'en slave.

IV.

The Hallowe'en goblins in their yellow suits,
With their high peaked hats and blue leathered boots.
They be out too I'm sure,
They'll spring right up through the floor.

V.

When you're tucked in bed tight,
That's when the goblins come in sight,
The best warning I possibly can give

VI.

All I can tell which doesn't take much time,
And that in this verse it will rhyme,
Is—they are mean, mysterious and bad,
They don't make a living soul glad.

VII.

Hallowe'en [illegible] coming pretty soon,
You'd better watch out or you'll be brushing cobwebs from the moon
Cause the ghosts and witches and cats,
The Hallowe'en goblins and black bats
They all will be out,
Take warning, look out!"

IOLA KIMBALL.

JACK EDGEMOND.
CHRISTMAS TIME.

Oh Christmas time is here
The [illegible] time of the year,
Santa Claus once a year he comes,
And in his pack he has books,
skates and drums.

His age I do not know,
He is a man who has not one foe,
Of any one he has the least fear,
While he is around every one is full of cheer.

JACK EDGEMOND.

I WENT TO THE MOVIES.

I went to the movies tomorrow,
I took the front seat in the back
I fell from my seat to the gallery
And hurt the front of my back.

Uncle Wiggily Stories
By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S NEW YEAR'S CAKE.

"It seems to me," said Uncle Wiggily, slowly twinkling his pink nose at Nurse Jane; "it seems to me something was left out."

"What do you mean—left out?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper. "If you mean you left the Woozie Wolf out in the cold the last time he chased you—why, that was all right."

"Indeed it was!" chuckled the bunny gentleman. "But I didn't mean that. I mean something was left out of our New Year."

"It can't have been the dinner," spoke Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "I gave you a good dinner yesterday."

"I know you did, and I thank you for it," replied Mr. Longears. "But what about the New Year's cake? Eh, what about that?"

"Oh, bless my whiskers!" squeaked Nurse Jane, for she did have whiskers, though she was a lady. But being a muskrat is different, you know. "Bless my whiskers! I forgot all about the New Year's cake!"

"It isn't too late yet!" said Uncle Wiggily. "This is only the day after New Year's and the cake will taste just as well now as if we had eaten it yesterday. Will you make the cake now, Nurse Jane?"

"I will," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, and she at once began.

"While you are making the New Year's cake," said Uncle Wiggily, "I shall hop around the bungalow a bit and look for an adventure."

"I wish," spoke Nurse Jane, as she tied her long tail in a bow knot, "I wish that you would do your hopping out of doors. If you hop in here you may break the eggs."

"I wouldn't want to do that!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "So I will hop outside while you make the cake."

No sooner said than done. Nurse Jane began beating up the eggs, stirring into them the flour, sugar, butter and whatever goes into a New Year's cake, and Uncle Wiggily hopped around outside the bungalow, looking for an adventure.

"But I hardly think I can find an adventure so near at home," thought the bunny gentleman. However, almost as soon as he thought he heard a voice saying:

"Oh, how hungry I am!"

And another voice said:

"I am hungry, too!"

Looking around, Uncle Wiggily saw Dickie and Nellie Fliptail, the sparrow children.

"Oh, ho!" laughed the bunny. "I'm glad it is you who are hungry, and not the Woozie Wolf or the Fuzzy Fox! Come into the bungalow and have some of the New Year's cake."

"Oh, goodie, goodie," chirped Dickie and Nellie.

"Oh, ho, Nurse Jane," loudly cried Uncle Wiggily, as the sparrow children flew into the bungalow after him. "I have brought you some company! Is the cake baked?"

"I am just taking it from the oven," answered Nurse Jane. And when she saw Dickie and Nellie she gave them some lovely brown cake crumbs, for that was all they could eat.

Oh, goodie! Goodie!" chirped Dickie and Nellie.

"Thank you, Uncle Wiggily! Thank you, Nurse Jane!" politely chirped the sparrow children as they flew out of the bungalow. Nurse Jane sat the wonderful chocolate cocoanut frosted cake on the pantry shelf and Uncle Wiggily, once more twinklying his pink nose, said:

"Now I shall hop out and look for another adventure. That little one with Dickie and Nellie was hardly enough. I shall come home very hungry for that New Year's cake, Nurse Jane."

"I hope you may like it," squeaked the muskrat lady.

Uncle Wiggily hopped over the fields and through the woods, but not another adventure did he find. Then, as it grew dark, he hopped back to his hollow stump bungalow and there, as he went inside, he found an adventure! The Bob Cat was waiting for him! Nurse Jane had gone to the movies, she had forgotten to lock the door and the Bob Cat had slipped in!

"Oh, ho! Here you are!" howled the Bob Cat as Uncle Wiggily entered. "I have been waiting for you to come that I might nibble your ears!"

"Dear me!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. Then he thought of a trick to play on the bad chap. "Before you nibble my ears," went on the bunny, "would you not like a bit of chocolate cocoanut frosted New Year's cake?"

"Yes," impolitely howled the Bob Cat, "I'll have a piece of cake."

Uncle Wiggily cut a large piece of cake and put it on a plate for the Bob Cat. The bad chap, still impolitely, was going to eat it with his claws.

"Let me get you a fork," said the bunny. And when Uncle Wiggily brought the fork for the Bob Cat to eat the cake, instead of handing the fork to the bad chap, Uncle Wiggily tickled him in the ribs with it!

"Tickle-tickle!" went the fork on the Bob Cat's ribs.

"Oh, wowchie ouchie scowchie!" howled the unpleasant creature. "This is too much for me! I never could stand or sit being tickled!" And out of the door he ran, dropping his piece of cake and not nibbling the bunny's ears at all.

"Ha, Ha!" laughed Mr. Longears as he picked up the Bob Cat's plate "it's a good thing Nurse Jane baked a New Year's cake."

And if the ribbon band on the rag doll's sailor hat doesn't play such a loud tune that it wakes up the alarm clock, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's ice trick.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

FOR DEEP BREATHING

One Mother says:

One of the best and most entertaining methods for getting children to breathe deeply is to have them stand before an open window and try to outdo one another in blowing at a hanging ribbon. Parental supervision will prevent the tots from overdoing the exercise.

7D HERBALISTS

High Blood Pressure Relieved

Stockton, Cal., May 19, 1923.
Gentlemen: I suffered with high blood pressure and heart trouble for the past four years. This spring I became so bad that I did not think I would live until summer. I went to several doctors and they told me they could do nothing for me. My blood pressure was 202. After four weeks' treatment the pressure was down to 150, just slightly above normal. Today, after 10 weeks' treatment, the pressure is normal, and I feel as well as I ever did in my life. I can walk and eat without feeling the slightest ill effects, something I have not been privileged to do for over four years.
Thanks to the Chinese herbs, I did not have to go to bed, and I feel that I am entirely recovered.

The Oakland Tribune is a member of The Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers, which includes leading newspapers throughout the country and has for its aim the elimination of fraudulent and misleading classified advertising. The Oakland Tribune as well as every other member of the association endeavors to print only truthful Want Ads and will appreciate having its attention called to any advertisement not conforming to the highest standards of honesty.

Want Ad Section INDEX

Want Ad classifications appear in numerical order and all related classes are grouped together. For example All advertising of Rooms To Let is numbered 20 to 29. The numbers appear on the headings, so if you seek room and board look through the "20s". Board is No. 25, and always follows Housekeeping Rooms (21). Note—Every "For Sale" or "To Let" heading has a "Wanted" classification with the same number, but followed by the letter "A."

PLANTED FIG GARDENS

NO PAYMENT

DOWN.

I, J. C. Forkner, president of the J. C. Forkner Fig Gardens Inc., hereby offer 100 families a most remarkable proposition.

I have planted and sold 10,000 acres of fig gardens; I have spent $6,000,000 during the last ten years developing these fig gardens; there are 100 happy families living on these home acres now; I want 100 more families.

I have decided to sell 1000 acres of planted fig gardens just coming into bearing on the following conditions:

You move upon five or ten acres of my fig gardens, just coming into bearing, adjoining the city of Fresno, and build a home and farm the land. I will give you ten years in which to pay.

The Crops Will Pay for the Land

Roads, ditches, highways, electric lines are built; townsite on land being developed; best water right in State; canning factory already built, church, schools and $5,000,000 lumber mill, employing 1000 men, on tract; only 15 minutes from center of Fresno.

I live on the land and have developed these fig gardens myself; any man who moves upon these fig gardens cannot fail, for I will help him to success.

For details see my personal representative MR. FRED W. GREGORY, suite 705 Hearst bldg., San Francisco, phone Sutter 1411.

If you cannot personally call, write for details.

HOWARD USED CARS

"ASK THE ENVELOPE" AND KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT

We claim that the dealer who selects his Used Cars with greatest care can offer the buying public the best merchandise. If a dealer selects unwisely and finds a lot of slow-moving cars in his hands he is very apt to get a lot of lemons with holes in them, and bad habits, and finally loses his self-respect and reputation to win back his money. We've declared our policy of telling the public the whole truth about our Used Cars—consequently we are bound by these policies to select the kind of cars which will sell readily when the truth about them is known. This plan works to our mutual good. It teaches us the wisdom of selecting only the best cars—and helps you to get the best there is, at the minimum price.

13 INJURED IN SERIES OF ACCIDENTS

New Year Ushered Into Bay Region With an Unusual Number of Auto Crashes; Reckless Driver Speeds Off

The new year was ushered into the bay region with a large number of automobile crashes, which during the past eighteen hours took a toll of thirteen persons injured, one a woman who will probably die.

In an effort to avoid a collision with another machine, C. A. Peterson, 542 Forty-first street, drove his machine into the curbing at Seventeenth and Webster streets shortly before midnight last night. The automobile overturned and four persons were injured, one probably fatally. They were: Mrs. J. M. Palmer, 414 East Worth street, possible fractured skull, broken collarbone, internal injuries and cuts and bruises; J. M. Palmer, her husband, same address, cuts and bruises; Mrs. Helen Peters, 4315 Shafter avenue, cuts and bruises, and Palmer, driver of the car, bruises and lacerations. All were treated at the Emergency hospital.

When the motorcycle he was riding skidded on the pavement at Twenty-third avenue and East Sixteenth street last night, Martin Briggs, 2028 Forty-fifth avenue, sustained a broken arm and cuts and bruises.

GIRL IS INJURED.

Antoinette Laurencella, 11 years old, of 856 Fifty-fourth street, sustained bruises and lacerations last night when the automobile in which she was riding collided with a machine driven by C. Bennett, 1404 Fourth avenue, at Thirteenth and Jefferson streets. The girl was in the automobile driven by C. H. Canfield, who resides at the Fifty-fourth street address.

Mrs. Shirley Potterm, 1901 Pierce street, was cut on the face with flying glass when the automobile in which she was riding collided with another machine at Bush and Filmore streets, San Francisco, last night. Mrs. Potter was riding with Mrs. Mabel Lindelof, 972 Eddy street.

B. W. Gohranson, 22, a taxicab driver of 276 Twenty-ninth street, sustained lacerations of the head and internal injuries when he was pinned beneath his cab which overturned yesterday afternoon at Waller and Laguna streets, San Francisco.

OAKLAND MAN HURT.

Joseph Passini, 4307 Telegraph avenue, is at the Oakland Emergency hospital as a result of injuries sustained when he was struck by a speeding automobile yesterday at Twelfth and Harrison streets. The driver of the machine did not stop.

James Mardelo, 18, of El Cerrito, is suffering from cuts and bruises, and Floyd M. Caya, 2978 Twenty-first street, San Francisco, is in the Oakland city prison, following an accident which occurred yesterday at Central and San Pablo avenues. The boy was struck by Caya's machine as he alighted from a street car, and Stanley Krause, conductor of the car, placed the driver of the car under arrest and turned him over to the Oakland police.

Ethelie Trenery of 1419 Thirty-ninth avenue, and her brother, A. C. Trenery, were injured in two different sections of Oakland yesterday within an hour's time. Both were treated at the Emergency hospital for cuts and bruises. The girl was struck by an automobile at Fourteenth and Madison streets, while her brother received his hurts in a fight at Fifteenth street and San Pablo avenue, to which he was an innocent spectator. He was beaten on the face by an unknown assailant.

Crackman Stopped In Midst of Work

BERKELEY, Jan. 2.—R. D. Verbeck, watchman at the Standard Soap Works, Second and Addison streets, making his usual rounds of the building shortly after midnight, found a safe-cracker working in the office.

The cracksman had knocked off the safe combination when Verbeck interrupted his labors. Seeing the watchman, the intruder fled through a rear window which he had broken to gain entrance. A squad of police was sent to the scene in response to Verbeck's call, but a search of the neighborhood failed to reveal any trace of the safecracker. Nothing was taken, as far as could be ascertained.

HOLDS JOB TO SAVE LIFE.

WALSALL, England.—Informed that 80-year-old Elijah Stackhouse probably would die if he gave up work, the city officials withdrew their request that he retire as gas collector.

Divorced, But Friendly

Singer Explains Her Kisses Bestowed on Former Hubby

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—When Madame Stella Jellica, the well-known singer of this city, embarked on the Kroonland to begin a voyage around the world her friends were surprised to see her former husband, whom she recently divorced, among the first to wish her a bon voyage. Then the singer surprised everyone by kissing Jellica a fond good-bye.

Explanations were in demand and Madame Jellica was quick to supply them. She said she and her former husband were still the best of pals. She declared that she had been required to choose between her career as a singer and her home, and had decided in favor of the concert stage. She recently obtained a divorce.

MILK PRICE RAISE WILL BE OPPOSED

Housewives of Eastbay Open War on Dealers to Fight Increases to Consumers With Campaign of Protest

Announcement of a raise in the prise of milk made yesterday by local dealers will be met with an active campaign of protest on the part of housewives in the Eastbay cities, according to Mrs. W. T. Cleverdon, president of the State Housewives' league. Housewives will be summoned to a conference within a day or two to fgrame a circular letter which will be distributed among housewives of Alameda county, irrespective of membership in the league. It is proposed to urge home managers to cut down the consumption of milk to one-half or less.

Under the new schedule announced by the dealers, the price of milk, beginning yesterday, is 9 cents a pint or 14 cents a quart; certified milk, 15 cents a pint or 25 cents a quart; buttermilk, 8 cents a quart; table cream, 48 cents a pint; pastry cream, 55 cents a pint.

"We will not stand such a raise when there is no reason for it," declares Mrs. Cleverdon. "Farmers are receiving no more for the commodity nor is it costing dealers more to distribute. We will meet the announcement of the milk dealers regarding higher prices with the same action as that we took recently when the price of sugar was increased."

Freak Landslide Plants Confetti In City Hall Plaza

Nice green lawns, full of yellow, purple, pink, red and orange spots, today occupy the profane attention of the city hall gardeners, as the result of a freak landslide of confetti which blew into the city hall plaza on New Year's eve and cannot be eliminated except by taking all the grass up, which will not be done.

The grass has been close-grown and close-clipped. Yesterday, however, the gardeners learned that the winds had planted confetti so deftly between the blades of grass that the first rain threatens to make the plaza a paper smear, which cannot be cleansed unless the gardeners pick each blade of grass and clean it off with a whiskbroom.

The confetti is planted along the south side of the plaza. In time the gardeners say they hope the plaza will emerge to its former greenness. Meantime the gardeners say they "hope there'll be no more New Year celebrations for a long time."

PORT ANGELES HAS BIG YEAR.

PORT ANGELES, Wash., Jan. 2.—A business summary for the year 1923 prepared by the local chamber of commerce, shows that this city had the largest industrial year in its history. Postoffice receipts showed a gain of 15 per cent, and building permits increased more than $100,000. Lumber and paper shipments from local mills showed large gains.

CONFETTI IS HURLED BY TRUCKLOAD

Amount of Refuse on Oakland Streets After New Year's Eve Celebration Doubles Previous Record

As evidence either of the increased prosperity or the increased spending tendencies, or the increased corwds or something of Oakland, Foreman George Weaver of the street cleaning department today reported that 22 trucks of confetti have been cleaned off the downtown streets, as against 11 truckloads last year.

"This," observes City Engineer W. W. Harmon, "is a figure which should be analyzed. In one year the confetti shower of Oakland for New Year has increased 100 per cent. What does it mean?

"Oakland has gained vastly in population, but not 100 per cent. The New Year's eve weather was better than usual, but not 100 per cent better. Our street cleaning department is more efficient than ever before, but not 100 per cent more efficient. The matter deserves study."

Firemen Fight Battleship Blaze Eighteen Hours

Fire starting from spontaneous combustion in the engine room of the old battleship Rhode Island, at the Union Construction company, destroyed the vessel's interior woodwork and gave the Oakland firemen a battle which lasted all of last night. The flames were only subdued this morning, after the lower sections of the hull had been flooded by the firemen.

The Rhode Island is in the yards of the Union Construction company for scrapping under the disarmament treaty. Owing to the fact that the steel in the vessel is all that the scrappers are figuring on saving the fire which burned out most of the woodwork was cause of but small loss.

The fire was discovered by yard watchmen. A small amount of oil had collected in the bilges below the engine room, and when the flames started this in turn caught fire. No one was injured in the 18-hour battle with the flames.

SCHOOL BOY BLINDED BY EXPLOSION

Youth of Oakland Seriously Injured While Working on Bomb He Had Manufactured in His Laboratory

Carl Canshaw, Jr., 16, a student at the Oakland High School, probably will be blinded for life as a result of an explosion which occurred late yesterday while he was experimenting with a crudely constructed bomb.

The blast occurred in a laboratory the boy had fitted up in his own home. He had a piece of gas pipe, filled with explosive powder and was attempting to make a bomb by sealing it up and inserting a fuse. He used a steel rod to tamp down the powder and the friction exploded the packing.

The boy was taken to the Emergency hospital, where it was discovered that one eye was almost blown from the socket. Physicians despair of saving his sight.
